CHURCHMEN TO PAY PENALTY FOR LOYALTY

BY PERCY NOEL
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
[Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.]

MOSCOW, March 26.—The soviet Supreme Court today sentenced to death Archbishop Zepliak, head of the Roman Catholic Church in Russia, and Bishop Butchkavitch, his vicar-general.

All the other fifteen defendants were found guilty on the same charge of counter-revolution in obstructing the soviet government, but they received prison sentences. Five of the priests were condemned to eight years' imprisonment, and the others to three years' imprisonment.

The defense has appealed to the central executive committee for pardons for all the convicted, and it is believed that body will commute the sentences.

So stunned by the sentences were the coreligionists of the convicted clergy, that they made no move to leave the court. Weeping and sobbing of women followed, until Prosecutor Krylenko was obliged to shout orders for them to leave.

POPE OR SOVIET?

"Who is ruling this country, the Pope or the soviet?" the prosecutor demanded last night in his rebuttal to the defense. "I'll wager it is the soviet. We will punish them to show others what will happen if they rise against our power. They did not comply with the law because they thought the outside world would defend them but"—turning to the accused—"your card is beaten, you must take the consequences."

The pleasant, if calculating, smile of the former Red army chief was gone. He was hard as steel. "If it had been only a matter of religion it might have been different," he said. "But these Jesuits taught children that the soviet power was composed of Communists and atheists, and educated them to hate us so when they grew up they would be against us. In church they told the children Elijah would descend to depose the soviet power. That had a political significance, don't tell me it was religious."

The defense had admitted that the priests had taught religion to groups, but "punish them for that, not for counter-revolution," was the plea of counsel for the defense, Bobrischew Pushkin, admitting his clients were guilty from a legal standpoint.

The priest, Fedorov, was again the most striking figure in the court. He was constantly interrupted by the bench on points of order but nevertheless made a glowing speech. "It is absolutely immaterial whether you shoot or imprison me," he said, "but I will not agree with the prosecutor when he says I am a fanatic.

"I was persecuted under the Czar and sent to Siberia. When the revolution broke out the

Divine Sarah Makes Final Exit; Smiles at Release

[Copyright, 1923, by the Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, March 26.—Quietly and unreluctantly, Mme. Sarah Bernhardt died in the arms of her son, Maurice, at a quarter past eight tonight, while her family and a few of her friends prayed beside her bed. Her devoted grand-daughter, Lysiane, says she is sure she saw a smile of joy break through the thickening veils of unconsciousness over the tragedinne's face as the final release came.

Lysiane, with Sarah's great-grandson, Maurice Gross, an old friend, Mr. Argueilliere, of the Comedie Francaise, and Mme. Peyronnet, of the Theater Sarah Bernhardt, were in the room.

Her elder grand-daughter, Mme. Helene Gross, the mother of two children, had departed to her own home shortly before.

The last sacraments were administered to Mme. Bernhardt at 3:10 p.m., while her servants moved motion-picture cameras, electric cables and light apparatus from her home into a van. This double symbol represented acceptance of defeat, for although she had not spoken since 10 o'clock this morning, Mme. Bernhardt shook her head no every time a member of the family suggested clearing the house of studio apparatus.

LONDON COLD TOWARD PLEA

Officials Interested More in Air Armament Than in Strengthening French Ties

BY JOHN STEELE
[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1923, by the Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, March 26.—The publication in the Paris Figaro of an article attributed to Premier Poincare, which advocates that France strengthen the Franco-British entente an seek other alliances, has created only a ripple of excitement here where officials have been aware for a long time that France has been flirting with Russia, Angora and other enemies of Great Britain.

British public opinion is far more concerned about French air armament, which it is felt here can only be directed against Great Britain, and the pressure on the politicians who favor a greater air program for Great Britain is increasing daily. The politicians also are in receipt of daily demands that France pay its debt to Great Britain before it indulges in expensive luxuries in armaments which would be useless except on the theory that they would be used against England.

A leading official said today that Great Britain and America should insist that France pay its debts at once, "but neither seems to have guts enough to do it."

Commander C. Dennis Burney, who married Gladys High of Chicago and who is an authority on air matters, in an interview today, said that Great Britain was spending more than $564,000,000 annually on armaments and was wasting most of this because it spent it the wrong way.

SEAVEY GIVES OLD MACHINE GILDED WINGS

BY KYLE D. PALMER
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SACRAMENTO, March 26. — A demagogic and immoderate attack on Gov. Richardson, Mrs. Nellie Brewster Pierce of the State Board of Control and the new administration's program of governmental retrenchment delivered in a fine frenzy of political self-righteousness by Clyde L. Seavey, president of the State Railroad Commission, today precipitated a spectacular and abrupt termination of the Senate and Assembly hearing on the Governor's economy budget.

The only apparent explanation of the highly abusive nature of Mr. Seavey's remarkable address was his emotional enthusiasm, which caused him entirely to leave the subjects of budgets and financial matters and to launch into a typical campaign defense of State machine politics, State machine extravagance and State machine indifference to high taxes.

OCCASION EXCITING

While a few excited individuals, highly indignant at inexcusable slurs obviously intended for Mrs. Pierce, were urging members to "throw him out," Senators and Assemblymen were clamoring for recognition from the chair, and adding to the dramatic confusion by a volley of questions and rebukes.

Mr. Seavey was accused by Senator E. F. Sample of San Diego of delivering a gubernatorial campaign speech, and the irate San Diego solon asked the commissioner head to "turn over the manuscript of that address to the Scripps papers, so they can start your campaign for Governor right now."

Mr. Seavey's rapidly loosening grip upon decorous speech caused Assemblyman Chester A. Kline of Riverside, chairman of the Assembly Finance Committee, to leave the rostrum and demand from the floor an explanation of whether the Railroad Commission chairman proposed to furnish the legislators with information or with a further exhibition of political oratory.

IS URGED TO RESIGN

Assemblyman Scott of San Francisco got the floor and the following colloquy followed:

"Mr. Seavey, do you think the Railroad Commission can function under the proposed Board of Control budget?"

"No, sir, I do not."

"You're not satisfied with it?"

"No, sir."

"If you're not satisfied, they why in God's name don't you resign?"

If Mr. Seavey made any response it was lost in the uproar.

Assemblyman Henry E. Carter of Los Angeles, Assembly floor leader, charging that Mr. Seavey was deliberately misstating facts, accused him of playing "cheap politics," and strenuously objected to a continuance of the political harangue.

The speaker, however, was permitted by Senator Egbert Gates, chairman of the joint com-

WILSON AGAIN TAKING HAND IN POLITICS

BY ROBERT BARRY
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
[Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.]

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Resumption of active party leadership by former President Wilson in urging the appointment of a hand-picked candidate for the Senatorial vacancy in Colorado, today gave renewed hope to those Democrats who have wished he might issue a public declaration on the Harding-Hughes proposal for conditional American adhesion to the permanent Court of International Justice established at The Hague under the auspices of the League of Nations.

Wilson sent a telegram to Governor Sweet of Colorado urging the selection of Huston Thompson, member of the Federal Trade Commission, as the ad interim successor of Senator Samuel D. Nicholson, a Republican, who died Saturday. The man named by the Democratic Governor will serve until the general elections of 1924. Thompson is an ardent Wilson Democrat.

Born in Lewisburg, Pa., 47 years ago, he began practicing law in Denver in 1899, two years after his graduation from Princeton. He was an organizer of one of the first Wilson-for-President clubs, and was made assistant Attorney-General of the United States in April, 1913, a month after Wilson entered the White House. KIDNAPING SUSPECTED BY POLICE

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN BERNARDINO, March 26. Two San Bernardino boys, missing since Saturday, were believed tonight to be in the hands of kidnapers, after a thorough combing of the city and its environs had failed to reveal any trace of the children.

The boys are Dicky Jensen, 6 years of age, and Dean Meecham, 4. Mrs. Jensen, mother of Dicky, was critically ill tonight through grief. Her husband, injured recently in a crossing accident, is in a hospital and has not been told of the affair.

Chief of Police A. A. Burcham will continue the search tomorrow, with scores of school children, on vacation, added to the posses. Boy Scouts and volunteers, who have so far conducted the search.

Many people in and about the city have been questioned, but no one has been found who could give any information regarding the boys. They seem to have disappeared without leaving the slightest clew.

Dickey and Dean were inseparable companions.

MANHUNT ON FOR CHILD'S ASSAILANTS

Police officers from that city, Whittier and Montebello early this morning were scouring the environs of Los Angeles for trace of two assailants of a 16-year-old girl who was attacked last evening near the State School at Whittier.

The girl, whose identity has not been determined, is at the point of death at a Whittier hospital from the treatment she received at the hands of the fugitives and from poisonous liquors which the police believe her erstwhile companions gave her.

One of the attaches of the institution, leaving the place on his way home about 9 o'clock last night, heard screams coming from an orange grove near the driveway leading from the school grounds.

CONFEDERATE WATCHED

Stopping his car, he made his way to the grove. As he neared the spot from which the cries came he saw a powerfully built young man attacking a young woman while a confederate was standing near by, he reported to Constable Way of Whittier, who withholds his name.

Upon his approach the two men jumped into a small car which was parked in the driveway and drove off. The girl's rescuer believes he ascertained the car's registration number.

The young woman was taken to the Murphy Memorial Hospital at Whittier by the man who had come to her assistance.

There she was found to be near death from shock and from moonshine she had been drinking, Constable Way reports.

CONDITION GRAVE

Shortly after being taken to the hospital the young woman was seized with convulsions and last night her condition was considered grave by attending physicians.

The young woman's clothing gave no clew to her identity. Constable Way describes her as being either 16 or 17 years of age, 4 feet 9 inches tall, slight physique with blond bobbed hair. She was dressed in a black satin dress of the prevailing mode, but was hatless and one of her shoes was missing. Her garments gave mute evidence of her struggles, police officers declare.

CHALLENGE TO TURKS IS ISSUED BY GREEKS

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, March 26.—The Greek government announced its policy today on the refugee question, says an Athens dispatch to the Times.

This policy is a direct challenge to the Turks, demanding that the Angora government send ships to transport the Turkish populations from Greece, and declaring that it is absolutely impossible for Greece to receive more refugees until an exchange of populations is arranged, whereby the Turks now residing in Greece will cede their homes to an equal number of Anatolian Greeks.

BILL LIKE WRIGHT ACT TABLED AT HONOLULU

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

HONOLULU, March 26. — The Territorial Senate today tabled a bill similar to the Wright Act in California, which would have made it mandatory on the Territorial and county police to enforce the Volstead Act. The Senate's action was taken when the Judiciary Committee reported that the enactment of the bill would not result in any better enforcement of the prohibition law in the Hawaiian Islands.

MEXICAN ISSUE SHOWS IN PAN-AMERICAN SESSION

Republic's Minister to Chile Calls Mexico United States' Best Friend; Hughes's Plea

BY SAMUEL G. INMAN
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
(Copyright, 1923, Public Ledger.)

SANTIAGO (Chile) March 26.—The Mexican question is beginning to show itself. Would the Mexican Minister to Chile accept an invitation to assist in the opening session when his government had refused to send delegates to the conference, it was anxiously asked. His appearance yesterday, consequently was greeted with cheers. There is now talk on the side lines as to whether Mexico's refusal to send delegates was a blunder as was at first thought by many Latin-Americans or whether it will help her.

The traditional friendship of Chile and Mexico was recently demonstrated by an official invitation to the Chilean poetess, Gabriela Mistral, to visit Mexico. The Mexican Minister in discussing Pan-American relations with me today said:

"Some day the United States and Mexico will get together. I find much European sentiment in South America but I believe the day Europe comes into American affairs will be the saddest in history. When the United States resumes relations with Mexico she will be off her best friend—one who is the most in favor of America of Americans.

EFFECT OF REVOLUTION

"The revolution drove out the big influence of Lord Cowdray and turned sentiment toward the United States. Those working for the old regime are working against the United States for the restoration of English dominance in the petroleum industry as given by Diaz. A few big American trusts desire to devour not only the Mexican but the numerous American firms doing business in Mexico.

"The strangest phenomenon of history is that today the peoples of the United States and Mexico are closer than ever before; more commerce is exchanged, there are more resolutions of State governments, chambers of commerce in favor of Mexico than ever before, yet the government denies recognition. The petroleum companies back that refusal by saying Mexican laws curtail business, yet they show the greatest dividends in their history. In past conferences Mexico and the United States stuck close together and must do so again if the American continent is to be kept American in the best sense."

HUGHES SENDS PLEA

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 26.—A plea that nations set themselves forcibly to the task of removing every remnant of suspicion, distrust, and fear, and that they seek the cure for their ills, which is found only in friendship and good faith, was made today by Secretary Hughes in a message to the fifth Pan-American Conference in Santiago, Chile, delivered by Ambassador Henry P. Fletcher, head of the delegation from the United States. Mere formal arrangements between nations, the message said, are futile in the absence of good will.

The assertion was made that the conference should "buttress the foundations of amity" and take "full advantage of its opportunities" in that direction. The real value of the conference was declared to rest in the fact it "generated powerful currents of mutual understanding and friendly interest," supplying the motive power by which injurious influences might be overcome.

REGRETS ABSENCE

The statement follows in part:

"It is with the deepest regret that I have found it impossible to attend the opening of the fifth Pan-American conference. . . .

"At a time when we witness the economic dislocations, the waste and impoverishment and the distrust and hatred that have resulted from the Great War, we have abundant reason to congratulate our peoples that peace reigns in this hemisphere, and the meeting of this conference affords a welcome opportunity to dedicate ourselves anew to the ideals of peace.

"Present experiences, reinforcing the lessons of history, cause fresh recognition of the futility of mere formal arrangements in the absence of good will, and . . . the permanent value of the conference lies in the fact that here are generated powerful currents of mutual understanding and friendly interest in supplying the motive power through which any remnants of suspicion and distrust may be removed and the injurious influences of earlier antagonisms may be overcome.

"All problems find solution among those who desire to be friendly and just, and the present imperative demand of civilization itself is that nations shall set themselves to the elimination of sources of controversy, and shall earnestly and diligently seek, for their manifold ills the cures which can only be found in friendship and good faith.

"There are happily no controversies among us that cannot be settled by the processes of reason . . . We rejoice in an expanding life; we are proud of our traditions and achievements; we all desire the development of our resources, increased facilities of education and the improvement of the common lot of humanity. This conference means that practical direction of our material and spiritual forces to gain for all the American republics the enhanced prosperity which waits on the friendly collaboration of States secure in their recognized equality; in their mutual respect and in the supremacy of the common sentiment of justice.

"I trust that your labors may have the happiest results."

AUTO INTERESTS PRESENT REPORT

New License Plans Given Consideration

Gasoline Tax and Schedule of Fees Made

Three Suggestions Offered for Registration

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, March 26.—A two-day conference of many organizations interested in passenger and freight automobile regulations tonight submitted to a subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Motor Vehicles, a report indicating that virtual agreement has been reached on all legislation with the exception of truck-weight limits, and the precise method of licensing. The report indicated that agreement on the license provisions was within easy reach and that a compromise on the weight question might be obtained.

The report was signed by Dave F. Smith of Los Angeles, who was the chairman of the conference. The organizations participating were the Supervisors' Association, California Farm Bureau, Agricultural Legislative Committee, California Peace Officers' Association, Automobile Club of Southern California, California State Automobile Association; Motor Truck Owners' Association of California, Franchise Motor Freight Carriers' Association, California Transport Association, California Motor Transport Association and California Automobile Trade Association.

REVENUE PLANS

The report states that a budget prepared by State Highway Engineer Morton, showing a need for about $16,000,000 revenue for the coming year, was accepted as a basis for figuring fees and licenses, and that all the plans submitted were intended to produce about that sum.

The plans submitted called for two groups of charges, the first being a registration fee of $3 for all motor vehicles, a fuel tax of 2 cents a gallon, and a weight tax on commercial vehicles starting with $4 for vehicles under 4000 pounds weight, $40 on vehicles from 4000 to 6000, $80 on vehicles from 6000 to 10,000 and $150 on the vehicles exceeding 10,000.

The other proposed schedule called for the retention of the present horse power fees and weight fees in two scales, one for vehicles with pneumatic tires, the other for vehicles with solid tires, these ranging from $1 to $25 for the first type and from $5 to $55 for the second type.

THIRD PLAN PROPOSED

A third plan of $2 registration, 2 cents gasoline tax, and weight charges of a quarter cent a pound on all pneumatic equipped vehicles and a half cent a pound on other motor vehicles was also reported.

The report recites that after these plans were all discussed, a conference committee agreed on "the principle of a nominal registration fee, a motor fuel tax and a weight fee. It did not, however, reach any final agreement, and its deliberations were not submitted to the conference as a whole."

As to weight limits, the clubs and organizations others than the truck men and freight associations, advocated a limit of 22,000 pounds for four-wheeled vehicles, with the right vested in County Supervisors to vary this either upward or downward. The truck men wanted a 26,000-pound limit, without any discretion to lower it vested in the supervisors.

The first group offered as a compromise the fixing of its proposed 22,000-pound limit, with authority to the supervisors to raise but not lower this on highways under their jurisdiction, except that they might lower it temporarily, weather conditions so requiring; the second group declined this, and offered instead a proposal for a limit of 24,000 pounds with supervisorial authority to raise, but not lower. Neither group agreed to the proposal of the other.

RESENT ATTACK ON GOVERNOR

Legislators Assail Seavey's Machine Defense

mittee hearing, to proceed, apparently desiring the utmost latitude of expression. Senator Gates had almost immediate cause to regret his indulgence, as Mr. Seavey, with disordered hair, glaring eyes and waving arms, started to arraign Mrs. Pierce.

"I won't stand for that," said Mr. Gates, rapping abruptly with his gavel. Further admonitory remarks by the committee chairman were lost in a deluge of heated denunciations from the floor and the amazing exhibition of Mr. Seavey's ill temper and ungoverned spleen came to a halt.

While the Railroad Commission president failed to furnish Legislators with adequate information concerning the commission's budget allowances, or to explain from what sources he would obtain additional revenue to meet his demands for increased appropriations, his address, stripped of personalities and hysterical abuse constituted a typical expression of the viewpoint of the discredited State political machine.

Arguments that, as a member of the State Board of Control, he used two years ago to urge the addition of $15,000,000 to the biennial expenditures of the State, were virtually reiterated today by Mr. Seavey in condemning Gov. Richardson for seeking to place the State on a retrenchment basis.

His was the voice of the disgruntled machine jobholder, crying out in anguished protest. He pictured California almost as a desert waste—and all because of Gov. Richardson's budget. He went far afield into a discussion of government practice and theory and sketched a fearful picture of a people oppressed by a reduction in taxes.

The highly charged atmosphere was somewhat relieved by an apparently very timely interruption by Chairman Gates, who stopped the machine apologist's oratory by announcing in a slightly significant tone that "Mr. Seavey will now answer any questions that members may care to ask."

Due, however, to Mr. Seavey's anxiety to clear his system of a defense of the old Johnson-McCabe-Stephens machine, the afternoon session had already passed the regular time for adjournment, and announcement was made that the commission head would appear for further questioning at tomorrow's hearing.

When Gov. Richardson, because of his pledge to the people that if elected Governor he would destroy the political machine of which Mr. Seavey for many years has been a leader, defeated Mr. Stephens in the primary election last August, the army of State jobholders and political bosses urged Mr. Seavey to become a candidate in opposition to Mr. Richardson at the November election.

After some vacillation, the present Railroad Commissioner, then City Manager of Sacramento, declined to enter the race. He was one of the old machine leaders who accepted eleventh-hour appointments from former Gov. Stephens and it has been generally believed throughout [illegible] ate that he would use the R[illegible] Commission position to further his asserted ambition to be Governor.

His conduct in the Assembly chamber today certainly added considerable color to the report, for from start to finish, his discourse more nearly approximated the utterances of a demagogic politician seeking votes than the explanation of a department head seeking to acquaint the proper authorities with the needs of his department.

As in the case of Will C. Wood, Superintendent of Public Instruction, a carefully arranged poisoning offensive on Gov. Richardson's economy program has been waited back upon its originator and again as in the case of Mr. Wood, Mr. Seavey finds his efforts in large degree nullified by far too obvious methods and motives.

Whatever faults may exist in the Governor's budget—and Mr. Richardson himself has informed the legislators they do exist and will be remedied—Messrs. Seavey and Wood have signally failed to establish a genuine case against it. It is probable that the budget hearings will be concluded before the end of this week.

Citizenship of American-Born Orientals Hit

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, March 26.—The Assembly of the California Legislature today initiated a move to seek an amendment to the Constitution of the United States barring from citizenship orientals of American birth. The move was in the shape of a joint resolution to be presented to Congress as a memorial, urging the adoption of an amendment to Article XIV of the Federal Constitution which would make the article read that "All persons of white, African and American Indian parents, born in the United States and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are residents of the United States and of the State, wherein they reside."

This would exclude orientals by the omission from the list. The memorial was presented by Frank L. Coombs of Napa and was adopted in Assembly without a dissenting vote. It now goes to the Senate for action there, and if that body concurs it will be forwarded to Washington as the expressed sentiment of California on the oriental question.

RECEIVER REQUESTED FOR HUGE SILK FIRM

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 26.—Creditors of the D. G. Dery Corporation, silk manufacturers, doing a business estimated at from $24,000,000 to $30,000,000 a year, late today applied to the Federal court for the appointment of a receiver to protect its assets.

WILSON AFTER LEADERSHIP

places on the Federal Trade Commission in December, 1918. His present term has until 1926 to run.

Mr. Thompson is a lawyer of ability, has an attractive presence and is a convincing speaker. He is described as a progressive Democrat, which is the personally chosen political label of Gov. Sweet, although the Governor has been termed a radical by his opponents.

The readiness of Wilson to urge the appointment of Thompson so strongly at the risk of embarrassing Gov. Sweet in his supposed desire to name Alva Adams, Jr., son of the widely-known Governor and national committeeman to whom the Governor attributed his victory November last, was construed as the most emphatic reassertion of party leadership which has emanated from the S-street home.

VOLUNTEERS OPINION

Wilson's active opposition to Vardaman in Mississippi and Reed in Missouri was not the same kind as the Thompson case. These men were personally objectionable to him, and in response to invitations he gave expression to his views. In the current incident he has volunteered to influence an appointment.

There has been a widespread hope among many Democrats that Wilson would agree to permit a public statement of his views with reference to the world court proposal. Thus far the Democratic rank and file have had little else than newspaper guidance for development of opinion on the administration proposal. Such comment as was obtained from Democratic Senators was favorable to the court proposal, because, they said, it was a step toward the League of Nations, which the President and Secretary Hughes denied promptly. The Republican irreconcilables are contending the same thing, and the administration is relying on its proposed reservations to prove the contrary.

NOT AGREED ON COURT

With some Democrats inclined to favor any move by the Republican administration which constitutes an approach to the League or which promotes more effective American participation in world readjustments, others are inclined to challenge the Harding proposal as only an ineffective sop to growing public sentiment and not at all adequate to meet the necessities of the situation.

Many party leaders have believed that a ringing declaration by the former President would bring unity of thought and action among great numbers of persons, not necessarily all Democrats, and that the party attitude would be known clearly throughout the country. It was not enough, they argued, for the Democrats to remain silent, trusting to gain partisan advantage from the family quarrel the Republicans propose to stage next summer.

FUNERAL THURSDAY

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DENVER, March 26.—Pallbearers for the funeral of the late Senator Samuel D. Nicholson will be announced tomorrow, and will include among their number acquaintances of nearly half a century. The active pallbearers will be headed by former Gov. Jesse F. McDonald and others will be "hard rock" mining companions of the early Leadville days. The honorary pallbearers will be men of prominence and likewise intimate associates of the late Senator.

The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Central Presbyterian Church with services under the auspices of the Masonic order at Fairmont cemetery.

The body will lie in state at the capital Thursday morning.

The death of the Colorado Senator opens the way for the nomination of a Democrat by Gov. Sweet to the place held by the supporter of the administration. The appointment will be watched with interest due to the belief that has been expressed in political circles that appointment of a Progressive Democrat may place the Progressive faction in the majority when the next Congress is organized.

MANY CANDIDATES

Many candidates have been mentioned, at least some of which are receiving consideration by the Governor. Among these are Congressman Ed T. Taylor, Alva H. Adams, Pueblo; Walter Walker, Grand Junction; Wayne Williams, Denver; Huston Thompson, Denver, and now a member of the Federal Trade Commission, and former State Supreme Justice Hill.

On behalf of Thompson, former President Wilson wired Gov. Sweet today and the executive chambers were thronged with delegations urging various persons for the appointment. The choice probably will not be announced for a week or ten days, possibly longer, it was said by an executive official close to Gov. Sweet.

Frederick J. Libbey wired from Washington suggesting that Gov. Sweet wear the Senatorial toga himself. To do this would require his resignation as Governor and subsequent appointment by Lieut.-Gov. Robert F. Rockwell.

and it is expected that within the coming week several attempts will be made.

Immediately after April 1, Lieuts. Maughan and Maitland will try to hang up a new mark for world aviators to shoot at on a three-kilometer course. No record has ever been made on such a course.

In his first trip over the course, Maughan was timed officially by 9:45s. for the five-eighths mile lap. On his second, the time was 9.7s and on the third 9.58s.

GREAT CROWD GATHERS

Officials, after reading the records on the electric chronometer, then announced the official average speed as being 232.56 miles per hour. It was not until some time after the preliminaries ended that Maughan was told of breaking Lecointe's record. He blushed and smiled and merely remarked, "That's fine, but I hope to do better."

Officials at Wilbur Wright intermediate air station invited the public, and in spite of the cold, raw weather, more than 14,000 turned out.

DRUG BOTTLE IS CLEW TO SLAYER

Chloroform Container Gives Police Lead

Keenan Murder Is Thought to Be Purchaser

Model Was in Fear of Death on Fatal Night

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, March 26.—A web of evidence is closing about suspects in the Dorothy Keenan murder today and the police are confident that an arrest will be made within twenty-four hours.

One of the most important clews is the chloroform bottle left behind by the slayer. He had taken pains to cut out the registry number on the bottle's label, thus closing a fairly direct trail to the police, but he had overlooked, probably did not suspect, that the drug was in a peculiarly-shaped bottle of which there were only a few issued.

The chloroform was one of the E. R. Squibbs & Sons products. The firm experimented with a new type of bottle for this commodity, but the experiment was not a success and comparatively few of the bottles went from the factory. Those that did went in small lots to purchasers near the factory's home.

SUSPECT MISSING

Today by a process of elimination of chloroform purchasers, the police have pretty well established that the chloroform used on Dorothy Keenan (also known as King) was brought to New York by a man that formerly lived in a New Jersey town. He has disappeared.

Investigators have dropped all theories except the one that Dorothy Keenan was the victim of blackmailers who were trying to force her to join them in a plot to extort money from J. K. Mitchell, her wealthy admirer, of Philadelphia. They believe that the blackmailers may not have intended to kill the girl, and that her death was due to their ignorance of the method of using the drug.

Information in possession of the police and District Attorney is that Mr. Mitchell gave the girl a $1000 Liberty bond and a jade bracelet on the occasion of his last visit on the night she was murdered. Both of these are now reported missing. It is also believed the so-called "Palm Beach" letter from Mrs. Mitchell was taken by the blackmailer at the same time. The disappearance of the bond and the trinket is regarded as particularly significant and furnishes the detectives with a valuable new clew.

FEAR INDICATED

That the model feared some untoward incident on the night of her death is indicated by her request that Mr. Mitchell remain in her apartment later than usual. Ordinarily, it is said, he departed well before midnight, usually between 10 and 11 o'clock. But, on the night of the girl's death, he is understood to have remained until 2 o'clock in the morning, at the urgent request of the girl herself.

Last summer he had a dog, to which she was greatly attached, but the animal displayed an intense dislike for one of Dorothy's male friends.

When this man called it was said the dog would set up a ferocious barking and keep it up until locked in another room by his mistress.

One day the dog was taken violently ill. The police have learned that it was killed by Ella Bradford, the negro maid.

APPEAL FROM WARSAW

WARSAW, March 26.—(Jewish Telegraphic Agency.) A resolution calling on the Polish government to make all efforts to obtain the release of Archbishop Zepliak and the other Roman Catholic priests on trial in Moscow was passed unanimously by the Polish Chamber of Deputies on Saturday. In adopting the resolution the chamber declared it was acting in accord "with humanitarian principles recognized by the entire civilized world," with regard to religious and cultural freedom.

It was declared that the trial in Moscow affected the future of the entire Roman Catholic population of Russia, including some 2,000,000 Poles, who are guaranteed liberty of religion and culture.

SUN MAKES RECORD FOR MARCH HEAT

Mercury Climbs Highest Since 1914; Forecaster Predicts Rain

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—When the mercury climbed to 83 degrees this afternoon the day went into the record as the sultriest March day since 1914, when the thermometer showed 86 degrees.

Today's heat record topped by one degree the showing of 1915, when March 21 and 22 registered a temperature of 81 degrees.

Farmers of California who have been worrying for want of rain may find some cheer in the fact that Forecaster E. A. Beals of the weather bureau area has found a low pressure area. Diligently searching the weather map, he spotted a low pressure district over a portion of the Pacific near Honolulu that may, if its attention is not otherwise distracted, bring rain to the Pacific Coast the last of this week.

Father Ricard has predicted rain for March 28.

Old timers have to go back a long way to recall a spring drought as long as the present dry spell. The spring of 1923 has been dry for a longer time than any spring for seventy-five years.

Since February 13 only .03 of an inch of rain has been registered, and the seasonal precipitation is an inch below normal.

DIVINE SARAH GOES TO REST

Famous Actress Expires in Arms of Her Son

Had Been in Public Eye for Three-Score Years

Smile Lights Face as She Is Called Beyond

hurried in her limousine to the nearest priest. Father Risser of the Church of St. Francis Das Cales returned with her, encountering the departing symbols of the Divine Sarah's earthly career.

Father Risser said that Mme. Bernhardt's eyes showed signs that she understood, responding to questions regarding the extreme unction with a slight pressure of her hand.

Mme. Rostand, a life-long friend, who is known in France under the name Rosemonde, arrived hurridly, accompanied by her son. Descending from a taxicab the dramatist's widow, weeping convulsively and unable to walk alone, was half carried by her son.

They were admitted to the sick room. Mme. Bernhardt recognised them and attempted to smile.

"ONLY AWAIT END"

Prof. L'Abbe, from the Institute de France, and one of the world's greatest kidney specialists, arrived at 6 o'clock to hold a consultation. Leaving, he said gravely: "We can only await the end."

A bulletin was issued at 7 o'clock, reading: "There has been a progressive aggravation of the conditions locally and generally," signed Prof. L'Abbe and Rudiensce, Marot, Prevost, Desnos and Obissier.

From the Elysee Palace to the tenements of Montmartre and La Villette, Paris mourns tonight. Around the three-story house in the Boulevard Periere a motley crowd waited for hours. Many still are waiting, unwilling to believe that so much of what seemed to be the permanent glory of France has passed away forever.

Again and again old men, young men, rich men, poor men, arrived before Mme. Bernhardt's door, demanding: "Is it true, monsieur? Can it be true?"

On a hard wooden bench under the trees across from Sarah's home, men and women crowded day and night, anxiously watching the second-floor window behind which the delight of a century was expiring.

ALL ARE CONCERNED

At the corner of the street near Mme. Bernhardt's house, working men have been repairing the sidewalk. The work became increasingly difficult as the workmen constantly stopped and demanded from reporters and passers-by: "How is Mme. Sarah, I pray you, monsieur?"

An old woman stood with her papers in her hand at the corner throughout the afternoon, watching the house. In response to a question she smiled and said: "I was young when she was young. I ushered at the Odeon during the years following Mme. Sarah's debut. Ah, how Paris has changed in sixty years, but the Divine One always lighted up my youth."

Dropping a casual tear she crossed herself.

Complete arrangements for her funeral were made some years ago by Mme. Bernhardt herself. Belle Isle, which has been chosen as her last restingplace, is a pile of jagged rocks extending high into the air of the Atlantic like a monument raised by nature to the greatest of her kind.

A rosewood coffin, purchased thirty years ago, and lined with mauve satin, is to be used at the funeral. Mme. Bernhardt sometimes slept in the famous coffin, saying laughingly: "Death must hold no terrors." The expression "Sarah Bernhardt's coffin," thus became a popular term for anything weird.

RICHEPIN REMEMBERS

The tangled skeins of one of the greatest lives in the nineteenth century were not gathered together tonight. Casimir-Perier, a former President of the republic, and many others of Sarah's greatest admirers, have been dead for years, and generations have grown up, yet Jean Richepin, head of the French Academy, remembers.

M. Richepin fifty years ago came from the provinces, a beggar poet, hardly able to get enough to eat, and was taken in by the greatest actress of Paris, who then was in the full tide of her power. They broke up, causing a sensation in Paris, more than forty years ago, and M. Richepin has not seen her since. M. Richepin is locked up in his room tonight, unable to receive visitors. He is the last of that great generation which fought to hear the golden voice of Sarah when she was young.

Lucien Guitry learned of Mme. Bernhardt's death tonight during the first act of Moliere's "Tartuffe," which was being given at the Theater Du Vaudeville. He sank heavily in his chair in his dressing-room and spoke brokenly of his old friend:

"HER NAME MEANT GLORY"

"I am a veteran, perhaps, but never can I remember the day when the name Bernhardt did not mean glory and beauty for French dramatic art. I could not have encouraged her to play in my son's production if I had any idea that death was so near. We have learned to think of her as immortal and it is hard to envisage her death.

"But, as I learned from her, so my son learned from her, through me, and generations will learn from her how art makes a glorious life."

Sacha Guitry, Lucien's son, was in a state of nervous excitement tonight at the Theater Edouard VII where he is playing with his wife, Yvonne Printemps. Sacha and Yvonne visited Mme. Bernhardt this afternon, leaving so disturbed that the former forgot his lines. The director of the theater took every precaution to prevent his learning of Mme. Bernhardt's death.

Mme. Bernhardt's illness began on January 17, when she was rehearsing with Sacha and Lucien Guitry in a play by the latter.

END IS ANNOUNCED

Arthur Mayer, editor of Le Gautois, who had known Mme. Bernhardt for many years, was the last caller. He arrived five minutes before her death, but realizing what was happening, left without seeing her. Just as he departed the windows of the bed chamber closed. A moment later Dr. Marot appeared and informed the newspaper men, who had been keeping watch day and night:

"Mme. Bernhardt has just expired in the arms of her son."

Three score and one years on the stage did not fill her life; she found time to be poet, novelist, painter and sculptor, yet seemed never too busy to see her many friends, and always seeking something more to do.

The loss of her right leg at the beginning of the war caused her to limit her movements on the stage, but did not hinder her appearances. She took her misfortune bravely, played for the soldiers and used to the utmost her wonderful voice, which seemed never to tire; only of late years had it begun to lose something of its marvelous quality. Her inability to walk well and the increasing disabilities of age of late greatly restricted her stage roles, and latterly she appeared only seated.

LAST APPEARANCE HERE

CLEVELAND, March 26.—Sarah Bernhardt's last appearance on an American stage is believed to have been at C. F. Keith's Hippodrome here. She had completed her tour in 1918 when the Keithe circuit made special arrangements for her appearance here during the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign.

Mme. Bernhardt, during the week of Oct. 7, 1918, appeared in a play called "Arriere les Huns," which was written by Reve Gervais, a member of her company. It is said to have been the only time the play had been produced.

In this play Mme. Bernhardt took the part of a French countess who refused to leave her chateau during the German invasion, and gave shelter to wounded French and American soldiers. She sailed ten days later and never returned to America.

Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, who at 70 years of age seemed still a girl, was known to every land as "the world's greatest actress." What dissent there might have been to this estimate, and however far her detractors ventured in their attempts to minimise her right to that distinction, the numberless admirers of the "Divine Sarah" remained convinced that never before had the stage produced an actress capable of soaring to such heights in the realm of emotional drama.

The work of Mme. Bernhardt was best where a theme afforded the greatest opportunity for a display of her powerful emotions. At the height of her career this form of acting, based principally on love, hate and jealousy, held the predominant place now dedicated to character delineations, and Bernhardt never was surpassed, her critics say, in this emotional school. Hundreds of parts she either rewrote or created to suit herself, seldom being content to act them as interpreted by others.

MARVEL OF WORLD

Three generations have praised and even worshiped the art of Bernhardt, and hundreds upon thousands of people around the world have thronged to see and marvel at her acting without understanding the French language, which she invariably employed on the stage. Once, in Rio Janeiro, she was called before the curtain more than 200 times by a wildly enthusiastic audience, and many times, in other parts of the world, she was obliged to answer scores of curtain calls at a single performance.

The long life-story of Bernhardt is almost legendary. Closely woven with dramatic incident, off as well as on the stage, it was set down by herself in a lengthy volume published many years ago, and, as one of her critics has said, "through the pages of the book peers the face of a woman, a little tired, weary of her own reputation, and blessed with more than her share of the vanities of the sex." As she and others have told the story, it is summed up here:

The date of her birth, the record of which was destroyed in the flames of the Commune in Paris, was commonly accepted as Oct. 22, 1845. Her mother was Dutch and Jewish, and her natural father a French official.

As a child Bernhardt spent much of her time with relatives in Paris, and at the age of 12 was sent to the Grand Champ Convent, Versailles, where she made her debut in a little miracle play given by the children. Even at this early age, the pale and sickly child is said to have displayed the fits of temper which were characteristic of her stage career.

After a year or two at the convent, she conceived a passionate desire to become a nun. To this her mother recorded unqualified opposition, and suggested a theatrical career instead.

"She's too thin to be an actress," said her godfather. "Let her be a nun."

"WON'T BE ACTRESS"

"I won't be an actress," little Sarah categorically exclaimed. "Rachel is an actress. She came to the convent and walked around the garden, then she had to sit down because she couldn't get her breath. They fetched her something to bring her around, but she was so pale, oh, so pale. I was very sorry for her, and the nuns told me that what she was doing was killing her, for she was an actress, and so I won't be an actress. I won't."

But fate had determined otherwise, and at the age of 14, Bernhardt was sent to a conservatory. At the end of the first year she won second prize for tragedy. A subscription among the players at the Comedie Francaise enabled her to spend another year at the conservatory, and upon the completion of this she carried off second prize for comedy. Her first public appearance was the Comedie Francaise in August, 1862. She took a minor part without any marked success.

Five years later she emerged from laborious obscurity with her first definite success as Cordelia in a French translation of "King Lear" at the Odeon, then as Queen in Victor Hugo's "Ruy Blas," and above all as Zanzett in Francois Coppee's "Le Passant," which she played in 1869.

NURSE IN WAR

Then came the Franco-Prussian War. Bernhardt increased her popularity by becoming a war nurse. In 1871 she was made a life member of the Comedie Francaise. She clashed repeatedly with M. Perrin, the manager, over the roles she should take, and once in a fit of pique fled from the theater and decided to give up the stage. She plunged into sculpture. Her first piece, "After the Storm," finished some years later—won a place in the Salon. She returned to M. Perrin only to break with him again, incurring a forfeit of £4000, which she paid.

She invaded England, receiving a tremendous ovation, then toured Denmark and Russia. Next she came to America, where her success was instantaneous. She toured the United States and Canada eight times in some thirty-five years, and appeared several times in the larger cities of South America.

Breaking with the theatrical syndicates, which denied her the use of their theaters when she refused to come to their terms, she was compelled to appear on one of her American tours in tents, convention halls and armories. She vowed never to appear in the theater again, but on subsequent visits she came to terms with the syndicates.

The great actress was a grandmother when she last appeared in America, and had suffered amputation of her right leg. Upon her arrival in New York, October, 1916, it was evident to the group of friends and admirers who gathers to welcome her that she walked with extreme difficulty.

While playing in New England she contracted a severe cold which prompted her to take a trip South for her health. A few weeks later she underwent an operation for infection of the kidney and although more than 70 years of age, she enjoyed complete recovery and remained in America for several months.

The injury to her knee which compelled the amputation of her leg in 1915 was attributed to many different causes. For years before the amputation the plays in which she appeared were altered to hide the fact that she was able to walk only with great difficulty. The operation was performed in Paris, and upon her recovery she reappeared on the stage to receive the greatest ovation of her career. Her manager announced that henceforth she would interpret only motionless roles.

PLAYS FOR SOLDIERS

During the World War Bernhardt made several trips to the French front and gave a number of performances for the soldiers. This, she declared, was the "incomparable event" of her life.

The memoirs of Bernhardt sedulously avoid any mention of her marital experience, and only in the middle of the bulky volume does she mention casually the existence of a son. One of her critics declared that "she never seemed to find the man who could master her."

"There was in her," he continued, "the making of a supermoman, and although she met Victor Hugo and the greatest intellectual potentates of her time, the super-man, who alone could hold her, never entered her life."

Years ago a jealous rival of her theatrical career published a satire entitled "The Story of Sarah Barnum," in which the love affairs of the actress, real and asserted, were shamelessly laid bare. Bernhardt resorted to the horsewhip to punish the author.

In 1882 the actress was married to Jacques Demala, a handsome Greek who had made a name in the theatrical world through his work in "The Ironmaster." He later took a minor part in one of her plays, but after a year on tour they separated. Later she took him back to her home and nursed him through a fatal siege of consumption.

Mme. Bernhardt's natural son, Maurice, showed no inclination to follow the profession of his mother, and after spending a short time in the French army, he married a Russian princess. She died after bearing him a daughter, and Maurice Bernhardt took a Parisienne as his second wife.

Many stories have been told of the fabulous sums accruing to the famous actress, especially in America, but authenticated figures show that the gross receipts of each tour were in the neighborhood of $500,000, of which she usually received 50 per cent. A large part of her earnings was reinvested in theatrical enterprises, and at one time she owned or controlled half a dozen playhouses in Paris.

SUCCESS IN "HAMLET"

Of the more than 200 parts Bernhardt essayed during the long stage career, perhaps the boldest experiment of all was the title role in a French production of "Hamlet," which met with such unmistakable success that she was prompted to appear again as a man in "L'Aiglon." Her repertory, in addition to the plays mentioned, included "Joan of Arc," "Fedora," "Adrienne Lecouvreur," "Sappho," Theodora" and "Hermani." Her greatest successes, however, seemed to center in the Hugo and Sardou dramas, both tragedies and comedies. Many of these plays were written around her, and "fitted like a glove."

A physical description of Bernhardt is difficult. In her youth she undoubtedly was what might be called beautiful, although from the French standpoint her slimness was against her. The greatest interest in the actress, aside from her art, was the tenacity with which she clung to her girlish appearance. At 75 she might have passed for a woman of 30, so well had the features of her younger days been preserved.

Patience seemed to have been one of Bernhardt's inborn characteristics. She would spend weeks and even months trying to correct technical faults in some member of her company, and then, if the subject failed to improve, should would explode and have nothing more to do with him either on or off the stage—not even speaking to him under any circumstances.

She always displayed a keen interest in the heart affairs of her troupe, and delighted in holding a "cupid's court," in her private car, at which she would require aggrieved swains and the objects of their affections to submit their differences—Bernhardt to be the final arbiter.

The conviviality of the dinner table was another of Bernhardt's delights. She particularly enjoyed a feast at midnight, after a performance, when the members of her company were present. She drank in moderation, and seldom touched anything but champagne. She never was known to smoke.

Two of the treasures in her Paris home invariably excited the interests of visitors. One was the skull given her by Victor Hugo, on which he had written autograph verse to the actress, and the other was the coffin in which she occasionally slept. This strange bed, she explained, was padded with "memories of her dead life"—faded rose leaves and letters yellow with age.

She once expressed a wish that this coffin be her final resting place, and in 1922 the idea was elaborated upon when she bought for $100, from the French government, a little granite island in the Bay of Biscay, not far from her summer home at Belle Isle, where she planned to build a magnificent tomb crowned with a marble statue of herself, the arms outstretched as if beckoning to harassed fishermen imperilled by the storms.

Death had a weird fascination for Bernhardt, and for years she contemplated it with what appeared to be an uncanny humor. The wish she most often expressed was that she might die in the midst of her triumphs. "I shall play until death," she said, "and the death I hope for is the death Sir Henry Irving died." Her English contemporary died on tour, being stricken with apoplexy after a performance in 1905.

Toward the end of 1922, it was thought this desire might shorten her life considerably, for while she was dangerously ill in her Paris home, she pitted her iron will against the physicians and prepared to resume her part in a new play by Sacha Guitary that she was playing in when stricken. She felt the end was near, her sickroom attendants said, and wanted to be acting a leading role when death rang down the curtain.

Is it worth $60—the price of a ROYAL Cleaner, which gets out this deeply-embedded dirt—to get rid of this menace? The ROYAL makes any home cleaner, healthier, happier.

The attachments enable you to clean the whole house from cellar to garret.

Illegal Activities Exposed in Michigan Trial

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. JOSEPH (Mich.) March 26. — The Communist party of America was meeting and functioning as a party organization and discussing illegal activities as late as a week ago yesterday, according to evidence produced by the State today in the trial of William Z. Foster, charged with violating the criminal syndicalism law of Michigan.

Attacking the claim of Charles E. Ruthenberg, a defense witness and co-defendant with Foster, that the Communist party had passed out of existence last January, merging its identity with the legal Workers' party, the prosecution on cross-examination won an admission that Mr. Ruthenberg had attended a Communist gathering in New York on Sunday, the 18th inst.

Ruthenberg admitted that he and another member of the central executive committee of the Workers' party were present and that the other member delivered a speech in German, which Ruthenberg translated. He admitted that Pepper stated the reasons why the Communist Internationale of Moscow had ordered the Communists in this country to come out into the open and that one reason advanced was because the political situation has changed since the election of men classed as liberals to important offices, including Congress.

The report of the unnamed government agent who attended the meeting said that speech was followed by a general discussion in which Ruthenberg answered questions. "He stated as follows," the Department of Justice agent's report continued. "The apparatus of the Communist party of America will consist of a very confidential committee which will direct illegal work, such as sending men into the American Legion, the Ku Klux Klan, the Army and Navy and in case of an uprising this committee will take care of getting arms and distributing them, also to get people to distribute illegal literature and do the general work of the party."

Ruthenberg denied that the statement represented what he had actually said.

DIRECTED TO APPEAR

Efforts of the State to get Ruthenberg to admit that the Communist party had issued orders forbidding its members to testify for the government in any court of law were unsuccessful. The witness said he had never heard of the policy, and was here by direct order of the national executive committee to appear and tell all he knew about Communism.

Communists, he admitted, would stick together and not testify against each other if it could be avoided.

The State tried today to bar Ruthenberg's testimony entirely under a Michigan ruling that a co-defendant is not a competent witness for his fellow-defendant. Judge Charles White held, however, that the State was too late in raising the objection.

Concluding his direct examination, the witness declared the Communist Internationale of Moscow had advised American Communists to form a legal party, and explained that the Moscow group attributed the illegal organization in the country to persecution of its members.

Foster, he testified, was never an employee of the Communist party.

The Trade Educational League, of which Foster is head, is an independent organization, he said, which the Communists had indorsed and tried to influence.

Judge Sponsors Abolishment of Divorce Decree

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WHITE PLAINS (N. Y.) March 26.—Declaring that "divorce is a cancer in the vitals of American life," Supreme Court Justice Morschauser advocates the abolition of divorce, in an article in the April issue of "Columbia," a Knights of Columbus publication.

Justice Morschauser has heard many divorce cases in his time, the most prominent being the Stillman case.

"I would abolish divorce entirely," he says in the article. "I would grant annulments of improper marriages. I would grant separations where circumstances warranted so doing. But in no case would I grant absolute divorce."

It is understood the Farm Loan Board soon will announce the interest rate at which the land banks will loan co-operative associations and other organizations and institutions authorized under the law to borrow government funds.

My Impressions of Lake Arrowhead in Arrowhead Woods

"California's Finest Playground"

"Everything about Lake Arrowhead appeals to me—the purity of the clear atmosphere, the intensified blue of the sky reflected in the still surface of the lake, the wooded hill slopes in their fresh pine odor and the Normandy style of buildings that harmonize so well with it all," said Lionel A. Johnson, assistant Real Estate Editor, of the Los Angeles Examiner.

"To me Lake Arrowhead and Arrowhead Woods are an ideal blending of Nature's work and man's artistic skill. It is one place where man has been able to improve nature's rustic attractiveness.

"My visits to Lake Arrowhead have been like trips to dreamland, where all the practical, routine side of existence has been eliminated and only the essence of life re-

POLO QUARTETS RESUME TOURNEY

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DEL MONTE, March 26.—Polo quartets in the Coast polo championship tournament will resume play here tomorrow, with Midwick club lining up against the Eleventh Cavalry outfit of Monterey in the opening round for the novice cup. The senior teams will probably be seen in action during the week-end, when the Coast open polo championship tournament play is slated to start. A large entry list for the open tournament has been received, and the play this year is expected to be closely contested.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) March 26. A world's record in an American bowling congress tournament was established today by M. MacDowell, Toledo, when his total scores aggregated 2003. MacDowell rolled 682 in the five-man event, 608 in the doubles and 713 in the singles, the latter score landing him in second place in the individual class.

FIRPO DRAWS FARMER LODGE

Argentine Boxer Takes on a Real Whopper

Bout to Precede That of Willard-Johnson

Young Bob Fitzsimmons Is Also on Program

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 26.—Luis Angel Firpo, South American contender for the heavyweight boxing championship, has been matched with Farmer Lodge of Minneapolis for a fifteen-round contest at the charity boxing show on May 13 in the Yankee Stadium, Tex Rickard announced today. This bout will precede the Jess Willard and Floyd Johnson encounter.

Lodge was picked as Firpo's opponent from a field of candidates, including Jack Renault of Canada and Bob Roper of Chicago. Roper. It was understood, was prcatically signed for the bout until William Muldoon, chairman of the State Athletic Commission, interfered and barred him on the ground that he was not a suitable match for the man from the Argentine.

BIG LIKE JESS

Lodge has gained little recognition in heavyweight ranks to date, but he is a rival of Jess Willard in size, weighing around 235 pounds, and he has earned something of a reputation as a "jawbreaker" as a result of fracturing the chins of two opponents with knockout punches. He broke Paul Sampson's jaw in the second round of a contest at Madison Square Garden in 1921 and later administered the same punishment to Cliff Kramer in the third round.

The westerner has boxed Billy Miske twice, losing once by a knockout in the fourth round of a bout in 1921, and also met Dan O'Dowd and Fred Fulton. He lost a fight to Carl Morris, erstwhile Oklahoma "white hope," when he broke his hand in the ninth round. Before the accident Lodge floored Morris seven times. Lodge is six feet three inches in height and has the unusual reach of eighty-three inches.

COMPLETES CARD

Rickard has completed a card of four bouts for the Yankee Stadium show, all of which will witness heavyweights in action. Young Bob Fitzsimmons, son of the former titleholder, has been matched with Harry Drake, English light-heavyweight, for six rounds, while Carlos Scaglia of the Argentine, light-heavyweight sparring partner of Firpo, will make his American ring debut in a four-round encounter with Charley McKenna of Greenwich Village.

FLINTRIDGE MEET FOR TOMORROW

Fred Wright to be Feature of Tournament Along With Other Stars

With Fred Wright, picked as one of the players on the American team to take part in the golf matches in Deal, Scotland, entered in the Flintridge invitational tournament, the affair becomes of great importance and will undoubtedly be one of the biggest invitational affairs held in the South this season. This will mark Fred's last appearance in this part of the country before he leaves for across the water.

Wright is playing championship golf at present and is given big odds to win the tournament. Not only this, but he is expected to turn in a very low card in the bargain. The course is in almost perfect shape and this will add to the playing of Wright.

Many of Southern California's finest will be on hand to compete in the coming events, and as a result the scores tomorrow are expected to be low. The qualifying round will be played tomorrow, with the finals taking place on Saturday, a great change from the usual Sunday final schedule.

The course has been all gone over so that the greens and tees may be in perfect condition. The committee on the tournament have arranged matters to make playing as comfortable as possible and the tournament a great success.

RAYMOND SMITH SETS INDOOR RIFLE RECORD

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOSTON, March 26.—A new world's record for indoor rifle shooting was established by Raymond C. Smith, captain of the Boston University rifle team, with a perfect score of 1200 at fifty feet distance in the match in which Boston University defeated Yale for the New England intercollegiate championship. It was announced today. Smith's feat bettered the record established last year by Frank Anselmo, captain of the 1922 Boston University team, who made 999 out of a possible 1000.

BALL SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED

Citrus Belt League Nines Will Open on April 20; Tennis Sked is Also Given Out

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

RIVERSIDE, March 26.—The Riverside Polytechnic High School will officially open its 1923 baseball season for the Citrus Belt League competition on April 27, according to announcement made by Coach Ashel Cunningham of the local school last evening.

Riverside's first game this year will be with San Bernardino High School on the local field. The league season opens on April 20, but Riverside has drawn a bye for that date, and will not play until a week later.

The tennis schedule this year will be the same as the baseball, except for the fact that the school sending a baseball team away from home on a certain date will play tennis with the opposing school on its own grounds. For example, when the Riverside baseball team plays against San Bernardino here on April 27, the local tennis team will oppose San Bernardino at the latter city. This method will be followed throughout the season.

The all-southern tennis tournament, boy's division, will be held in Los Angeles on the Los Angeles Tennis Club courts on May 19. The girl's division games probably will be at Chaffey on the same date.

The following arrangements will prevail in scorings for the C.B.L. tennis games: First singles, boys or girls, 5 points; second singles, boys or girls, 5 points; doubles,

BRITTON WORTH HALF MILLION

Jack Britton is now 37 years of age. He is worth $500,000. money earned in his twenty years of professional boxing. But those twenty years brought Britton more than mere money. Always known as a "heady" fighter, he has gained a vast amount of knowledge, both of mankind in general and the fighting species in particular. His story, is for that reason, more than a tale of the arduous rise of an obscure boy to the heights of boxing fame. It sparkles with dry Irish wit; it leaves nothing unsaid; it is an outline of boxing history.

Chadbourne and his hustling band of baseballers put the Truck Hannahs in the hopeless hole yesterday at Washington Park by defeating them, 3 to 1. Of the sixteen games that have been played by the two teams Chadbourne has copped ten. James was on the mound for Hannah, but was hardly up to his usual high standard of work. However, after the third inning, when two runs were scored off his delivery, he settled down and heaved wonderful ball.

Jacobs mounded for Chadbourne and had a mighty sweet afternoon of it. He had some kind of veneer on the ball that refused to get on speaking terms with the bats of Hannah's underlings, and the best they could do was a lone tally. Jacobs also contributed to the winning of his own game by a mountain of a drive in the first of the third to right field. The pill came within a few feet of journeying into the far bleachers.

OH, YE YODELERS!

A special fillip was given to the game by the yodelling of Outfielders Blenkiron, O'Brien and Schneider, and for a long spell the spectators were deluded into the belief that Bill Rodgers and his Swiss warblers were having one of their old-time battles with the Tigers. We don't know whether Rodgers has letters patent on this yodel, but if he hasn't, O'Brien is in a fair way to put him out of conceit with himself, and this includes Brick Eldred.

Red Smith umpired. Red lacks some of the cockiness of Beans Reardon, but if the crack third-sacker isn't a regular honest-to-goodness ump, we surely have fallen to the leeway in the guessing line.

Essick has only three Tigers on the ailing list, viz, Red Smith, Chadbourne and Gilder. Smith and Chet have sore underpinning, but will be "shooting to kill" in a day or so. Gilder yesterday had a bunch of wisdom taken out of the back of his lower jaw, aided and abetted by a pair of forceps. He will return to duty today.

SANTEL CHALLENGED BY UNKNOWN MATMAN

Ad Santel, world light heavyweight wrestling champion, who recently announced that he was willing to meet anybody, anywhere and any place, will no doubt be surprised to learn that he has been challenged to a finish match by an unknown matman, through the medium of Lou Daro, well-known local wrestling promoter. Daro says he has a wrestler, whose name he wishes to keep unknown until Santel agrees to the match, who he, Daro, is certain can toss Santel. Daro says his man will take on Santel any place, and the only stipulation he makes is that the match will be a finish affair. Daro also stated that his wrestler would meet the champ in either a one-fall or three-fall match. Daro concluded that his wrestler was at present in Chicago and would arrive here in a week if Santel should agree to the match.

VINCENT RICHARDS MAY INVADE EUROPE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 26.—Vincent Richards of Yonkers and Francis T. Hunter of New Rochelle, N. Y., two of America's "first ten" in tennis ranking, are considering a trip abroad this summer to compete in the British championships at Wimbledon, it was learned today, but have reached no definite decision as yet. Richards has never tested England's historic turf, but Hunter displayed sensational form there in the world's championship of 1921, losing a five-set struggle in the semifinals to B. I. C. Norton, the South African, who went through to the challenging round, where he was beaten by William T. Tilden II, present American title-holder.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL GOLFERS IN TOURNEY

With an entry list of forty boys received, the Virgil Junior High School will hold a golf tournament today over the Angelus Vista course. The B. H. Dyas Company has placed up three trophies for the triumphant "young Sarazens."

According to P. J. Flagg, coach at Virgil, the boys are to play in three classes, on a weight, height and age classification, the same as used in other interscholastic athletic work.

After Coach Flagg has learned the abilities of the young school golfer, a handicap tournament will be put on.

BLOOMFIELD COPS BOUT

LONDON, March 26.—"Soldier" Jones, heavyweight champion of Canada, was defeated at the National Sporting Club tonight in the fifth round by Jack Bloomfield, the English light-heavyweight boxer. The men were fighting for the Empire cruiserweight championship.

JOHNSON WINS BY A KNOCKOUT

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

BOSTON, March 26.—Floyd Johnson of Iowa knocked out Ray Thompson of New York in twenty seconds here tonight. The Iowa heavyweight sent Thompson reeling to the floor with a punch to the jaw after twelve seconds of milling and the New Yorker stayed down until the count of eight. A blow to the right temple felled him for the last time.

Johnson entered the ring weighing 195 pounds and Thompson scaled 183 pounds. The two shook hands and Thompson led with a left for Johnson's face. The latter countred with a blow to Thompson's heart that sent the New Yorker back. Johnson shot a right to the jaw and Thompson went down in a heap. Twelve seconds only had elapsed. Eight was counted before Thompson arose.

Thompson, shaky, but willing, closed in as if in an attempt to clinch. The Iowan's right hand crashed against his left temple, and he sank to the floor—knocked out. A brief twenty seconds saw the end of the fight.

MAJOR BOWLERS TO WIND UP TOURNEY

The final round of the major bowling league is scheduled for tonight, two red-hot matches being billed for the Angelus Academy alleys. The Angelus team plays the Globe Ice Cream team, Pacific Coast champions, while the Walker Electric Trucks meet the Joe's Cafe club.

The Fahy Fords are leading the league, with the Wood Tires in second place and the Angelus Academy third. A play-off may be necessary after tonight's play.

FRESNO STRONG FOR BASEBALL

Raisin City Envies Franchise Held by Salt Lake

Bees and Siwashes Will Open Season in North

Mormon Youngsters Show Up Well on Diamond

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS

"Times" Staff Correspondent

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, March 26.—Here the populace is red hot for baseball. They are getting a taste of the spring stuff now and will have a week of the real article starting next week, when Salt Lake opens the season here.

Mayor Hart is limbering up his good right arm to throw the ball that will detonate a Coast League season in Fresno for the first time, and there will be all the other trimmings. All this has but whetted up the appetite of the citizens for the great national pastime, and they are going to regret the departure of the Bees. And they also are going to want a franchise in the Coast League.

REMAINS IN SALT LAKE

All of which is regarded as a prelude to transferring the Salt Lake franchise to this city. But it is necessary herewith to explode any such fond hopes. Billy Lane, president of the Bees, says emphatically that they will remain in Salt Lake as long as he is the owner.

"Some of the other clubs complain about the long jump to Salt Lake," said Lane. "The Bees have to jump just as far. We will be playing ball up there as a member of the Coast League long after those who are yelling the loudest will have passed out."

In short, Lane is dead game. He proved it during the war year when the league was losing money. Then he was in favor of playing the full season and pocketing the losses. And it is a fact that Salt Lake never has asked any assistance or special favor from the league. It has held up its end and never a whimper. So that's that. But Lane likes Fresno and the Bees probably will train here next spring.

During the season one is compelled to listen to many complaints from clubs visiting Salt Lake. They claim that the altitude and one thing and another places them under a handicap. For the first, it is found there is another side to the question.

Manager Duffy Lewis says that the hardest thing with which the Bees have to contend is that when they go on the road they must completely revise their system of play. At home the system is bam, bam, slug the ball. On the road they are compelled to bunt and sacrifice and play for lower scores. It is not an easy change for a club to make.

Lewis not only esteems Lee

Pacific Coast Conference Track Meet Date Is Set for June Second

TWELVE TEAMS TO BE ENTERED

Paddock Will Make His First Appearance in North

Affair to Be Pulled Off on Coast's Biggest Oval

National and International Stars Will Compete

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

STATE COLLEGE, PULLMAN, March 26.—The biggest athletic classic in the history of the Northwest, the Pacific Coast Conference and Northwest Conference track and field meet, in which teams from twelve colleges and universities in California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana will compete, will be held on Rogers Field, State College of Washington, June 2, instead of May 26, as at first announced. The annual intercholastic is scheduled for May 4 and 5.

The shift in the conference meet was made to permit California to again enter her men in the eastern competition at Philadelphia, which this year is on May 26.

MANY STARS ENTER

Teams from the nine universities of California, Southern California, Stanford, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Willamette, Pacific and Montana and from the three colleges of Whitman, Oregon Agricultural and Washington State, will include many stars of national and even international fame. Charles Paddock, who has won the title as "the world's fastest human being" because of the many globe records he has broken, is said to be sprinting faster than ever this year. He will undoubtdely draw big crowds of those who enjoy seeing pretty track work, especially as this first appearance of his in the Northwest will probably be his last, since after this year he will be ineligible for collegiate competition.

Rogers Field has the best track facilities of any athletic field in either of the western conferences. The third of a mile track is wider than any of the other tracks, and as fast, while the 220-yard straightaway has room for ten runners abreast. That permits the sprints to be run in three heats, two preliminaries and the final.

The change of date insures good roads from Spokane, Portland and other points, and fine weather for the event. Preparations are being made to house and care for the biggest crowd in the history of the college.

CRIQUI IN AMERICAN DEBUT TOMORROW

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 26.—Eugene Criqui, French holder of the European featherweight title, will make his American debut Wednesday night when he appears in an exhibition bout on the "all-star" boxing card arranged to raise funds for the benefit of devastated France. His opponent will be Bernie Ledou, French flyweight title claimant.

Besides Criqui, five ring champions—Benny Leonard, Johnny Dundee, Frankie Genaro, Mickey Walker and Joe Lynch—are slated to appear, while Pancho Villa, a former American flyweight title holder, and Luis Firpo, South American heavyweight, also are on the program.

PADDOCK CAPTAIN OF TROJAN TRACK SQUAD

Charles W. Paddock, world's fastest human and creator of about twenty of the present sprinting records, now bears the title of "captain of the University of Southern California track team." The Trojan speedster was unanimously elected to this position by his team-mates. Paddock was previously elected as captain, but had to decline the honor, but this year he will have enough time to captain the Trojan tracksters.

RACING AT MATAMOROS

New Two-Million-Dollar Plant to Be Constructed for Pony Sport; Form Jockey Club

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

MATAMOROS (Mex.) March 26.—Satisfactory progress is being made with the plans for the construction here of a horse-racing plant to cost about $2,000,000, according to E. H. Edwards, who is promoting the project for the Matamoros Jockey Club, which has its headquarters in Baltimore, Md. In a letter which has been just received here from Mr. Edwards, he says that the reorganization of the Matamoros Jockey Club is finished, and that at a meeting of the stockholders of the club, held in Baltimore, F. W. McCain of Shreveport, La., was elected president.

McCain, with G. D. Bryan, Jr., cCain, with G. D. Bryan, Jr., first vice-president; James F. O'Hara, second vice-president, and L. W. Ireland of Buffalo, N. Y. and Manuel Ramirez of Matamoros, Mex., will comprise the board of directors. John W. McGrath, who is president of the Overseas Shipping Company and a prominent Atlantic Coast sportsman, is also a member of the board of directors of the club.

G. D. Bryan, Jr., and James F. O'Hara, both of Baltimore, recently secured an interest in the organization, and have made a consolidation with F. W. McCain of Shreveport, and his associates, whereby the new track at Mexico City comes under the control of the Matamoros Jockey Club, the club having secured 80 per cent or more of the stock of the new Mexico City track.

The Matamoros Jockey Club has obtained 200 acres of land for its track and buildings, about four miles west of the business section of Matamoros, and plans such a plant as will not only provide amply for racing, but also for the many concessions which the broad privileges on the Mexican side of the river will allow the year around.

The consolidation of the International Jockey Club de Mexico and the Matamoros Jockey Club does not mean the racing will not be conducted by the new organization in Mexico City, but it is understood that both tracks will be operated under the same management, it is stated here.

STANFORD FENCERS HERE FOR TOURNEY

The Stanford crack fencing team arrived here yesterday and will make their headquarters at the Los Angeles Athletic Club until their tournament with the Mercury fencers tomorrow night.

The Stanford team is well balanced and will give the Athletic Club sword wielders a good run for their money. The Cardinal boys, who are making the trip, are as follows: P. J. B. Sindratto (captain,) K. Gardner, S. H. Aguerrevere, R. W. Richardson, E. B. Bugg, R. E. Monico, Harry Maloney, coach, and E. McCaffrey, manager. Officials for the meet are Harry Maloney and B. McConville, judges, and "Snowy" Baker, director.

MARY BROWNE WINNER IN LOCAL GOLF GO

Miss Mary K. Browne and L. H. Hauser yesterday at the Los Angeles Country Club won the mixed foursome tournament. Miss Browne and Hauser played fine golf putting up some of the most spectacular playing seen at the Beverly Club for some time. Their card was 85-7-78.

Second place was taken by Mrs. H. M. Voorhees and Fred Le Blond with a card of 88-8-80. Mrs. H. P. Hammond and G. D. Midgley were third with 91-11-80, while Mrs. F. S. Hardin and Fred Wright were fourth with a 83-3-80.

MURPHY AND O'BRIEN MIX UP ON FRIDAY

Larry Murphy and Willie O'Brien will mix it up in the main event at the American Legion Hollywood arena next Friday night. Young McGovern and Dick Hoppe meet in the semi-wind-up at 133 pounds. Other bouts follow:

Mike Salano vs. Pete Herman, 122 pounds.
George Lamson vs. Tom Gardner, heavyweights.
Ted Merry vs. Connie Horan, 128 pounds.
Soldier Gardner vs. Paddy Cogins, 135 pounds.
Edie Drew vs. Sailor Joe Jackson, 122 pounds.

MANUAL TRACKSTERS MEET INGLEWOODERS

Coach Sam Tenisson's Manual Arts High tracksters will hook up with the Inglewood track squad in a meet this afternoon on the latter's oval. The Artisans are heavy favorites to walk off with the honors, as several of the Manual men are running in speedy fashion. Inglewood does not boast of such a strong squad.

GRUNAN AND REISLER TO MIX IT UP

Four Noted Lightweights Meet at Vernon Tonight in Elimination Bouts

Contenders night will be celebrated at Vernon this evening when four well known Pacific Coast lightweights will meet in two bouts for the privilege of challenging Joe Benjamin. All of them have fought a number of main events at Doyle's arena.

Al Grunan, who has rolled up a long string of victories in recents months, will tackle Johnny Reisler in the final bout, and Teddy O'Hara, of Oakland, will meet Willie Hunefeld of this city in the semi-windup.

The Grunan-Reisler bout is expected to be a ripsnorter. Grunan has been training hard for his bouts during the past year and has discarded the carefree, indifferent spirit that characterized him when here in 1920. He is one of the hardest punchers on the Coast, a classy boxer and thoroughly game. His one ambition is to do what Benjamin and Phil Salvadore failed to do; namely knock Reisler stiff.

O'Hara is the only boxer to fight Benjamin in recent months who can claim a knock-down over Joe. Teddy lives for the day when he gets Benjamin in the ring again as he claims he will certainly stop him for good the next time. Willie Hunefeld is another "come-back" who has been going great guns. He has won his last two bouts by knockouts.

Georgie Marks and Ad Robidoux, bantams, will box the feature preliminary. The same bout has twice drawn capacity houses at Vernon when billed as the main attraction. Marks won both times by a decision but he claims he will win this one decisively. In fact, the knockout fever seems to be quite prevalent among all the battlers on tonight's card.

The remainder of the program is as follows: Steve Bise vs. Johnny Cline, 150 pounds. Art Springer vs. Frankie Novery, 116 pounds. Frankie Tierney vs. Joe Denton, 133 pounds. Al Sanches vs. Joe Medina, 128 pounds.

ATHLETIC CLUBMEN TRADE COMPLIMENTS

On Saturday Frank A. Garbutt wired President William F. Humphrey of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, congratulating that organization on Red Murray's fine performance in the national handball tournament at St. Paul, concluding with the statement that "it looks like we will bring both first and second to the Coast, where they belong."

President Humphrey immediately responded as follows: "Thank you for your congratulations on the showing Red Murray is making in the national handball tournament at St. Paul. Permit me in return to compliment the Los Angeles Athletic Club on the showing made by the redoubtable Laswell. You have well said first and second belong on the Coast; may I add California, where there is no north, no south, but one united family, sharing mutual honors beneath the single banner of the West."

The international grand prize automobile race will be held in Italy in September. It is the first time it has been scheduled out of France.

Chick Evans Honors St. Louis Golfing Star

Missourian's Style Likened to Knepper's

Bright Future Is Predicted for Youth

BY CHARLES EVANS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, March 26. — Cyril Tolley, the giant British amateur golfer, stood chatting with me under one of the great elms that shade the lawns about the clubhouse at the Brookline Country Club during the national amateur championship last fall. As we talked, Tolley, I observed, watched with the keenest interest a young player who was making some practice swings some seventy-five yards away. The crowd of amateurs had come on and play was under way for the first qualifying round.

"Look at the rhythm of that swing!" Tolley exclaimed, with his eye still centered on the player in the distance. "Who is he?" he asked. "That is as fine a swing as I have ever beheld! Is he Knepper?"

GRACE IN SWINGING

The knickerbockered silhouette in the offing might have been Knepper from the unmistakable ease and grace of his swings with the different clubs, but it was not. The strokes which Tolley observed, however, were made by the one youth in America who comes nearest to the remarkable Knepper style of play—Eddy Held of St. Louis, national public links champion.

If Held were not the public links champion he might today be the national amateur champion. This is true because his playing in the public links matches at Toledo, or, more strictly speaking, his difficulty in reaching Boston after the Toledo competitions in time to tee off in the national amateur, had a bad effect on his game which, more than anything else, resulted in his failing to qualify. He lost a lot of sleep because of the title he had just won—bear in mind that he is but 19 years old and this was his first title—and on top of that he had to ride on a train all day and a night, only to arrive in Boston less than an hour before his time to tee off at Brookline. Instead of asking for a delay, which would have been granted under the circumstances, he chose to make the grade, and suffered accordingly. Such is the enthusiasm of youth!

EASY TO LOOK AT

Held has a rhythm in his golf swings that is as easy to look at as the cashier on pay day. Like Knepper, he gets his club up and down again without seeming to have exerted himself in the least. When you see a boy 19 years old swinging his clubs like that you know instinctively that you are looking at a champion to come. Held, like Knepper, will some day be a title-holder unless so many golfers come on that it will be utterly impossible to pick any particular one out of the crowd. That isn't likely, however, at least for some years to come, so that for the present you can know that when a youth of Held's age has a style like his the championship is only a matter of time.

Held lives in St. Louis and now is a member of one of the St. Louis clubs though all his golf was picked up on the Forest Park public links there. He has as good a game as there is—all he needs is a little more experience. The train ride from Toledo to Boston against time was one big chunk of it!

I complete my list of the ten best amateur golfers in America with Eddy Held for No. 10.

MICHIGAN HAS STRONG SQUAD

Wolverine Tracksters Smear Cornell Spikesters

Isbell Establishes Record in Two-Mile Event

Reinke Breaks Jones's Mark in Half-Mile Run

BY CHARLES WEST

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ANN ARBOR (Mich.) March 26.—By virtue of its overwhelming 66⅔ to 23⅓ defeat of the Cornell tracksters, here recently the University of Michigan's perfectly balanced track squad practically won the national indoor track championship. The victory also makes the Wolverines strong favorites to win the national intercollegiates at Stagg Field this summer.

Four gymnasium records were broken by Wolverine runners in the Cornell-Michigan meet, which was the thirteenth dual meet between the two institutions and the eighth victory for Michigan. Isbell, diminutive Michigan two-miler, put up the best performance of the evening when he ambled his race in the phenomenal time of 9 minutes 37 4-5 seconds, almost twenty second bettr that the former gym record for the two-mile event.

FAST FIRST MILE

Isbell took the lead at the end of the first mile, which he covered in 4 minutes 55 seconds, and soon opened up a gap between himself and Bonsall of Cornell, which the easterner could not overcome.

Reinke of Michigan established a new gym mark in the 880, traveling the distance in 1 minute, 54 4-5 seconds. Reinke lowered the gym record made by John Paul Jones of Cornell in 1912. Hattendorf and Cushing, both of Michigan, finished right on Reinke's heels for second and third places.

De Hart Hubbard, the Wolverine's colored flash, also set a new record during the meet and incidentally upset the dope when he headed Treman, Cornell star, to the tape in the high hurdles. Treman won the highs in the eastern intercollegiates. Hubbard is now classed as about the fastest hurdler in college ranks. Brooker of Michigan established the final gym record of the meet when he soared over 12 feet, 3 7-8 inches in the pole vault. Prosser, also of Michigan, annexed second place at 12 feet, although his arm was in a cast when he made the vault.

Out of the eleven events local athletes took first in nine and easily demonstrated their superiority over the Cornellians. Kirby and Crozier took the only blue ribbons for Cornell, the former winning the mile in 4 minutes, 22 seconds, and the latter breasting the tape in the quarter in 52 seconds.

Chicago boasts twelve public golf courses where a nominal fee is charged.

Mixes Movies and Polo

Jack Holt All Ready for Action

Jack Holt, who plays on the Midwick Country Club polo four, works in the movies during his spare time and will be seen at Loew's State Theater this week in "Making a Man."

Baseball men concede that Frank Chance picked out a tough job for himself when he elected to pilot a tail-end ball team. However, the full difficulties of the situation can only be appreciated when it is considered that he is confronted with an entirely new generation of ball players, and a largely changed system.

The game has changed materially in every respect, but particularly in the character of its personnel. Major league players today average younger than formerly. They are less hard-boiled than those of fifteen years ago, and have more of the college atmosphere. There was a time when a big league player was not particularly surprised if his manager knocked him down in the clubhouse. But it generally was in a fair fight, and accepted as part of the game. The more sensitive modern player might walk out on a manager as the result of a mere call-down. Some difference.

Barney Oldfield while in the East was discussing Chance's new job with Artie Hofman, the old Cub outfielder, etc. Hofman seemed a bit skeptical, not of Chance's baseball ability, but his success in adjusting himself to these changed conditions.

"The Cubs were largely self-operating on the field," is the way Hofman is quoted in that conversation. "But Chance had plenty to do getting that bunch to bed early and making it live up to the rules. We lived up to them for the most part because we knew that Frank could whip any three of us. He couldn't do that now."

Meaning, apparently, that players of today would not stand for that, even were the P. L. still physically able to do it, which he possibly may be.

Marty McHale, who pitched for the Yankees under Chance, pays the following tribute to him:

The P. L. withstood the strain of trying to manage that terrible outfit we called the Yankees for nearly two years.

He trained them in Bermuda and in Texas. He fought umpires, newspapers, spectators and owners for them. He tried to teach them, reason with them, drive them, oil them and everything else under the sun to make of them a respectable big league club, but all in vain.

Give any master bad tools and bad material and it will be impossible for him to turn out a first class product.

The P. L. didn't fail in New York. He was unable to do the impossible and knew that his efforts were being wasted. And to prove that it is the game he loves and not the money I cite the instance of his turning back a big pay or play contract for the year 1915 rather than suffer through another torturous season.

I regretted to see the P. L. leave. I had, and still have, a great deal of respect and admiration for him. When he said "Never again," I was quite sure that some time sooner or later, the call would come and he would answer it.

True enough, the call has been heard. It has been sent up from Boston, and, although it sounds much like the cry of a drowning man, the P. L. has heeded it.

The shell of the once powerful ship Red Sox is being tossed about hither and thither on baseball's foam crested ocean and rocks have been in sight for the past three seasons. But a new pilot braves to and the spectators on the shore are hopeful.

I do not know why Frank Leroy Chance always picked the toughest assignments on the baseball map, but he does so. Probably because in spirit he is still "Husk" Chance of the old Cub machine, that machine which usually knocked them there "Goints" for a row of cross-eyed hat boys.

At any rate, when the P. L. marches into the "City of Culture" and knocks on the doors of the historic bean mines he will have hosts upon hosts of well wishers rooting for his success.

Boston gains what California loses, and I sincerely hope that Frank Chance will receive from the Red Sox in proportion to what he gives. That will be plenty. Nuf ced.

BEDWELL TO RACE IN WEST

In His String Is Senator Norris for Which Big Sum Has Been Refused

It looks very much as if H. G. "Guy" Bedwell will cut some swath in far western racing this year. Reports have it that Bedwell will bring a swell string west in the near future, part of which will be campaigned in Nevada. Among the lot is a colt, Senator Norris, by Cudgel out of Cypher Code by Disguise, for which an offer of $25,000 has been turned down.

The Bedwell farm near Laurel Maryland is a credit to the breeding industry, and an inspection of it is well worth the time of any horse lover. Since Bedwell's reappearance on the turf he has adopted the name of the Kentmere Stable.

The following are a number of the horses that Bedwell will bring west with him.

Senator Norris, colt by Cudgel, out of Cypher Code, by Disguise.

Noble Pride, colt by Cudgel, out of Myrtle Marion, by Worcestershire.

Col. West, colt by Marathon, out of Brynwood, by Bryn Mawr.

Chief Archer, colt by Marathon, out of Hua.

Fast Mack, colt by Marathon, out of Della Mack, by The Commoner.

YANKS REMAIN GREAT OUTFIT

New York Squad Lacking in Unity, Says Scribe

Whole Team of Stars Fail to Make Machine

Too Many Prima Donnas Wear Huggins Uniform

BY HUGH FULLERTON

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

[Copyright, 1923, by the Chicago Tribune.]

NEW ORLEANS, (La.) March 26.—New York's Yankees aren't a ball team, but an aggregation of great ball players, without coherence, with small knowledge of, and seemingly as small interest in, the game they play, and, after throwing away a world's series which should have been easy, they are starting this one unreformed.

After watching them in practice it is my judgment that if they win again it will be because they are too strong, individually, for real teams to beat. They work about four hours a day, during which some of them do an hour's real work, and the rest stall. They are quite faithful at batting practice, but there seems to be neither head nor tail to their training.

BETTER TEAM MECHANICALLY

Mechanically, this team will be better this season than it was last, but mentally——.

They start work at 11 o'clock and some are kicking that it is too soon after breakfast.

In spite of the claim that the team is all set for the season, and in spite of the further fact that the team has enough talent to make two clubs—the truth is that this team is in desperate need of a competent infielder to take the place of any regular who slips.

The idea that Ward is to be transferred to third and Joe Dugan sent to second is bunk. Ward will start at second, unless one of the youngsters develops strength enough to replace him. He is the weak spot of the team mechanically, but whether any one strong enough to take the job from him is found is different.

I believe that Huggins will make a deal perhaps before the season starts to get a second baseman, and he has plenty of excess talent to trade to anyone who has a second baseman who can be spared.

The team also is very shy on a right-handed hitter to use as a pinch hitter. McNally has not proved satisfactory at that and Schang is needed in the catching department.

Of the youngsters Anderson, Hendricks, Hinky Haines and Tucker probably will be retained. Haines is developing, and he can cover ground. Whether or not he can hit remains to be shown.

Hendricks is a gangling, rangy youth who has a lot of promise. Anderson was the best ball player in the Army and was chosen by Buck Herzog. He certainly looks as if he could play this game. He was shot up during the war and later developed a lot of speed in the Fourth Army Area championship team. Tucker is fast, a left-handed hitter, who cannot hit left-handed pitching.

NEED A FAST INFIELD

That about scans down the roll of promise among the youngsters and it is evident that Huggins has not found the one element he needs to round out his team—a fast infielder who hits right-handed.

There is another missing element in the club; a left-handed pitcher. Huggins has grabbed Herb Pennock, who ought to help some, if only to make the right-handers look better. Suggs does not show much and is not liable to be kept, and McKinstry, although promising, is hardly of major-league caliber yet.

It is a queer thing that this team, which has been in the training field longer than any of the others, is not yet showing anything. Excepting Bush, who was at Hot Springs, none of the pitchers are near ready nor is there a regular fit for a game. They looked like suckers against the New Orleans club in the first battle.

Hoyt is fat and temperamental. Mays hasn't shown a thing. Jones is just starting to get ready. Shawkey is fairly well along for a veteran but he got his condition before he reached New Orleans. Outside of Bush, none has tried to cut loose any curves, so the batters have been walloping easy straight balls and calling it training, while the press agents proclaim the fact that Ruth hit five over the fences.

Folks are interested in Ruth, and he is an interesting person besides being somewhat essential to the Yankee chances. He is in appear to have hurt his batting. His eyes give trouble when he tries to read, and he fears to use them. Optical experts are afraid to try glasses on him for fear of affecting his batting vision.

Pipp, it seems to me, shows the most improvement, and Scott the most deterioration of the regulars. Pipp has improved steadily as he has played, and last year he developed one missing ingredient, viz, aggressiveness. He and Dugan appear to have almost a monopoly on the aggressiveness of the team. The others are pretty well satisfied that they are so good they do not need to hustle.

Maybe so; but as the opposition gets hotter they may get a different slant. Scott seems to have slumped a bit in his actions, but probably will be ready when the bell rings. He never is out of condition.

The strong point of the Yankees this season is that Huggins probably will decide upon his infield line-up before the season starts and stick to it. Having come near throwing away two pennants by constant changing of the infielders, he may have learned the lesson, which is that even a bad combination is better than a constantly changing one.

Wight, Hendricks, Haines, Tucker, Acton and Pipgras are pretty promising material. This is mentioned for the benefit of any manager who may have a spare second baseman he wants to exchange, rotten shape this spring; lighter than he ever has been since he has been in the major leagues, with slender, spindling legs, and he looks bad.

RUTH'S ILLNESS HURT HIM

Ruth's case of flu at Hot Springs probably was the result of too rapid reform or change of habits. He looks peaked and half sick.

Funny thing, but Ruth has a keen sense of responsibility to the public, which may be just pride in his position. He has been working at times when he should have been resting since his sickness. I happen to know that his eyes are giving him trouble, but it is a strange fact that the eye trouble does not

FRESNO STRONG FOR BASEBALL

Shehan highly as a player, but believes that he will be especially effective in Salt Lake because he is a long fly ball hitter, and many of them too long for the park. They will become home runs up there.

Lewis has a promising array of youngsters in camp. These are so good that only one of them will be released outright.

TOUGH MONIKER

One of these is a right-handed pitcher, Lloyd Keller, who has been playing in the Utah State League. Another starboard slabman is Jimmy Duchalsky, who is going to be the despair of scorers, telegraph operators, linotype men and proofreaders unless he has an operation performed on his name. Jimmy is half Russian and half Hawaiian. He has good stuff and will be retained. Then there is a junior southpaw, Marion Thomas, who is a native Salt Laker.

Bob Kinsella is a kid outfielder who will attract considerable attention, if for no other reason than that he is the son of Dick Kinsella, famous scout of the New York Giants. He has had tryouts with Waterbury, Indianapolis and the Giants but lacked the experience to make the higher grades. Other preparatory outfielders are Johnny Fredericks from near Portland, and Charley Matzen, a San Francisco boy, recommended by Fat Anfinson. These three youngsters either will be carried or farmed.

WAR CORRESPONDENTS

John C. Dertz, Tribune; Lester Goates, Deseret-News, and Steve Maloney, Telegram, are the war correspondents here keeping the folks at home apprised of the doings. Judging from their remarks, one would opine that their written reports are shot through with optimism.

Dr. W. J. Avery is looking after the physical welfare of the players, and they are receiving their spiritual advice from various sources.

Look under the hood for the answer to the astonishing things you hear about good Maxwell performance. You will find it in the wonderful engine, with its over-size crankshaft, three extra large crankshaft bearings, full pressure lubrication through channels bored in the crankshaft, light weight pistons and almost inconceivably smooth bearing surfaces.

It develops tremendous power, displays remarkable pick-up and flexibility, with notable smoothness and quietness, and is so well designed and made that expert mechanical attention is very rarely necessary, even after many thousands of miles of service.

Every single unit, every part and every process, that enters into the good Maxwell has been improved and bettered in keeping with the policy of the organization now making the good Maxwell to build this car so well that its dominance will be universally accepted.

ANTIAIRCRAFT GUNS TO HAVE REAL TESTS

TARGET GLIDER PERFECTED BY ENGINEERS AT FLYING FIELD IN OHIO

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Antiaircraft defenses throughout the country soon will be given the opportunity of firing at a realistic target as it travels through the air as the result of an invention, known technically as a "target glider," which has been perfected by the engineering department of the Army Air Service at McCook Field, Ohio.

The target glider has a wing span of twelve and one-half feet and weighs only twenty-three pounds. Reports of experiments at McCook Field, announced today by the War Department, show that the device, which is fastened to the top of an airplane, when released travels at a speed of about thirty miles an hour until it gradually descends to the ground.

OFFICER'S HORSE SHOT BY INDIANS

Marshal and Posse Targets of Warring Utes

Four Parties Out to Round Up Renegade

Secretary Work Says Justice Must Prevail

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BLANDING (Utah) March 26, 8:15 p.m.—Somewhere in Utah by carrier—United States Marshal Ray Ward had his horse shot from under him today as he and his party were riding into the Allen Canyon district to capture Old Posey, renegade Ute Indian. The shot came from a long distance as the report was not heard till after the drop.

Marshal Ward was uninjured, the party continuing with Ward on another horse. The marshal's purpose was to effect a meeting with Old Posey and bring him into Blanding peacefully if possible, taking with him one of Old Posey's sons and another Piute named Mike. Mike, believed one of his sons was wounded in one of the two battles between the red men and the whites and hopes to find him somewhere in this region. Posey will be taken to Blanding, the marshal is determined.

NAVAJO SHOT

Three posses besides the marshal's party are seeking him, going toward his supposed hiding place in three directions.

A Navajo runner from Maryanna Springs, who reached the marshal, reported horses killed and declares that yesterday afternoon an Indian boy had staggered into Maryanna Springs and told friends he had taken part in the two battles. He and another Indian had started out to walk, but one fell when he had gone a little distance. He had been shot in the leg and he could go no farther. The unwounded buck ran and walked twenty-five miles, after doing what he could to help his companion.

The marshal was told that McKean, Indian agent, had sent men out to look for the wounded boy. In the marshal's posse are Old Posey's big boy, Old Mike, Peter Newman, formerly Arizona Sheriff, Sam Rents and an interpreter.

DEAL WITH JUSTICE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Secretary Work of the Interior Department, in a telegram sent late today to Superintendent McKean of the Consolidated Ute Agency, Blanding, Utah, declared members of Old Posey's band of renegade Indians "should be dealt with by the local courts without prejudice and with complete justice."

The message was sent in reply to one from McKeon in which the opinion was expressed that it would be inadvisable to return those captured to their reservations as has been the custom in the past after "insurrections."

Mr. Work said the Indians involved in the latest uprising "must be taught to obey the laws and rights of others." He instructed McKean to see that they have counsel, assigned by court if necessary, and are given a fair trial.

HIGH WATER THREATENS FARM LAND

Missouri Is Cutting Bank on Nebraska Side; Farmers Leave Home

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

OMAHA, March 26.—Danger of property damage to Iowa farm land from flood waters of the Missouri River opposite Onawa, Iowa, near where an ice gorge formed yesterday, had passed today.

The river cut a channel through the ice on the Nebraska side and relieved the Iowa conditions, but a new menace took its place as the rapid current was cutting the Nebraska banks so rapidly at Decatur that families living in houses close to the river edge deserted their homes last night and efforts are being made to move the houses away from the danger zone. A grain elevator fifty feet from the bank also is in peril of being swept away.

Workmen hesitate to try to move it, fearing the site has been undermined by the sweeping current. The channel is very narrow and the current so rapid that great chunks of earth are being carried away from the banks, which are about eighteen feet high at the affected point. The elevator is only about fifty feet from the edge of the bank, while a small number of houses are located 125 feet from the water's edge.

The main portion of the town is about two city blocks in back of them. A drop in the river accompanied the cutting of the channel, though the main part of the gorge was still holding today out into the center of the stream. The crest of the flood has not yet reached Omaha.

Snow Is Costly to New York in Street Repairs

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, March 26.—The damage to the streets of New York City, due to excessive snow and rain, which made it impossible to repair surface defects before they became serious, is going to cost the city a great deal more than it cost to remove snow, according to the reports of the borough engineers.

In Queens it is expected that the damage to street surfaces cannot be remedied for less than $3,000,000. In the Bronx it was said that repairs would cost approximately $2,000,000. Manhattan street repairings may increase the total to well over $10,000,000. Everywhere the streets are full of holes.

COURSE IN FILM ART BRINGS INVESTIGATION

NEW YORK PROMOTER APPEARS IN COURT TO EXPLAIN PROMISES

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 26.—The District Attorney's office today began an investigation into promises to prospective students asserted to have been made by "Al" Gilbert, a legless man, who heads the Rising Sun Productions, Inc., and who was said to have advertised a $50 course in motion-picture acting. Gilbert appeared in a wheel-chair at the hearing, which was adjourned until Thursday in order that he might produce incorporation papers.

A number of complainants, including Henry Medrini, a bus boy at the Cafe Royal, appeared against Gilbert. Medrini, who admitted ambitions to become a film star, said Gilbert had spoken glowingly of giving promising pupils parts in a $100,000 screen drama "Five Years in Hell," which he planned to produce.

LONDON, March 26.—The farm hands of Sandringham, the estate of King George, are going on a strike.

Despite the fact that the King's supply of royal eggs, milk, butter and potatoes may be curtailed, the farm hands' union issued the strike order to the Sandringham workers.

Thousands of farmers all over England have left the farms, striking in protest against a reduction in wages. The new scale would bring them slightly over $6 a week.

Hayden Sees Need of Action on River Project

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PHOENIX, March 26.—H. J. Hanson, a substantial farmer living west of Phoenix, was accidentally killed this morning by a shot from his own gun as he was hunting blackbirds.

He was 60 years of age and had been a local resident for twenty-five years. He had been a governor of the water association since its creation.

Purchasing agents for the larger mines, mercantile establishments and railway systems of the State met here today in conference with Arizona producers of foodstuffs, dairy and agricultural products and manufacturers, in pursuance of a plan of the Arizona Industrial Congress for the use of Arizona products wherever possible. The products were shown in exhibit at a local theater.

POLICIES ARGUED

Today the Arizona Pima cotton growers met to outline policies for marketing the crop of long staple. There was determination against any shortening of the long-term pooling heretofore agreed upon. The convention was addressed by C. O. Mosier, secretary of the American Cotton Growers' Exchange, of Dallas.

Amos A. Betts, member of the Arizona State Corporation Commission, today was indorsed by Phoenix shippers and by the Southern Arizona Traffic Association as a candidate for one of the Democratic vacancies on the United States Interstate Commerce Commission.

San Francisco Lady Declares Tanlac so Completely Overcame Distressing Effects of Flu, She Wants Other Sufferers to Know Facts.

Here is another instance of the remarkable powers of Tanlac in overcoming a weak, run-down condition and other troubles following the ravaging effects of Influenza.

Mrs. Anna Wasserleben, 950 Pine St., San Francisco, highly esteemed manager of the Lady Washington Apartments, says:

"It is my wish to avoid publicity, but I have been so greatly benefited by Tanlac that I feel like I should be willing to make a statement myself and try to help others get relief.

"Last year an illness left me in a condition that it seemed impossible to ever regain health. I was a very poor sufferer, was unstrung, badly run-down, and in such a low physical condition that I had no appetite and I simply had to force myself to eat. I was very nervous, and I couldn't sleep. "One of my friends had taken Tanlac with splendid results and urged me to try it. I was in the very throes of the 'flu' at the time, too. Well, I began taking it, commenced to improve right away, and it proved just the thing I needed. My appetite returned, and when I began on the second bottle I could see a change in my condition. I gained in weight, my head cleared up, the terrible feeling of dizziness left me, I began to feel strong and healthy, recovered my health completely, and think Tanlac is the greatest medicine made."

Tanlac is for sale at all druggists—adv. Over 35 million bottles sold. Advertisement.

SUGAR QUIZ CRY ADVANCES PRICE

Republicans Open Guns on Agitators, Democrats

Artificial Demand Created by Politicians

War on Speculators Urged in Statement

BY GRAFTON WILCOX
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The Republican National Committee unlimbered its heavy artillery in the sugar-price warfare today, training its shells alike on the stock gamblers and those who are agitating the loudest for all sorts of Federal investigation into the rising sugar market.

The People's Legislative Service, headed by Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, and others who are conducting the campaign against higher sugar prices were denounced by the committee as seeking to play politics in the situation and as working hand and glove with sugar speculators.

The committee declared emphatically that the Fordney-McCumber tariff has had nothing whatever to do with the rising price of sugar, and that there was no justification whatever in the present price except stock gambling, which, the committee said, should be stopped by law. In fact, it recommended legislation to stop all stock speculation in food products.

REACTION IS SEEN

"Democratic politicians, free-trade advocates and a large class of demagogues and agitators," said the Republican statement, "who are attempting to make political capital out of the present sugar situation, are working hand in glove with the sugar speculators.

"Nothing will so boost the price of sugar as the continued cry of these gentlemen that sugar is going to 20 cents a pound. Such tactics always cause a panic among a certain percentage of consumers, who believe this demagogic talk and rush to buy sugar before the price goes up.

"This creates an artificial demand and it is exactly what the sugar gamblers want."

The statement pointed out, as shown by representatives of the Department of Commerce, that speculation is responsible for the recent rise in the price of sugar.

"It is a reprehensible practice," it continued. "There should be a stop put to gambling in food products. The Republican Congress just adjourned enacted a law for the purpose of stopping gambling in grain. There is no reason why this law should not be extended to operate against gambling in any foodstuffs to the injury of the consumers and producers."

In answer to the cry that the recent sugar tariff was in a measure responsible for the present sugar situation the committee was emphatic in denying the assertion, which it characterized as "clotted nonsense."

BLAME IS DENIED

"The present speculation in sugar," it said, "is no more attributable to the Fordney-McCumber tariff than was the recent speculation in Piggly Wiggly stock. The present tariff on sugar is from 3-4 cent to 1 1-4 cents greater than the Underwood tariff. To assert that an increase in tariff of 1 cent a pound caused an advance of 6 to 8 cents a pound in the price of sugar is to give utterance to clotted nonsense.

"If the unwarranted advance in sugar were due to the protective tariff how can those who make that claim explain the fact that in Canada, which has no Fordney-McCumber tariff, sugar is today wholesaling at 10 to 11 cents a pound? Or that in the Clyde sugar market at Liverpool granulated cane sugar is quoted at 13 cents a pound and in the London market it is quoted at 12.59 cents a pound.

"Sugar is being speculated in today just as other foodstuffs, such as wheat is speculated in, without any justification from the standpoint of economic conditions. Sugar was speculated in under the Underwood tariff quite as much as under the present tariff. Sugar, in common with all other food commodities which are listed on boards of trade and in exchanges, is the constant victim of speculation irrespective of tariff laws or any other legislation.

CHARGE INCONSISTENT

"Democratic politicians and free traders who are now resorting to blatherskite tactics in an endeavor to make the people believe the protective tariff is responsible for the present price in sugar did not say anything in 1920, when with the Underwood tariff in effect, the sugar market went to 16.75 cents or in 1919, when the sugar market went to 12.89 cents, in both cases the retail prices to the consumer were higher than these figures.

"Neither has any of these gentlemen explained the fact that immediately after the passage of the Underwood tariff, which lowered the tariff on sugar as compared with the Payne-Aldrich law, speculators in sugar took advantage of that fact to push up the price of sugar."

Is a Gland Operation Necessary?

By a new discovery the life-giving gland substance which is sometimes administered by expensive operations may now be supplied in tablet form. This treatment is highly recommended by European and American scientists, who have proved that the internal administration of gland extracts has a very marked effect upon the corresponding glands of the human body often rebuilding them to normal activity.

Such treatment is now offered to the public in the form of Glandogen, a highly concentrated glandular tonic, in convenient tablet form, prepared from the glands of healthy young animals and compounded with other valuable ingredients. Glandogen is obtainable at the Chambers Drug Co., First and Broadway; Henderson-Chambers Drug Co., 3rd and Main; and Blaney-Chambers Drug Stores, 9th and Spring and 5th and Los Angeles. Se Imputa un Complot de Asesinato a Unos "Bootleggers" Desesperados

El Agente Prohibicionista Clarence Parker, que detuvo al Sr. Dolley en San Francisco, reveló un complot para asesinar al propio Dolley, jefe prohibicionista de Los Angeles, quien fué inducido a ir a Vancouver, Canadá, con el fin de apoderarse de las pruebas documentales que tiene en su poder, y burlar de ese modo la encuesta del gran círculo de contrabandistas de licor que fué disuelto la mañana del último jueves en el muelle de la Compañía Curtis, en Long Beach. Varios agentes, dirigidos por el Sr. Parker, le seguían la pista a una "reina del bootleg", que ha actuado aquí como agente distribuidora de la banda. Esta ha sido identificada como la guapa señora que recibía pedidos de clientes ricos, en cafés elegantes, o en los campos de golf de aristocráticos clubes campestres. Los miembros masculinos de la banda, que conservaban sus empleos a fuerza de audacia, entregaban el licor en rápidos autos, cobrando el dinero al riguroso contado.

Aseguraron al Sr. Harold H. Dolley que podría obtener valiosos datos en Vancouver, y salió para dicha población canadiense la noche del último sábado. Ayer se averiguó que los jefes de la banda en el norte tienen determinado frustrar a toda costa los esfuerzos de Dolley y caso de que éste entre en el Canadá, pueden matarle, pues los papeles que lleva consigo contienen, según se cree, correspondencia y transacciones que arrojan complicidad sobre hombres significados y de alta posición en California y en el Canadá.

TREATY STAND TO BE SHOWN

Gun Elevation Question Is Going to Powers

American Attitude on Point Will Be Given

Proposed Changes on Ships Must Wait Awhile

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, March 26.—American interpretation of the Washington treaty, in so far as it concerns elevation of guns on existing dreadnaughts, will be made public after President Harding's return from his vacation.

Developments of the past few days have confirmed the statement made in Washington dispatches of March 20 that the President would be advised by the State Department that under the letter and spirit of the treaty, elevation should not be proceed with.

Today even the naval enthusiasts accept this verdict because of the fact that the President, as the originator and sponsor for the Washington conference, is known to be anxious that no action on the part of the United States shall cloud the results accomplished.

TO SEEK OPINIONS

Mr. Harding, it is understood, will issue this government's interpretation of the disputed clause i the treaty and invite the opinion of other governments, either publicly or through diplomatic channels. In the event that the other signatories of the naval limitation treaty concur in the position of the United States, the proposed changes in American dreadnaughts will be abandoned and the $16,500,000 specifically provided for this work returned to the treasury at the end of the fiscal year.

If Great Britain, Japan, France or Italy question the correctness of the position taken by this government, it is probable that an effort will be made to negotiate an agreement embodying the combined views of the powers, provided, of course, that there is difference only in form, but not in principle.

THEORY IS SET OUT

The theory of officials of this government is that through public statement of the position taken by the United States, not only will the desire of this government to live up to the treaty in every degree be manifested, but the responses of the other signatories will make plain whether any of them intend or desire to proceed with "modernization" of their ships in the matter of gun elevation.

If this latter contigency does develop the entire question of the appropriation for such work in the American navy will be placed before the next Congress, accompanied this time, not by inferential information obtained by the division of naval intelligence, but by the official statements of the governments involved.

Broadway Wants Two Hollywood Girls for Play

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 26.—Producers of Broadway plays are seeking for starring on the speaking stage two young women film stars whose names have been involved in recent revelations of Hollywood film colony life and whose careers in moving pictures have been reported ended.

This was disclosed today when F. Ray Comstock and Norris Gest, producers of "Polly Preferred" at the Little Theater announced they intend to form two more companies for this Guy Bolton comedy. A representative of old Comstock and Gest admitted that dragnet was being cast forth in the hope of involving in it none other than Mary Miles Minter and May McAvoy.

Inasmuch as the title role which each would play concerns a young girl who was made into a movie star it is believed that the Misses Minter and McAvoy ought to find it an easy matter to act like themselves behind the footlights.

ALASKA PULP TIMBER IS OFFERED FOR SALE

TRACT CAN SUPPLY ONE-THIRD AMERICA'S NEEDS, FOREST REPORT SAYS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Pulp timber on the Tongass National Forest, Alaska, amounting to 324,000,000 cubic feet, is being advertised for sale, according to the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture.

Alaska, the report states, can supply one-third of the paper needs of the United States and this country's paper consumption is growing each year.

Two large bodies, one of 250,000,000, the other 74,000,000 cubic feet, are involved. The smaller body is within a few miles of Cascade Creek—one of the best water-power streams in Alaska; the other is forty miles distant on Kupreanof and Kuin Islands. Navigable and sheltered waterways furnish a cheap and easy way for towing the logs to Cascade Creek power site on Thomas Bay.

The advertisement states that the lowest bids that can be considered are 60 cents per hundred cubic feet for Sitka spruce and 30 cents per hundred for hemlock and other species. Three-fourths of the pulp wood is western hemlock and and one-fourth Sitka spruce. The final date for receipt of bids by the District Forester at Juneau, Alaska, is July 31, 1923. The bidder is assured that accepted prices will hold good until 1930, with possible adjustments every five years thereafter.

Alaska is a virgin field and an attractive one, say Forest Service officials.

RAISIN BODY REORGANIZES

Growers' Association Outlines Plan to Comply With Provisions of Capper-Volstead Act

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The Sunmaid Raisin Growers of California are reorganizing on a plan which appears to meet the conditions of the Capper-Volstead Co-operative Marketing Act, according to an announcement by the United States Department of Agriculture today. This announcement followed a conference between Ralph P. Merritt, managing director of the raisin growers, and Department of Agriculture officials regarding the projected reorganization.

In requesting the conference, at the Capper-Volstead Act, Arrangements are being made between the Department of Agriculture and the Sunmaid Raisin Growers to make a study of the distribution problems as they have been handled by the association. The department is also interested in studying the effects of advertising on demand and this study will undoubtedly be extended to include the work done by the raisin growers' association.

FRISCO TO BUILD LINE TO DALLAS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

DALLAS (Tex.) March 26.—Embraced in the construction plans of the St. Louis and San Francisco, as a result of its purchase and merging of the International-Great Northern into its system, is that of building its own tracks into Dallas, according to M. M. Sisson of St. Louis, assistant to the president of the Frisco. It was stated by Mr. Sisson that no definite plans for building this line have been adopted and it is not known at this time from what point on the merged system the road will run.

CROP LOSS SPEEDS UP RAIL WORK

State Declared to be Most Interested in Problem of Transportation

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

NEW YORK, March 26.—"I think California is perhaps more interested in the transportation problem than any other State," said Congressman Arthur M. Free of San Jose, who is at the Hotel Astor. "We lost $100,000,000 last year because we could not move our crops when they were ready, and as we depend almost entirely upon our fruit crop, it is a serious matter for us. As a matter of fact, there are not enough refrigerator cars in the country to move the fruit crop of California alone at the height of the fruit season.

"In spite of all this, however, the State is in wonderful shape. Our crops were good and had it not been for the lack of transportation we would have been rolling in money. The market demand for our goods is big, building is booming throughout the State and everything is in good shape.

"We are very hopeful that the bill for a 20 per cent reduction on railroad fare for commercial travelers, which has recently passed both houses in Congress and been signed by the President, may be helpful in improving conditions throughout the country. The only possibility of its failing is that the railroads might fight it on constitutional grounds, but I had it on good authority before leaving Washington that they had no intention of fighting it."

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS INSTALLMENTS

Rosalie Aubyn, as the youngest child of a brilliant, but lazy and embittered English clergyman, viewed the world as a place made and existing primarily for the benefit of man; a place in which woman, as represented by her mother and sisters, was chiefly concerned with administering to the wants and catering to the likes and dislikes of man, as represented by her father and brothers. To her all men were wonderful beings. When the time came for Rosalie to enter school it found her father without the means to send her. He appealed to Rosalie's rich Aunt, Belle Pearce, whose patronizing benevolence saw her installed in one of London's private schools for girls as one of a class of subsidized pupils. Rosalie, entering young womanhood, finds her first impression of men is being considerably modified and superseded by the feeling that men are not so wonderful as they are displeasing. She now comes frequently to the home of her Aunt and Uncle Pearce and has the company of her beautiful cousin Lastitia. Instead of becoming a schoolmistress, as her benefactors have planned, Rosalie cherishes a desire to make her own way in the business world. She meets the eccentric and kind-hearted Mr. Simcox who employs her as his secretary. He explains the nature of his business to her.

It was this—the oddest, most eccentric notion (not that Rosalie thought it so.) Mr. Simcox cut off from letters, had determined that he would get letters. If the postman would not come of himself (so to speak) then he must be forced to come. And Mr. Simcox set about forcing him to come by answering advertisements. Not employment advertisements; no: the advertisements to which Mr. Simcox replied were the advertisements that offered to send you something for nothing—that implored you to permit them to send you something for nothing. They are common objects of the periodical press. Every paper is stuffed with them. "Write for free samples." "Catalogues." "Trial packet sent post free on application." "Write for our beautifully illustrated Art brochure." "Descriptive booklet by return." "Write for full particulars." "Free sample bottle sufficient for seven days' trial." "Approval gladly Postpaid." "Plans and particulars of the sole agents." "Superbly printed art volume on receipt of postcard."

The advertisement columns of every paper are stuffed with them and soon the letter-box of Mr. Simcox was stuffed with them. The postman who never stopped at Mr. Simcox's house now never missed Mr. Simcox's house. He went on a lighter and a brisker man after having dealt with Mr. Simcox's house. The agitation with which his approach was heard was now exchanged for a superb confidence as his approach was heard. The deliveries that for Mr. Simcox had never been deliveries were now not deliveries but avalanches. They roared into the letter-box of Mr. Simcox. They cascaded upon the floor of the hall of Mr. Simcox.

A mail thus composed does not perhaps sound interesting. Mr. Simcox, once he had got into the full swing of the thing, discovered it to be profoundly and exhaustively interesting. It possessed in the highest degree the two primary essentials of a really good mail—surprise and variety. There would always be two or three fascinating little parcels, there would always be two or three handsome packets, there would always be two or three imposing looking letters. No common correspondence could possibly have had the number of attractively boxed gifts, the amount of handsomely printed literary and illustrated matter, and certainly not the unfailing persistency of flow, that constituted the correspondence of Mr. Simcox.

The mine once discovered proved to be a mine inexhaustible and containing lodes or galleries of new and unsuspected wealth. Mr. Simcox took in but two daily papers, and they might well have sufficed. But an appetite whetted and an eye opened they did not suffice. There thundered from the Bayswater free library a positive babel of cries from advertisers in the score of journals there displayed, howling for Mr. Simcox graciously to permit them to contribute their toll to his letter-box; and there were at the news agents' periodicals catering for every specialized class of the community and falling over themselves to put before Mr. Simcox the full range of the mysteries, the luxuries and the necessities of every trade and profession and pursuit, from shipbuilding to cycling and from ironmongery to the ownership of castles, moors, steam yachts and salmon fisheries.

Mr. Simcox, entirely happy, one of the busiest men that might be found in the metropolis, struck out new lines. Hitherto he had received his correspondence interestedly and pleasurably but passively. He began to take it up actively and sharply. He began to write back, either graciously approving or very sharply criticising his samples, his specimens and his free trials; and the advertisers responded voluminously, either abjectly with regret and enclosing further samples for Mr. Simcox's esteemed trial, or abjectly with delight and soliciting the very great favor of utilizing Mr. Simcox's esteemed letter for publication purposes. This, however, Mr. Simcox courteously but firmly, invariably refused to permit.

The engagement of Rosalie was a development of Mr. Simcox's hobby as natural as the development of any other hobby from rabbit breeding to china collecting. The craze intensifies, the scope is enlarged. To have a secretary made Mr. Simcox's mail and the work that produced his mail even more real than already it had become to him. Following up the personal touch that had been discovered by the criticism of samples Mr. Simcox had opened up a line that produced the personal touch in most intimate degree: personal touch with schools and with insurance companies. He created for himself sons, daughters, nephews, nieces, wards. He endowed them severally, with ages, with backwardness, with brilliancy, with robustness, with delicacy, with qualities that were immature and required development, with absence of qualities that were desirable and required implanting, with unfortunate tendency to qualities that were undesirable and needed repression and nipping in the bud. He placed these children, thus handicapped or endowed, before the principals of selected schools; he desired that terms and full particulars might be placed before him to assist him in the anxious task of right selection. They were placed before him. "Your backward nephew Robin" (to take a single example) engaged the personal attention of preparatory schoolmasters from Devonshire to Cumberland and from Norfolk to Carnarvon. Similarly with insurance companies. Again dependents and friends were created, by the dozen by Mr. Simcox. Male and female created he them, cumbered with all imaginable risks, and darkly brooding upon all manner of contingencies; and male and female, cumbered and perplexed, they were studied and advised upon by insurance companies earnest beyond measure to show Mr Simcox what astounding and unparalleled benefits could be obtained for them.

At the time when Rosalie joined him, Mr. Simcox's attention was in much greatest proportion devoted to this development of his pursuit. Under the instruction of a friend, long since dropped out and lost, who had held a considerable position in a leading insurance company, he had acquired a sound knowledge of the principles and mysteries of insurance. The subject had greatly interested him. In the phrase he used to Rosalie he had "taken it up;" and in the phrase that so often sequels and rounds off a thing suddenly "taken up" he had suddenly "dropped it." He now, by way of the new development of his correspondence, approached it again. It received him as a former habitation receives a returned native. Mr. Simcox (if the metaphor may be pursued) roamed all about the familiar rooms and corridors of the house of the principles and mysteries in insurance. His knowledge of its possibilities enabled him to develop an astonishing ingenuity in creating cases ripe and yearning for the benefits of provision against contingencies, and as he very easily was able to prove to Rosalie, and found immense delight in proving, he had under his finger, that is to say in his exquisitely arranged filing cabinets, also in his head, a range of insurance companies' literature which enabled him to work out for any conceivable case the most suitable office or offices and the finest possible cover for his risks.

DEFEAT OF INSURANCE BILL ASKED

Local Indemnity Companies Declare It Will Keep Out All New Firms

Charles Kerr, president of the National Automobile Insurance Company of Los Angeles, and officials of other similar institutions have sent a vigorous protest to all California Assemblymen asking them to vote against Assembly Bill No. 592, which they declare will seriously injure several young California insurance companies and make it impossible for new companies to organize in the future.

The bill provides that those applying for an insurance license must do so with the intention of insuring property in whose ownership they are themselves interested.

Those who finance the sale of automobiles on the monthly payment plan whereunder they technically retain ownership of the cars until paid for have been favoring young California automobile insurance companies with this business. During the past three or four years this practice has resulted in a very rapid growth among such insurance companies. Last year three of the local companies collected $1,600,000 in premiums. "Every cent of this amount remained in California. Had these Los Angeles companies not been in existence the money would have left the State," said Mr. Kerr. "The young Los Angeles companies like most new insurance companies find it practically impossible to get regularly established insurance agents or agency companies to break away from connections of years with large foreign and eastern companies; consequently these new companies have been forced to get their present large business outside the regular established insurance agents, by inducing automobile finance men and dealers to become agents. The provisions of this bill would, within a few years give those now in the business a complete monopoly. If it becomes a law the organization of new insurance companies in Los Angeles and throughout the State will be practically prohibited.

FIGHT FOR PIER PROTECTION

Sublease of Tract for Oil-Loading Station Looked on as Fire Hazard for Vessels

Preservation of Pier A, the port's finest and busiest terminal for freight and passenger traffic, is the issue in a controversy between the Harbor Commission and C. M. Eubank, Wilmington capitalist.

Mr. Eubank, holding a thirty-year compromise lease on twelve acres of land on Mormon Island, is negotiating for a twenty-five-year sublease of this property to the Crump Steel Company for a consideration of approximately $825,000, according to W. Edgar McKee, chairman of the Harbor Commission. The latter company, Mr. McKee asserts, plans to establish a tank farm on the site with a loading station fronting on Pier A Channel.

FIRE PERIL SEEN

The establishment of a loading station opposite Pier A would seriously affect the operation of this terminal, already badly congested by our huge amount of freight and passenger traffic," declared Mr. McKee. "The fire risk offered by tank steamers loading directly opposite these freighters with their valuable cargoes has also brought strong opposition from the local Fire Commission, as well as steamship operators.

"This steel company is nothing more or less than a concern controlling a number of independent wells in the Signal Hill field and they are after this excellent industrial site as a storage and export station. The location is of too great value to the port to be used for such a purpose."

WILL STAND BY GUNS

The twelve acres of land, Mr. McKee said, was withheld by the Banning interests in the sale of Mormon Island to the city of Los Angeles with the understanding that its title would revert to the city at the end of thirty years.

"We want to make this a port for the world to model after," Mr. McKee continued, "and the location of an oil-loading station on our busiest passenger and freight channel is a step in the wrong direction. The other commissioners and myself intend to stand by our guns."

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

URGE EXTENSION OF BREAKWATER

Bond Issue to Be Proposed to Long Beach Council

Government Would Bear Portion of Expenditure

Senator Norris Approves Idea of Port Development

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, March 26.—Plans for a $5,000,000 bond issue for extension of the breakwater, to connect with Long Beach just west of the flood-control channel, will probably be proposed to the City Council tomorrow by Councilman Alexander Beck. The plan has the approval of government engineers who have been investigating conditions, and, if approved by the Council, will come before the people for a vote.

The United States government will bear part of the cost of the proposed breakwater, provided Long Beach will raise a portion of the large sum required, and those who have studied the matter declare that the project, if carried through, will go a long way toward making Long Beach a harbor of first importance.

ACTION NEEDED

Mr. Beck yesterday made a trip about the harbor with the group of Senators and Congressmen constituting Los Committees on Arid Lands and Irrigation, and, though the subject of the breakwater was not discussed with them, he declared that the trip convinced him doubly of the importance of early action in the matter. He pointed out that Los Angeles proposes to spend $16,000,000 for a similar purpose, and says Long Beach should follow this example.

Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, who is here with the Congressional party, and who is a guest for a few days at the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. F. Nelson, 1718 East Ocean Boulevard, declared today that he is much impressed with the progress of the city, and the improvements apparent. He said that it is easy to obtain appropriations in Congress for the large, recognized harbors of the country, but that the war brought a need for economy, and Congress is endeavoring to give to the new and smaller harbor and waterway projects a pro rata share based on their need and the importance of the project. He urged that the importance of the Long Beach project be pushed.

SENATOR APPROVES

Senator Norris pointed out that additional harbor development will bring increased shipment of goods by water, and thus help to reduce railroad rates, which he declares are too high, and are hurting the welfare of the farmer. Senator Norris, with Senator Capper of Kansas, is an outstanding figure in the farm bloc movement.

At a meeting this morning of the Hundred Per Cent Club, George A. Brown, manager of the industrial bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, said that when the Los Angeles-Long Beach Harbor is developed to its logical completion, with the reclamation and land-fill projects now contemplated, Long Beach will own two-thirds of her harbor frontage, and will thus be in a position to push the development of dockage and storage facilities at will, and to bid strongly for new shipping business. After the building of the proposed addition to the breakwater, the widening and deepening of the channel will supply an immense amount of material which will be available for building up low and swampy sections

MOVING CONTRACT LET

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ORANGE, March 26.—The Kress House Moving Company, Los Angeles, has been awarded the contract for moving the old central building of the Orange High School group from its position in front of the new $160,000 auditorium and administration building, recently completed, the High School Board has announced. The bid was $282.

Built in 1904 as the first unit of the school group which now consists of five buildings, the old structure will be retired to the north side of the grounds where it will be completely remodeled for further use. The structure will be moved bodily and is said to present a difficult engineering task. The building is of concrete construction with a basement beneath.

BLOSSOM DAYS FULL O' BLOOM

Exhibits at Bakersfield Crowned With Success

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BAKERSFIELD, March 26.—Nearly 100 varieties of gorgeous wild flowers poured into Bakersfield from all over Kern county this morning, to be gathered in an exhibit probably never before equaled in the county. An event unusual in Central California, Kern county's first annual Blossom Days was assured of success before the middle of the morning.

The response of both city and county schools in submitting exhibits was overwhelming, and late today, many strong contenders for the prizes offered were in the race.

The crowning event of Blossom Days came this evening when Dr. George Wharton James, naturalist and author, who chanced to be passing through the city, lectured on California wild flowers.

FAIR PLANS TO CURTAIL EXPENSES

Kings County Will Have Only Home Attractions in Future

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

HANFORD, March 26. — Kings county, which has conducted annual stock and agricultural fairs for twenty years, is to continue with a material change of program. At a meeting of the Board of Supervisors last Saturday afternoon, representatives of county Farm Bureau units favored continuance of the fairs, and the Supervisors virtually agreed to make up the deficit, if there is one next fall.

The fairs have been running behind, owing to the heavy cost of racing attractions, autos and horse races, and these will probably be dispensed with and a strictly agricultural and stock fair with local attractions only, will be given.

VENICE JUDGE MOVES TO LARGER QUARTERS

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, March 26.—Speeders and traffic-law violators crowded the courtrooms in the police station to such an extent that trials of asserted violators after this week will be held in the Council chambers of the City Hall.

At the last regular court session the docket ever before the court was broken when 107 cases were recorded. Many bails were forfeited and twenty arrested and released on their own recognizance failed to appear. Stringent action is to be taken by the department and bench warrants have been issued.

Police Judge Rennie explained that the increase in cases made it inconvenient for both defendants and officials under the present crowded conditions.

RAISIN MEN IN CAMPAIGN

Mass Meetings Scheduled in Refinancing and Organizing Marketing Association

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

BAKERSFIELD, March 26.—With a mass meeting scheduled for next Thursday afternoon in Bakersfield and similar meetings set for other points in Kern county on that date, at which President Gifm and Managing Director Merritt of the Sun Maid Raisin Growers' Association will be the principal speakers, local business men and raisin grape growers throughout the county today began an intensive campaign to aid the refinancing and reorganization plans of the Raisin Growers' Marketing Association.

The campaign locally will be conducted under the direction of W. K. Lee of Lerdo, who has been named general chairman for Kern county. His assistants in various other parts of the county are: Delano, H. W. Mellen; Shafter, Richard Stansberry; Wasco, Harvey M. Kilburni; Weed Patch, Joe Cuda; McFarland, Ralph M. Kern.

Kern county's quota of the $3,500,000 stock issue planned by the association is $67,500, this amount being divided pro rata among the districts represented by the committeemen named.

Bakersfield and Delano have been allotted the largest portions of the issue, the former receiving $25,000 and the latter $20,000. Other districts are apportioned as follows: Shafter, $5000; Wasco, $3000; Weed Patch, $7500, and McFarland, $2000.

Next Thursday has been set aside by the association officials for their visit in Kern county as part of a whirlwind tour through the San Joaquin Valley in behalf of the stock sale and reorganization campaign. The meeting in Bakersfield has been tentatively set for 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and is to include residents of the Weed Patch and Arvin districts. Another meeting is planned for Wasco to commence at 4 p.m. and includes Shafter. The third meeting of the day will be at Delano, beginning at 8 p.m. and is to include Pixley, Earlimart and McFarland.

WARNINGS OF POISON IN WATERS

Imperial Valley Ditches and Canals Are Said to Be Menace to Health

EL CENTRO, March 26.—Verbal warnings were issued here today by F. G. Veatch of the State Board of Health against the using of ditch and canal water in this valley before it has been properly filtered or boiled, to remove the dangerous bacteria that recent tests have shown to exist.

Mr. Veatch stated that residents of the valley are laying themselves liable every day to serious disease by using this ditch water without filtering or boiling.

He is posting sign warnings in both English and Spanish along the canals and ditches against the using of this water.

It has been the custom, according to this inspector, among the Mexican and Hindu inhabitants of Imperial Valley simply to draw this water from the ditches and allow it to settle and then drink it, which, he further stated, was responsible in many cases for the serious contagious diseases that are spread over the valley. Filters suitable to the need of any ordinary family located where city water is unavailable can be procured at a minimum cost, and thereby much sickness may be avoided.

COLORADO DAM IS SUPPORTED

Congressman Barbour Favors River Project

Predicts End of Water-Power Controversy

Roosevelt Park Bill Is to Be Reintroduced

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, March 26.—Declaring in favor of the completion of the Boulder Canyon Dam project on the Colorado River, Congressman H. E. Barbour, Seventh District Representative, returned to his home here today. He recently went over the Boulder Canyon site and environs with other members of the House Committee on Irrigation of Arid Lands.

Barbour also said that completion of the Boulder Canyon project will elliminate all question of friction between the people of the San Joaquin Valley and those of Los Angeles in regard to power rights in the Sierra Nevada. He announced his intention of reintroducing the Roosevelt Sequoia National Park bill, that failed of passage during the recent session of Congress because unanimous consent for its consideration was not secured.

The death of Congressman H. E. Osborne of Los Angeles, he said, definitely postponed action on the bill. Los Angeles representatives twice had objected to consideration of the measure out of its turn. Osborne's death, hampering the Los Angeles group in Congress, created a situation, according to Barbour, in which efforts to press the bill probably would have resulted in its defeat.

The bill would create one park in the place of the present Gen. Grant and Sequoia parks in the Sierra Nevada and would exclude some of the territory now in those reserves and include some land now outside of them.

Barbour said the measure, when reintroduced, will make game preserves of territory proposed to be eliminated from the present parks. He further expects an agreement on the exclusion of three southern townships that include the Garfield and Atwood groves of big trees.

RECOVERS REMAINS, BUT NOT OF CHILD

FRESNO, March 26. — After dragging the Kings River near Reedley for two days because they believed the body of a baby was in the water, deputy sheriffs late yesterday recovered a corpse.

Boys had reported seeing the occupants of an automobile throw into the river a package that the youngsters thought contained the remains of an infant. And they were right. The deputies found the box, opened it and returned to Fresno with the mortal remnants of a young chicken.

DUELISTS IN COURT; PAY UP, MAKE UP

Santa Monica Affair of Honor Costs Participants $25 Each

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, March 26.—Jose Cisneros and Victor Alvarez laborers, who met on the field of honor Saturday and wounded each other in a prearranged duel, walked out of Police Court here today arm in arm. Their honor was satisfied. They each paid a fine of $25 and shook hands afterward.

The two men met on Pico Boulevard early Saturday morning. A feud of several months duration had developed between them. They decided to settle the matter then and there. Only one of them was armed, however, so the other went home and obtained a revolver while his enemy waited for him.

On his return the two men walked out of the proper number of paces, then turned about and fired four bullets at each other. Alvarez fell to the ground with a bullet through his left shoulder. Cisneros staggered home bleeding profusely from a bullet wound in his right arm. He was trying to go to sleep when officers arrived and arrested him.

They were arraigned today before Police Judge King on a charge of carrying concealed weapons and fined $25 each. Then they strolled happily from the court room, arm in arm.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FERNANDO, March 26.—The San Fernando Chamber of Commerce, directed by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce organization and service department, closed Saturday the most successful campaign for new members and funds in its history.

The pledges and funds collected totaled $7861 and 460 members.

The Los Angeles chamber is seeking in this way to arouse interest of all the communities surrounding Los Angeles, as it asserts itself to be the Chamber of Commerce of the entire Southland. Morris, assisted by enthusiastic citizens working for a bigger, better, busier San Fernando. Fred W. Prince is president of the San Fernando chamber and L. Q. Branson is secretary.

Santa Anans Raising Fund for Publicity

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA ANA, March 26.—A proposed fund of $12,000 to be used in advertising Santa Ana in Los Angeles newspapers, upon a plan modeled after the Greater Monica Club's campaign, will have been raised by the last of this week, according to J. R. Mayer, secretary of the Greater Santa Ana Club. Total subscriptions to the fund now total nearly $10,000, Mayer said, and the remaining $2000 will undoubtedly be pledged during the week. Payments into the fund will be made over a six month's period beginning April 1 in conjunction with the advertising campaign.

The fund raising committee is composed of Everett A. White, president of the organization, and A. B. Rousselle, prominent realtor, R. L. Bisby, Freeman H. Bloodgood, J. K. Hermon, O. H. Barr and F. W. Slabaugh compose the committee which is now preparing its recommendations to the executive committee as to how and in what manner the advertising fund shall be appropriated.

BOY SCOUTS HELP TO STOP FOREST FIRE

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

MONROVIA, March 26.—A heavy gale today fanned the flames of two brush fires in the foothills and but for the prompt action by the fire department, aided by Boy Scouts, serious damage to the forest cover on the mountains might have resulted. The Scouts have been training with the local department and turned out with a will, helping to trench around the blazing brush. The fire started when asphaltum being heated by a county road gang working on East avenue, boiled over and caught fire. The second blaze resulted from a bonfire of brush.

One of Largest Plants in Country Soon Will Be Elected

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, March 26.—One of the largest crude-oil refineries in the United States will shortly be erected in Long Beach, it was announced today. The refinery, which will cost about $1,000,000, will be built by the Seaboard Refinery Company, a new corporation of which J. L. Keck, head of the J. L. Keck Syndicate, will be president. The J. L. Venice Plans to Become Home of Art Association

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, March 26.—It was announced this morning that this city may become the home of the Southern California Artists' Association as a result of a movement now on foot, which is being investigated for the Chamber of Commerce by J. C. Barthel.

The association is composed of all writers, sculptors and painters in the southern part of the State. At the present time an endeavor is being made to obtain from the government one of the ships in Los Angeles Harbor as club rooms for the association.

Should the request be granted the ship will be brought to Venice and placed near the Kinney breakwater.

Harry Winebrenner, city art director, is to be interviewed in the matter at which time decision will be made whether the city would benefit by being the home of the organization. It is understood the chamber will do all in its power to bring this about.

COURT AFFIRMS KLAN SENTENCE

W. M. Pickens Loses in New Trial Motion

Convicted of Robbery and Deadly Assault

He Now Is in San Quentin Penitentiary

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BAKERSFIELD, March 26.—Word has been received here today by Judge Mahon in Superior Court No. 1 that the Court of Appeals for the Second District, sitting at Los Angeles, has confirmed judgment of the lower court in the case of W. M. Pickens, now serving sentence in San Quentin prison.

The Ku Klux Klan figured prominently in the trial of Pickens and Klan influences exerted every possible pressure in his behalf. Pickens was indicted by the grand jury on two counts of felony, one for robbery and another assault with intent to commit murder. The latter count was reduced to assault with a deadly weapon by the jury, which found the defendant guilty of both charges.

Following sentence to the State penitentiary, petition for a new trial was made by counsel for Pickens, but Judge Mahon refused the petition. An appeal was then taken to the Los Angeles District Court of Appeals and an order affirming the findings of the local court was made after a lengthy review of the evidence.

Pickens was arrested on complaint of Clyde Richie, after an attack upon Richie in which he was injured and robbed. Former Dist. Atty. Dorsey prosecuted the case.

RESIDENTS IN ARROYO TO BATTLE

Cabin Owners Are Banded Together to Prevent City From Ousting Them

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PASADENA, March 26. — Following the rumor that the city of Pasadena intends to force cabin owners out of the Arroyo Seco by a special act of Congress on the grounds that they are polluting the stream, the owners have banded together as the Arroyo Seco Improvement Association, to fight such a measure.

According to the charter adopted, the association will assist the city in "cleaning up the Arroyo, but will resist any attempt at condemnation proceedings." Officers of the body, which numbers more than 200 cabin owners, are ex-Congressman Randall, president; Lloyd B. Austin, proprietor of Switzer's Camp, vice-president, and Fred E. Turbit of Los Angeles, secretary-treasurer.

The association plans to make a survey of sanitary conditions in the canyon, each cabin owner to be responsible for the territory immediately surrounding his territory. An appeal to the county will be made for improvement of Ventura street from Lincoln avenue to the mouth of the canyon, and to have all stream crossings bridged.

J. R. Phillips of Camp Oak Wylde, a member of the board of directors of the association, stated today that the primary object of the organization is not to enter into a controversy with city officials over the water question, but to effect such improvements in the canyon that stringent action will not be necessary.

IMPERIAL INCOMES RUN HIGH

Tax Figures Compiled at El Centro Show Amount to Be in Excess of $5,000,000

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

EL CENTRO, March 26.—Interesting figures on the amount of income tax paid in Imperial Valley have been compiled by James A. Gorman, local deputy internal revenue collector, and J. T. Coyle, secretary of the El Centro Chamber of Commerce.

According to these figures the total number of income returns made through the local deputy was 996. Of these only 376 paid a tax, the remainder being exemptions, the amount paid by these 376 was $11,223.62 on a basis of 4 per cent, which is the lowest rate paid on incomes. This tax represents a principal of $300,000, and is assumed to be the first quarterly payment only, the total principal therefore being $1,200,000. Seventy-five per cent pay direct.

PAY IN LOS ANGELES

It is believed that only 25 per cent of these who paid an income tax did so through the local deputy, the other 75 per cent making payment direct to the Los Angeles office, and on the same basis as above, this would make the total amount on which income is paid approximately $5,000,000.

Figuring the average income at $2000 makes the income for the 996 who paid through the local office $1,992,000, and with the deduction of $2500 for married men and $1000 for single men, it has been figured that the amount represented by the reports is close to $7,968,000.

Adding returns believed to have been made to Los Angeles, the total amount of income is figured at $30,872,000, considered a very conservative figure. The real amount is undoubtedly much higher, say those in position to know.

LIQUOR LAW WITH TEETH IS PLANNED

Every Phase of Bootleg is Touched in Proposed Long Beach Ordinance

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, March 26. — The way of the liquor law transgressor in Long Beach will be made even more difficult than now if the City Council looks with favor on the "little Volstead Act" which George Hoodenpyl, City Attorney, is drafting. The proposed ordinance will come before the Council soon, it is announced.

Under the present city ordinances, the city has no jurisdiction over possession of liquor, when such possession does not extend to purchase, sale or giving away of the article. Cases involving transportation of liquor, either in machines or hip pockets, must now be turned over to the Federal authorities for prosecution.

The proposed ordinance will permit prosecution of such cases in police court. It will also afford better jurisdiction over the sale and use of certain compounds of high liquor content which are not manufactured primarily for internal use, but are so used.

The new measure will be patterned after the Wright Act and the Volstead Act.

BABY DOLL SUIT TRIAL TODAY

Carnival Company Chief Is in Tangle With Express Company

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

VISALIA, March 26.—The "baby doll" suit or case of the American Railway Express Company against W. C. Huggins, owner of the Huggins Carnival Shows, will open tomorrow.

This suit is so called because it involves several cases of baby dolls used on carnival racks. The express company says Huggins took out three cases of the dolls, but only paid charges on one case.

Huggins asserts the express people are all wrong and that nine cases of baby dolls lay in the express warehouses in Portland, Or., where the case originated, until they were useless to him, despite the fact that he went daily to the office to see if they had arrived, and was daily told that they had not.

Huggins was sued for $1400 damages as a cross-complaint.

Previous to this incident, Attorney Nelson had called the attention of the judge to the fact that Mary Purnell, wife of the cult leader, was leaving the courtroom frequently. He charged she was talking outside the room with witnesses about to be called.

Five Die in Fire Which Sweeps Actors' Hotel

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
NEW YORK, March 26.—A spectacular fire which today swept the Princeton Apartments on West Fifty-seventh street, occupied chiefly by members of the theatrical profession, caused the deaths of five persons.

The blaze, believed to have been started by a drunken man tossing a lighted cigarette in the hallway, soon attacked the upper floors of the seven-story building. Frightened tenants crawled onto window sills. Several jumped.

There were many dramatic escapes and rescues. One of the most spectacular was that of Henry Zigeler, formerly a Texas cow-boy, who came to New York to study art. After getting his wife and child to the street, he returned for some papers. Cut off from the stairs, he took from a bureau drawer a lariat he had used on the plains. Making this fast, he lowered himself to the street.

DAILY MARKET LETTER OF THE NEW YORK COMMERCIAL

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]
NEW YORK, March 26. — Demand for California raisins continued active today, and the market showed a strong undertone. Bulk Thompsons were reported strong in the jobbing market at 9 1-4@9 3-4 cents for more favored brands, with package quoted at a range of 10 3-4@11 cents. Bulk seeded were also strong, the market on advertised brands being quoted at 9@9½ cents.

Buying of raisins last week was rather heavy and with the trade coming to realization that stocks in the East are smaller than had been generally believed, the demand is broadening, and the undertone continues to gain in firmness.

Bosnian and Serbian prunes have again been cut in the local market, which is quoted as follows: 70-80s in 25s, 6 1-4 cents; in 50s, 6 cents; 80-90s in 25s, 5 1-4 cents; 90-100s in 50s, 4 3-4 cents; in 25s, 5 cents.

Jobbing demand for bulk prunes showed a quiet tone during the day, prices ruling nominally unchanged. Most of the local distributors have sufficient California prunes, bought at low prices for Coast shipment, to take care of their immediate requirements, and they are not buying far in advance, owing to the unsettled tone of the market. With a continuance of present light demand, they look for further selling pressure on the part of the independents. The associations, meanwhile, are holding firm at list, and are waiting for the weak holders to dispose of their stocks.

CITRUS FRUITS

Florida oranges were 25 to 30 cents per box lower, at a range of $1.63@7.75.

California oranges were steady on best grades, easier on choice and ordinary. Fifty-seven cars of navels sold at a range of $1.75 to $5.70, per box, according to size and quality.

Lemons were 25 cents lower, five cars selling at $3.25@4.25.

CANNED FOODS

There was a quiet market for canned foods, and distributors held their purchases down to small quantities. Jobbers are now carrying fairly complete stocks on the various items of canned foods save a few lines which are entirely cleaned up, and they are now buying only for their immediate needs.

Consumption of canned fruits particularly the lower grades, is picking up, sales having been stimulated by the recent reductions in price, which are now being passed on to the consumers. Peaches are meeting with a particularly heavy movement, sales by the chain stores at low prices having speeded up the movement.

There was a strong market for tomatoes for prompt shipment, with the exception of standard 2s which are rather unsettled; No. 3s are quoted firm at $1.65 to 1.70 with tens holding at $5.50 per dozen.

SUGAR MARKET

The raw sugar market pursued a decidely erratic course. Initial prices were at an advance of 1 point to a decline of 6 points. The market turned up to the extent of 16 to 21 points at one time but reacted under profit-taking and liquidation. Good buying interest seemed to be in evidence at the close when prices were posted some 5 to 13 points higher. Sales included switching from July to January 48 points; July to September, 13 and from September to December 20.

At the close good buying interest in May and July brought out stronger conditions in the street market again, holders of April delivery raw sugars advancing their views to 5 5-8 cents cost and freight equal to 7.41 cents delivered.

Aside from a sustained foreign inquiry reported for the account fo the Levant as well as South American points, there is little new in the refined sugar situation. Refiners adhered to list prices but consumers prefer to hold off now that holidays are approaching.

COFFEE, TEA

In coffee futures first prices were 8 to 3 points higher, May rising to 10.94. May lost all of its previous gains at the close selling off some 14 points. Sales numbered some 16,000 bags and the market closed 1 point lower to 2 points higher.

Bullish news over the past few days brought considerable uneasiness to leading buyers of teas and on the resumption of business there was an accumulation of orders calling for fermented grades at full prices. Whenever any grade or variety is available at any kind of concession from the advances recently placed into effect they immediately meet with good buying interest.

BUTTER, EGGS

The butter market shows very little change, especially as no attempts were made to revive prices. Call sales were 75, 100, 100 and 26 tubs creamery extras, all at 50½ cents a pound.

The egg market seems to hold its own so far as prices are concerned, and the tone is steady on the best grades. There seems to be an impression that prices will not go much lower than they are at present quoted.

Call sales were one car storage packed firsts, seller seven days, at 29 cents; spot sales were 50 cases (g. firsts, at 24½ cents; 50 cases at 26½ cents, 50 extra firsts at 27½ cents; 100, 100, 100 firsts at 25 cents; 100 at 24½ cents; one car seconds at 24 cents.

Pacific Coast white extras, 37 to 38 cents; white extra firsts, 35½ to 36½; firsts 33½ to 35; medium, 20 to 29½ cents.

RICE, BEANS, PEAS

Excepting for the filling of routine orders from distributors which only called for comparatively small amounts in the aggregate there was no special feature of moment in the rice situation.

The dried beans and peas market developed very little force Monday morning, buyers merely taking such types and quantities as were needed for regular assortments. The best inquiry of late has been for pea beans at 8½ cents but lower prices were named by importers on some nice stock from Rumania.

COPPER, ZINC

The copper market is weak at 17¾ cents for electrolytic, delivered over the next few months.

London cables reported standard spot as declining £1 12s 6d to £73 15s, and futures £1 7s 6d to £77 10s, while electrolytic was off £1 to £82 for spot and £82 10s for futures.

The zinc market hangs abound 7.90 for spot and March, with futures available at a concession of 5 points for each succeeding month. The market is weak and there are reports to the effect that these prices are being shaded in certain quarters.

In London spot declined 12s 6d to £35, 17s 6d, and futures 10s to £36.

O, it came o'er my ears like the sweet sound
That breathes upon a bank of violets.

As fresh and sweet and as full of Spring as the breath from a bank of violets comes the lilting voice of Evelyn Scotney singing for you Je veux vivre, the Waltz Song from Romeo and Juliet and the Blue Danube Waltz on the double Vocalion Red Record, No. 70000. The one brings to you a vision of the world's best loved romance, the other takes you back to the days of Crinoline and old lace, of apple blossoms silhouetted against blue skies and of graceful figures swaying to the alluring waltz.

Miss Scotney records exclusively for Vocalion. Her lovely new record "done up in lavender and with a bunch of violets" is the most perfect Easter gift you could send.

Are You Sure You Know what Linoleum is?

YOU walk on linoleum in offices and homes. You see it in stores; you read about it as you are reading now—but do you know what it is?

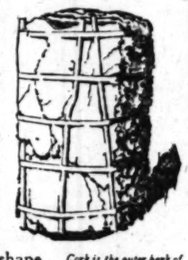
Linoleum is a combination of cork, oil, and burlap. These substances blend together naturally into a material that makes a floor superior to any kind of floor that man has devised. Every one of these natural products—cork, linseed oil, and burlap—contributes qualities to linoleum that are desirable in a floor.

A dining-room floor of Armstrong's Black and Gray Straight Line Inlaid Linoleum with a border of Black Linoleum

What the cork gives

You have probably handled hundreds of ordinary cork stoppers, but have you ever really examined a piece of cork to study wherein cork is different from wood, or stone, or metal?

A cork used in an ink bottle will blacken, but cut in and you will find the stain has not penetrated. Cork is nonabsorbent and moisture-proof. Cork is light. It will float in water. Cork is elastic. You can compress it and when released it will spring back to its original shape. Throw it on the floor and it will rebound.



Cork is the outer bark of the cork oak. This tree grows in Spain. The cork cut from it is shipped to America. After bottle stoppers have been punched from the strips, the remainder is ground up and used in making linoleum

Cork resists decay. It is a good heat-insulator, which makes it warm to the touch, summer or winter.

Cork is tough. It does not scratch or abrade easily, nor will it scratch or mar other surfaces.

These are the qualities that cork gives to linoleum.

What the linseed oil gives

Linoleum gets its name from linseed oil, which is pressed from flaxseed. Linseed oil is the same oil used in paint, which, when exposed to air, turns to a tough, solid film of skin. This film is smooth and rubbery and practically waterproof. When mixed with powdered cork these two substances unite perfectly. The tough oil skin, combined with the cork, becomes remarkably durable. The daily tread of thousands of feet makes little impression upon it. Also, it can be printed with patterns or designs that do not fade; or it can be colored throughout its entire thickness with colors that are as permanent as the linoleum itself. This is what is known as inlaid linoleum.

These are the qualities that linseed oil gives to linoleum.

In 1863 Frederick Walton noted the film of oxidized linseed oil that forms on the top of an open can of paint. He mixed this solidifying oil with powdered cork, pressed it on burlap—and linoleum was invented

What the burlap gives

This mixture of cork and oxidized linseed oil is not truly linoleum until it has been pressed or "keyed" into a fabric of tough, strong burlap. This burlap back provides a solid foundation and prevents tearing. The Armstrong trademark, a Circle "A," appears clearly on the back of all Armstrong's Linoleum. It is this sturdy, flexible, non-tearing quality that burlap gives to linoleum.

Because of its tensile strength, jute from India is widely used in the manufacture of various kinds of rope. For the same reason, jute yarn is woven into the strong linoleum burlap. You can identify all genuine linoleum by the burlap back

Linoleum has every quality that a modern floor should have. The linoleum floor is smooth, resilient, and comfortable. It is waterproof and the easiest of all floors to clean and keep clean. It can be kept looking new year after year by an occasional waxing and polishing. It is extremely quiet and, because cork is a nonconductor of heat, is not cold to the touch. Good linoleum wears for many years.

Armstrong's A Linoleum

Many colors and patterns

Architects and interior decorators have been quick to seize the opportunity to suggest in the permanent linoleum floor a color value that is artistically a part of the room itself. Well-chosen floors of linoleum blend with the color schemes of walls, furniture, and draperies. Rugs are placed on these floors as on any permanent floor.

Armstrong's Linoleum is sold in good furniture and department stores in rich plain colors, beautiful two-tone Jaspé effects, parquetry inlaids, tile inlaids, carpet inlaids, and pleasing printed designs. Estimates furnished by linoleum contractors or house furnishers will surprise you at the low cost of replacing worn wooden floors or installing Armstrong's Linoleum floors in a new home. The Armstrong Cork Company maintains a Bureau of Interior Decoration for the purpose of giving advice on this subject, without charge.

Laying linoleum for permanency

In summer wood floors expand. In winter they dry out and contract, with a tendency to open up the cracks between the boards. Your linoleum floor, therefore, should be cemented (not tacked) over a lining of builder's deadening felt. The added service and wear this method gives are well worth the extra cost.

Write for free sample and booklet

Let us send you a sample of Armstrong's Linoleum and our 24-page booklet, "New Floors for Old." The booklet contains a score of colorplates of distinctive designs in Armstrong's Linoleum that you can see at good stores; also, information on laying linoleum over wood or concrete, and how to take care of your linoleum floors.

Take the sample in your hands. Note how the cork mix is keyed to the burlap back. Feel how warm, resilient, yet tough and durable good Linoleum is

OIL COMPANY WILL EXPAND

California Petroleum Gives Stock Increase Plan

Carriers Need Thousands of New "Reefer" Cars

Orchard Bonds; Farming; Business News

To take care of expanding business, to provide for future growth, and to enable employees to purchase stock, the shareholders in the California Petroleum Corporation will be asked on April 26 in Richmond, Va., to vote on a proposal to increase the common stock from an authorized amount of $17,500,000 to $60,000,000, and to decrease the par value from $100 to $25.

Officials of the company yesterday refused to state in what manner the stock would be specifically used, or how the distribution would be made. The directors have authorized the proposal to be submitted to the stockholders, but have not determined upon the method of execution if the plan is approved, it was said.

The financial community has recognized for some time that a readjustment in the financial structure of California Petroleum is due. The company has the lowest capitalization of any of the big petroleum companies, and the small amount of stock outstanding has enabled the common to participate in some sensational market performances in the last few months almost rivaling Mexican Petroleum in its early days. The preferred stock outstanding has been decreasing constantly under sinking-fund provisions, until on Dec. 31, 1922, there was only $12,-889,526 of the 7 per cent preferred in the open market. As provided by the sinking fund, $1,963,500 par value of the preferred has been retired, and there is now in the treasury 2800 shares of preferred stock purchased in anticipation of the 1922 requirements, all of which will be retired before July 1, 1923. The preferred is callable at 120.

Of the common stock, $17,500,-000 authorized now, $17,377,005 was outstanding on Dec. 31, 1922, and with the addition of the preferred in the hands of the public, the total outstanding capitalization amounted to $30,366,531. This compares with Associated Oil, having an authorized capitalization of $40,000,000 and $39,755,557 outstanding; Sinclair Consolidated with 5,500,000 shares of no par common authorized and 4,475,064 outstanding, and $100,000,000 8 per cent preferred authorized, $19,999,500 of which is held publicly, and Union Oil of California with a capitalization of $100,000,-000 authorized and $90,000,000 outstanding.

Buying by insiders sent California Petroleum common to a new high yesterday on the New York Stock Exchange at 104½. The final price was off from the high at 103¾.

REFRIGERATOR CARS

Even though western railroads have made heavy purchases of refrigerator equipment in the past year, S. M. Fulton, assistant manager of the Santa Fe refrigerator department, believes that there will be another car shortage in the fruit-moving period in September and October, this year.

California perishable crops according to Mr. Fulton's obsrevations, are giving indications of running in record size again this season. Anticipating this possibility, the Santa Fe has purchased 2000 new "reefers," to be ready in September, which will give the refrigerator department a total of 17,-000 cars to handle its portion of the crop. The Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific, through their joint control of the Pacific Fruit Express, have added a substantial number of cars, and the Western Pacific, although participating in the fruit movement to the same extent as the other roads, has made provision for a number of new refrigerator cars. Despite the magnitude of these additions, it appears that the crop may be too heavy for the carriers.

Mr. Fulton is of the opinion that the shortage will not approach that of last year in severity, mainly because of the small probability of strikes, and the rehabilitation and addition to equipment. The railroads can only hope to have sufficient equipment to move an average volume of traffic throughout the year, and in peak months, simply do their best, according to Mr. Fulton, to move the shipments as expeditiously as possible.

The grape crop in the San Joaquin Valley is forecast now at a figure considerably higher than last season, and the apples, prunes, peaches, plums and other fruits grown in the State are reported to be flourishing, and have not been retarded by damage of any sort.

FARMING BY TRAIN

In Texas and the Southwest, the railroad is teaching the farmer how to farm. The Atchison Topeka and Santa Fe Railway, with the co-operation of the Texas State Agricultural College, is running a "Texas Cow, Sow and Hen Train" through the Southwest, which started on its itinerary on March 12, and, at its eighty-seven stops, is inviting farmers and others interested in dairying, hog growing, and poultry raising to attend demonstrations in charge of the State experts. The expenses of the tour are paid by the Santa Fe.

The "Cow, Sow and Hen Train" is an annual feature promoted by the Santa Fe. The programs at the various towns include entertainment for the women and children, besides the instructive information supplied to the farmers. Because of the lack of co-operative farmers' organizations in Texas, New Mexico and other southwestern States, the efforts of the agricultural college and the railroad have been especially needed and appreciated.

DAILY TRADE TALK

Engineers Not the Only Heroes of Development; Sale of Units; Business Summary

Development of California hydroelectrics is usually referred to as a triumph of engineering skill, but D. T. Babcock, resident partner of Blyth, Witter & Co., rose in his place yesterday and put in a word or two for another hero of development.

Mr. Babcock admitted that huge dams which utilize the waters of the mountain streams, powerful generating stations hidden away in deep canyons, and thousands of steel towers burdened with miles of transmission lines which carry electrical energy to the millions of users throughout the State, are enduring monuments to the ability, vision, and courage of the engineers who designed and built these wonderful systems. "But," adds Mr. Babcock, "before the engineer came a group of men without whom the work never even could have begun, and without whose constant support and able assistance the engineers would have been helpless and the wonderful systems of California yet a dream.

"This group is the financiers. From the time of their conception to the present state of marvelous development they have skillfully piloted the course of the California hydroelectrics through financial seas both stormy and fair. No less thoroughly trained in the technical points of their profession than the engineers, these men work silently, but steadily in their constant efforts, not only to maintain the profitable operation of the plants already completed, but to provide additional millions for the necessary expansion of their facilities upon which depends the progress and prosperity of California.

"With their fingers on the money market of the world, they have picked their time for financial operations. When advisable, they have sold bonds; when conditions warranted, they have sold stocks.

"Like the engineers who have raised the plane of hydroelectric developments in California far above that of other parts of the world by startling innovations and inventions, the financiers of this State have departed radically from the traditional paths followed elsewhere. To them is due the credit for the 'customer ownership' plan, by which the people as a whole have become partners in the great utilities which serve them, thereby attaining an intimate knowledge of the workings and difficulties of the corporations which before were subject to the antagonism of a large portion of the public simply because there was no mutual understanding.

"Customer ownership has been adopted in many parts of the country, but in no other State has it been given the generous reception accorded it in California. The result of this plan has been to popularize the utilities, make their workings a matter of common knowledge to the people, abolish misunderstandings, protect the corporations from the unjust attacks of radical politicians, and at the same time inculcate in the people a spirit of thrift, which must eventually benefit the State beyond computation.

"To the men working silently in the upbuilding of the State has been denied the glamour of popular acclaim. They have witnessed the amazement of the people at the strides made in mechanical improvements. They have seen the engineers given credit for the miracles of construction; they have heard the men engaged in hazardous exploits gratified. But, of themselves, their works and worries—nothing. Their duty has been to see that money, the life-blood of the great undertakings, without which all work would cease, was always available.

"That this work has been well done is attested by the tremendous expansion of hydroelectrics in California, a growth unequaled elsewhere in the world."

RESERVE SUMMARY

The summary of business conditions in the Twelfth Federal Reserve District says that credit demands upon member banks, and upon the reserve bank have, to a limited extent only, reflected the increasing volume of production and trade. Commercial loans of sixty-six reporting member banks in the larger cities of the district rose from $743,000,000 on February 7 to $763,000,000 on March 7, an increase of $20,000,000. During the same period their borrowings from the Federal Reserve Bank rose from $19,500,000 to $27,800,000, an increase of $8,000,-000. County bank borrowings from the reserve bank continued unchanged at $18,000,000. Federal reserve note circulation at $202,-383,000 on March 14, was the lowest point since the 1920 peak. Interest rates to customers of banks in this district have remained steady during the month. The discount rate of this bank was advanced from 4 to 4½ per cent on March 6.

Prices for lumber, the principal industrial metals and for some agricultural products of the district, notably cotton, wool and sugar, moved upward during the month. Numerous price declines were also reported, and the general level of prices of the products of the district was approximately the same at the close of the month as at its beginning.

Stocks of wheat and barley held on the farms of this district on March 1, were small, aggregating not more than 10 per cent of the 1922 crops of these grains. Reports received by this bank indicate that stocks of canned fruits, with the exception of the lower grade packs of some varieties, and of dried fruits, with the exception of raisins are moderate in amount. Growing crops are in good condition, and live stock have wintered well.

FOR BETTER BUSINESS

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Better Business Bureau of Los Angeles, an organization which is seeking to protect the people of this community from fraudulent enterprises and to raise the standard of business ethics the following self-explanatory resolution was adopted:

"Be it resolved by the Directors of the Better Bureau of the Advertising Club of Los Angeles, that the Board of Directors views with great regret and alarm the result to come from the recent construction of the Corporate Securities Act of the State of California, by which said act is construed not to include within its legislation the sale of units in oil properties and lands, and be it further resolved that the board of directors recommend to the Advertising Club that the Advertising Club pledge its support and assistance to the offices of the State of California, particularly the Corporation Commissioner, in the advancement and passage of any legislation necessary to remedy the result of the present condition, and be it further resolved that the Advertising Club be requested to solicit and secure the assistance of all of the advertising clubs within the State of California to unite in promoting whatever plan may be deemed to be expedient to secure a correction of the conditions recorded."

INVESTMENT FEATURES

1. SECURITY. These bonds will be a first mortgage or deed of trust on approximately 2400 acres of farm lands of a sandy loam soil, particularly chosen for deciduous fruit plantings. In excess of 7000 acres have been planted to canning variety of peaches and on the remaining acreage, apricots, plums and table grapes are being planted.

2. IRRIGATION. All of the property is in the Merced Irrigation District. The canals of the district are completed throughout the acreage. In addition the flow from a connected system of thoroughly equipped wells assures an adequate auxiliary supply.

3. APPRAISEMENT. These lands have been inspected by John C. Moore of Fresno, California, who has placed thereon a present vale of $300 an acre planted. The first mortgage debt as a result of this issue will approximate $95 an acre. The underlying Merced Irrigation District lien is less than $10 an acre. The security is, therefore, over twice the combined liens. The total increased first mortgage indebtedness may never exceed $135 an acre and as the trees recently planted approach maturity the value of the property will be greatly increased so that at the end of the third growing season $400 an acre should represent a minimum valuation.

4. LOCATION. The properties are located in the valley of the Merced on both sides of the river, eleven to fifteen miles north of Merced and the same distance southeast of Turlock. The properties immediately adjacent have been in cultivation for a long period of time. Two railroads, the Southern Pacific and the Yosemite Valley are within a mile and one-half to three miles of the properties. Good county roads afford additional facilities for transportation.

5. ADDITIONAL SECURITY. Of the entire issue $215,000 will be issued at this time, $61,000 on October 1, 1923, and $61,500 on October 1, 1924, subject to the approval of the underwriters. Securities of sufficient market value to insure payment of interest for three years ensuing from the time of actual delivery of all of these bonds will be deposited with the Trustee. In addition, the Company will deposit with the Trustee cash or acceptable securities equal in amount to the underlying irrigation or similar district liens, which at any time may be in excess of $35 per acre.

6. STOCKHOLDERS. The principal stockholders are J. G. Ruddle and his two sons, Allan and Gardner, successful farmers and well known in the Merced district. Frank C. Sloan, a prominent seed grower and packer, formerly Manager of the Sargent Canal Packing Co. of Stockton for Libby, McNeill & Libby, and W. T. Kirkman, Jr., President of the Kirkman Nurseries of Fresno. All are possessed of independent means and their combined experience insures the successful development of this orchard.

7. PURPOSE. Proceeds from the sale of this bond issue will be used in retiring mortgage indebtedness and for improvements and intensive development of the properties.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P NIGHT WIRE].

NEW YORK, March 26.—Heavy selling for both accounts brought about another sharp reaction in today's stock market. Higher call money rates and speculative apprehension over the outcome of the meeting of the governors of the Federal Reserve Board in Washington this week were outwardly attributed as the reasons for selling pressure, but the numerous sales of large blocks of recent speculative favorites indicated liquidation by pools which had become discouraged by their failure to attract an outside following.

Opening prices were heavy in response to the selling pressure emanating from traders unwilling or unable to meet the week-end margin calls. The subsequent rally was attributed to short covering by the professionals but when this was not followed up the offering of stocks increased and the market again turned heavy. Operators on the long side seemed disposed to await the conclusion of the reserve board conference before largely extending their commitments.

At the close of business tonight the average showed that approximately half of the year's extreme gains had been forfeited in the last week with many industrials being quoted 4 to 10 points below their high figures of the year.

California Petroleum was the individual feature and one of the few outstanding exceptions to the reactionary trend. Sales of this stock totaled approximately 50,000 shares, the price touching 104¼ a new high record for all time, but easing at the close to 103⅞, where it was up 4¼ on the day. Buying of this issue was based on the official announcement that current assets were more than twice as large as current liabilities, and in excess of all indebtedness, and on speculative expectation of a stock dividend.

Net losses of 1 to 2 points were recorded by such industrial favorites as Baldwin Locomotive Republic, Crucible and Gulf States Steel; Kelly-Springfield and U. S. Rubber, Pan-American, Sinclair, Cosden and Pacific Oils, American Can, American Woolen, Pullman, Stromberg Carburetor and many others. Speculative disappointment of the showing made in the first February railroad earnings reports caused heavy liquidation in that group.

Beachnut also moved against the current trend, establishing a new peak at 84¼, and then slipping back to 80 where it was up 1⅝ on the day.

Call money opened at 5½ per cent, the highest renewal rate in some time and advanced to 6 during the noon hour, closing at that figure. The time money market was quiet with a few short maturities being arranged at 5½ per cent, the bankers' asking price. Although the ruling rate for prime commercial paper is still 5 per cent, there is an increasing volume of 5¼ per cent paper.

Wide fluctuations in French francs were the feature of the foreign exchange market. Opening quotations were 8 to 10 points lower, but the early loss was recovered and the price run up to 6.62¼ cents, a week-end increase of 15⅛ points. Demand sterling improved slightly to just under 4.69.

The day's total sales were 1,233,000 shares.

Twenty industrials averaged 102.36: net loss, .92; high, 1923, 105.33; low 96.96. Twenty railroads averaged 87.69; net loss, 1.09; high, 1923, 90.63; low, 84.53.

NEW YORK CURB

Prices Drop

[BY A. P NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 26.—Prices in today's curb market were decidedly reactionary, but except in a few exceptional cases the new losses were held to two points or less. The downward movement was like that on the "day board," resulted from heavy speculative liquidation, engendered by fear of higher money rates.

Most of the selling centered in the oil group, which has borne the brunt of the speculation for the last few months. Net losses of 1 to 2 points were registered by Gulf of Pennsylvania, Imperial of Canada, Ohio and Standard oils of Indiana, Kansas and Kentucky. Marsaville and Vacuum also were active, each losing ¼ of a point.

In the industrial group, Borden Company closed 2¼ lower at 118, after having touched 119, and Glen Alden Coal sold 1¾ lower.

Schulte Stores, which enlarged a 16 point net earnings last week, eased off fractionally in 7375.

The 1922 financial report of that company, issued today, showed net income of slightly more than $2,500,000, or approximately $8 a share.

Establishment of a new high at 27¾ by United Verde Extension on report of the discovery of ore with a high copper content was the feature of the trading in the mining group.

The Oriental Development Company, Limited
External Loan Thirty-Year 6% Gold Debenture Bonds

Japan's Credit

The Credit of Japan, whose government will guarantee the principal and interest on these bonds, has ranked high in the security markets of the world for many years. Six national government loans totalling $67,584,000 issued in London since 1899 were offered on an average yield basis of 4.85%. The three Japanese government loans listed in New York were originally offered on an average basis of 5.12%. The total per capita debt of Japan, November 30, 1922, was about $37, a low figure in comparison with that of other leading nations.

Company's Credit

Net earnings of the Oriental Development Company, Limited, for the ten years ending March 31, 1922, were more than 1.93 times interest charges for the period. Its operations have not only been profitable, but have been an important factor in the development of the territories included within the field of the company's activities.

THE ISSUE

Dated March 15, 1923. Due March 15, 1953

Interest payable March 15 and September 15. Coupon bonds in denominations of $1,000 and $500. Principal and interest payable in United States Gold Coin in New York at the National City Bank of New York, Fiscal Agent, and also collectible, at the option of the holder, in London, in pounds sterling, through the National City Bank of New York, or in Tokyo, in yen, through the Yokohama Specie Bank, national Banking Corporation, in each case at the current buying rate of the collecting office for sight exchange on New York. The Company will agree that principal and interest will be payable without deduction for any Japanese taxes, present or future and shall be paid in time of war as well as in peace, irrespective of the nationality of the holder or owner, and without any deduction as to citizenship.

The bonds of this loan are part of an authorized issue of Oriental Development debentures, all of which debentures are secured by a floating first lien or charge on the assets of the Company.

The Company agrees to pay to the fiscal agent, in equal semi-annual installments $500,000 per annum during the first five years, and $300,000 per annum during the remaining term of the loan. Such monies will be applied to the purchase of bonds in open market, if obtainable at not exceeding 100% and interest. Any monies not so applied during the six months period following the date of payment, will be credited toward the payment of the next succeeding installment.

The following is summarized from a letter of Hon. Eizo Ishizuka, president of The Oriental Development Company, Ltd., copy of which will be sent on request:

The operations of the Oriental Development Company, Ltd. are under the control of the Japanese government, which appoints the President and other important officials. The government has subscribed for and still owns 60,000 shares $1,500,000 par value, of the 200,000 shares originally issued.

The Company was organized in 1908 for the purpose principally, of developing the resources of the province of Chosen (Korea), now an integral part of the Empire of Japan, by improving the land, distributing immigrants, furnishing agricultural supplies to farmers, making loans to farmers, industrial enterprises and municipalities, and investing banking and agricultural corporations. The organizers of the Company included some of the most prominent bankers and business men of Japan.

The French loan of the Company of francs 50,000,000 of which more than one-third of which has been amortized, was originally offered in 1913 in Paris on a 5.22% basis and was quoted Feb. 22, 1923 on a 5.21% basis. The proceeds of the present issue will be used to redeem about $7,500,000 maturing debentures to pay approximately $5,000,000 bank loans and the balance for working and productive purposes. Cash dividends have been regularly paid since the organization of the company in 1908. The present rate is 10% on the $17,500,000 paid in capital stock.

The charter of the company provides that owners of Oriental Development debentures shall be paid out of its assets in preference to other creditors.

Application will be made to list these Debenture Bonds on the New York Stock Exchange

Price 92 and Interest, to yield about 6.62%

We offer these Bonds if, as and when issued and received by us, subject to approval of our counsel, Messrs. Sherman & Sterling, New York, and Messrs. McIver, Kaufman, Smith & Yamamoto, Tokyo. Delivery in temporary form is expected on or about April 5, 1923.

BOND QUOTATIONS

Uneasy Market

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, March 26. — The specter of higher money rates continued to hang over the bond market today with the uneasiness rendered more acute by a speculative fear that the Federal Reserve Board governors' meeting in Washington might lead to another increase in the rediscount rate. Prices sagged throughout the list with the establishment of new low records for the year by the Second, Third and Fourth Liberty 4¼s, and a violent 19-point drop in Dery & Co. 7s on report of new financing as the day's principal features.

There were a few outstanding exceptions to the reactionary trend, notably Serbian 8s, Northern Pacific prior lien 4s, and Union Tank Car 7s, all of which closed about a point higher. Except for a drop of 1½ in Mexican 8s, the recessions in the foreign group were limited to fractions. The net losses in the United States government bonds ranged from one thirty-seconds to ten thirty-seconds of 1 point.

Disappointment over the relatively poor showing of the first February railroad earnings statements stimulated the liquidation in the railroad division, although good buying support was forthcoming and losses, with the exception of Katy prior lien 6s, which dropped 1⅜ points, were held to fractions. Industrials caused in sympathy with the reactionary trend of stock prices. United States Rubber 8s and Donner Steel refunding 7s being the conspicuous heavy spots.

Total sales, par value, were $11,556,000.

NEW YORK, March 26.—Following are the closing bond quotations on the New York Stock Exchange. Furnished by Logan & Bryan.

METAL MARKETS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CLEVELAND (O.) March 26.—Daily Metal Trade today says: "Demand for pig iron for third-quarter delivery continues with many smelters finding it difficult to cover immediate needs. Southern iron offerings in Middle West are decreasing. Coke demand is urgent, with prices strong. One Pittsburg steel interest has been forced to buy about 100 carloads of furnace coke, the reported price being $7.50. Sheet production in Mahoning Valley has reached record point, 114 of the 117 of the independent mills being in operation. Cut nails have been advanced to $3.40 a keg. Uncertainty in metal market resulted today with sharp breaks in London market. Fundamental strength continues, however. Electrolytic copper is quoted 17.37½ to 17.50; zinc, St. Louis, 7.50 to 7.55; lead, St. Louis, 6.35 to 6.40; tin, spot, 40.12½."

...out Chimneys

THE original use of gas was for lighting, exclusively. It was next used, in addition, for cooking.

With the improvement and cheapening of the service, it has come also to be the leading fuel for house heating, and is extensively employed in the industries.

Taking advantage of the cleanliness and convenience of gas, many persons have installed gas heaters without providing flue connections to carry away the burned gases. Chimneys are in danger of becoming extinct. This is a mistaken practice, as a flue connection to the gas range or heater not only removes the burned gases from the house but also, by insuring ventilation, makes the air more comfortable as well as more wholesome.

Connect your gas heater to a flue and get double service—heat and ventilation.

Two Per Cent Royalty In Foster's Miracle Bonus Well

Offered for one day only—within twenty-four hours after this announcement appears—a two per cent royalty in Fred B. Foster & Company's Miracle Bonus Well in the heart of the Loveiady Gusher Pool on Signal Hill.

The opportunity to buy an interest in a producing well—one already flowing oil into the receiving tanks, is offered at a most reasonable figure. There is just two per cent for sale—no more, no less. It will be sold either as a two per cent royalty, or as two one per cents.

Gold Bonds of the Oil Industry

Oil royalties are the gold bonds of the oil industry. They entitle the owner to a definite, fixed percentage of the production. They pay each thirty days through a bank—at the market price of oil, the percentage of total production, pipe-line measure, called for in the royalty assignment.

Oil royalties are over-riding interests. They pay nothing toward the expense of production—they are not assessed nor taxed by the producer—the owner puts his total percentage in cash.

A one per cent in the Miracle Well on a basis of 2000 barrels production will entitle the owner to twenty-five barrels of oil per day—at $1 per barrel—your check for the thirty days would be $750.

Here is an oil investment where you will not have to wait for the well to drill. The oil is now flowing into the receiving tanks. Your check will come to you in thirty days. REMEMBER—this offer is open for only twenty-four hours.

Other Specials

A 2½% Royalty interest in a lease in the very heart of the Santa Fe Springs townsite—right in among the 4,000, 6,000 and 8,000 barrel producers.

The well is now drilling at 600 feet—it is bonded to go to the Meyer sand. It is on the very apex of the dome. It should be a 6000 barreler. A 4000 barrel per day producer will net $4500 per month.

This royalty is priced for quick sale. Even as little as a thousand dollars can buy an interest in it.

Call at our offices, Ninth Floor, New Bank of Italy Building, and talk it over.

Eastern Longs Sell May Grain; Prices Decline

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, March 26.—Liquidation of May wheat by eastern longs with sentiment selling carried prices off sharply and at no time did the market display much rallying power, and the close was about the bottom with a net loss of 1¾c. Deferred deliveries were firm and closed unchanged to ⅛c lower. Corn was ⅛@⅜c lower, oats off ⅛@¼c and rye 1¾c lower.

The wheat market held within rather narrow limits in the early trading, due to firmness in Liverpool in the face of the decline in America Saturday. May wheat, however, came into the pit persistently and around noon there was a sharp break which carried the price down to 1.13¾, or 5c under the high of last week and a new low on the present downturn. There was also selling here against purchases at Winnipeg and the difference narrowed to 2⅞c at the last. Commission houses sold May and bought July.

Foreigners were after wheat at the seaboard, with sales estimated at 600,000 to 700,000 bushels and prospective sales of over 5,000,000 bushels to Portugal and Greece this week. The break reinvigorated business toward the last. Pessimistic reports regarding the cash situation came from the Canadian Northwest, while the three leading winter wheat markets received 356 cars against 287 cars a week ago and 362 cars last year. Crop reports in the main were favorable.

Long corn came on rather freely through commission houses, but under 72c for May there was support on resting orders and buying by shorts and a moderate rally came toward the last. There was fair buying of cash corn at the seaboard by foreign accounts, with Sweden bidding for the first time in several months. Boats on cash corn here was easier early, but firmed up later with receipts 135 cars. May went to 3⅝c under the July at the last, the widest discount so far.

Oats showed stubborn resistance to pressure. Winnipeg and Minneapolis reported a good cash demand with buying of May and selling of July at Winnipeg to change over hedges. Shipping demand here was only fair. A reduction of 1,901,000 bushels in the visible brought the total down to 41,000,000 bushels under last year. Receipts 143 cars.

A good export demand was reported for rye at the seaboard with Germany taking 500,000 bushels. House with seaboard connections and May and bought July at even figures. The two northwestern markets had 85 cars.

WEAKNESS DEVELOPS IN COTTON OPTIONS

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, March 26. — The cotton futures list developed weakness in late dealings today after a moderate morning decline followed by a rally of about ½ cent in the early afternoon. Accumulated selling orders over the week end caused a morning reaction of 34 to 55 points. Offerings were traced to the West, wire houses and some stop-loss orders which were touched on the decline. The trade, Liverpool and commission houses bought. At one time in the early afternoon rally the list showed net gains ranging from 3 to 21 points, but increased selling pressure was met in the last hour and prices moved sharply lower. Final bids were 53 to 98 points net lower.

Spot cotton was quiet, 80 points decline, 28.75 for middling upland.

Southern Spot: Galveston, 28.50, 85 points decline; New Orleans, 29.00, 75 points decline; Savannah, 28.00, 1 cent decline; Augusta, 28.13, 1 cent decline; Memphis, 30.00, 80 points decline; Houston, 28.65, 85 points decline; Little Rock, 29.50, 25 points decline.

"Is Struttin'

Her Stuff Today"

For 8100 Barrels

Well No. 1 came in yesterday at 11 o'clock and is flowing "8100" barrels of the highest gravity oil in the field.

Folks, I've had a hard battle with this baby and I want to thank you all for being so patient with me. We had just twenty-seven fishing jobs on this hole besides some of every other kind of trouble a fellow can experience on a well, but as I have told you many times in my little talks to you, if you will just "stick by me" and "believe in me," there are not many difficulties that come up that I can't overcome.

I'm mighty proud to say to you that Julian No. 1 is today one of the "greatest wells" in the "greatest oil field in the world," and the dividends she will pay you will be the biggest ever paid on any well in this "Golden State of California."

Wells 6, 7, 8 and 9 are entirely sold out, in fact, I'm afraid I'm a couple of hundred thousand dollars oversubscribed right this minute.

No use sending me your money now, all I can do is return it to you, for I have not even a single unit for sale in any of my wells.

ESTATE ROW AFTERMATH TO SLAYING

Sale of Home Is Involved in Fight Over Property Left by Jacob C. Denton

Echoes of the murder of Jacob C. Denton in 1919 were heard yesterday in Judge Hewitt's department of Superior Court, where a suit by the estate of Denton's deceased wife, Dolla May Denton, against Denton's estate was taken under advisement by the judge.

It appeared that Denton owned a house at 526 Hobart Boulevard, which he placed in his wife's name. It was sold for $22,000 and Mrs. Denton indorsed the check to her husband. She died shortly afterward and soon after that Denton himself is asserted to have been murdered.

Heirs of Mrs. Denton, among them her mother, a Mrs. Winters of Phoenix, brought the suit, contending Denton's estate owed Mrs. Denton's $22,000, through Mrs. Denton's administrator, L. A. Beck. Mrs. Winters died a few days ago, leaving her heirs to carry on the battle. A similar suit, involving mining shares, also is pending, and was continued yesterday for a month to await the decision in the present case.

Attorney Blodgett appears for the Denton heirs and Anderson and Anderson for Mrs. Denton's estate.

Santa Fe Field Yields Another Great Gusher

An 8100-barrel oil well was brought in yesterday morning at 11 o'clock by the C. C. Julian Company on the Brunson lease at Santa Fe Springs, at a depth of 4644 feet.

The well was originally producing 3600 barrels in the Bell sand at a depth of 4900 feet. The C. C. Julian company took over the well and drilled through the Bell sand to the Meyer sand at 4644 feet, resulting in the 8100-barrel well, that is expected to reach the 10,000-barrel mark when it has had time to clean itself out.

The gas pressure of the well is 600 pounds and the gravity 35.5. At the present price of oil, the product of the well is valued at about $12,000 a day.

RING THREATENS FEDERAL AGENT

Dolley Is Warned Against Canadian Trip

Jaunt to Vancouver Halted at San Francisco

Gang Is Determined to Keep Evidence From Him

A plot to murder Harold H. Dolley, Los Angeles prohibition chief after he had been induced to go to Vancouver, B. C., to seize the documentary evidence in his possession and thus thwart the investigation of the huge liquor-smuggling ring which was broken up last Thursday morning at the Curtis Corporation wharf in Long Beach, was exposed yesterday by Prohibition Agent Clarence Parker, who halted Mr. Dolley at San Francisco.

Meanwhile agents under Mr. Parker were on the trail of a "bootleg queen," who has operated here as one of the distributing agents of the ring. The woman has been identified as a beauty who took orders from wealthy clients while on the golf links of exclusive country clubs and in fashionable cafes. The men in the organization, who kept their jobs by virtue of their "toughness," delivered the liquor in swift cars, collecting the money for the deal on the spot.

TRICKERY SUSPECTED

Mr. Dolley received assurance, it is believed, that he would be permitted to gain valuable information in Vancouver, and left for the Canadian city last Saturday night. Yesterday it transpired that the northern chieftains of the gang are determined to frustrate his efforts at all costs, and if the American dry agent invades Canada's "Rum Row" he may be done away with. The papers that he carries are believed to contain correspondence and legal transactions which link up men of position and prominence in California as well as Canada.

This same gang has been suspected of several murders and stories of its deeds are bandied about the waterfronts of San Francisco and Seattle which indicate that the members will stop at no crime to carry on their traf-

FIREMAN IS INJURED AT PLANT FIRE

Lumber Yards Damaged by Blaze Starting in Boiler Room of Lumber Firm

Damage estimated at $50,000 was done by a fire which swept the lumber yards of the Patten and Davis Lumber Company at Seventh and Rio streets yesterday morning. The fire, originating in the boiler room of the lumber company's plant, quickly spread to the yards, where most of the damage was done. About $2000 loss also was suffered by the Buchanan Mineral Products Company plant at Seventh and Utah streets, adjoining. Two alarms were turned in and firemen fought the fire for two hours.

Alvin Nelson, a fireman in Engine Company No. 29, was seriously hurt when a ladder slipped while he was fighting a blaze at 849 North Berendo street, occupied by students at the University of California, Southern Branch. A heavy nozzle on the hose Nelson was carrying struck him on the head as he fell. The damage to the apartment house was slight.

Damage of $1000 was caused by a fire at the home of John L. Cohen at 6223½ Sunset Boulevard, which originated in the basement incinerator.

FOREST FIRES ARE PUT UNDER CONTROL

After burning over an area covering about 1500 acres of oak, a forest fire which started in the Newhall Mountains Sunday was placed under control early yesterday by County Forester Flintham and a force of men under him.

Two other smaller fires, which were burning in the Piru section at the same time, were finally hemmed in.

Sunday morning, Mr. McGroarty will be present and addresses will be made by the local pastors and others by whose support the erection of the cross and arrangement for the ceremony was made possible. There will be adequate accommodations for motorists it is promised.

DOCTOR ON TRIAL FOR LIFE

Asserted Slayer of Fritzi Mann Smiles as Task of Selecting Jury is Started

BY OTIS M. WILES
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN DIEGO, March 26.—Dapper, smiling and apparently unworried Dr. Louis L. Jacobs, captain in the United States Public Health Service at Camp Kearney, went on trial for his life here today. Accused of the murder of Fritzi Mann, pretty dancer, whose half-nude body was found January 15 on the sands at Torrey Pines beach, Dr. Jacobs bore up well under the stares of an army of "flappers" who filled the courtroom and took the most acute interest in the selection of the jury.

Twelve prospective jurors were in the box when the court session closed, five men and seven women. The defense had used only one of its twenty peremptory challenges; the prosecution had used two of its ten, but despite this Superior Judge S. M. Marsh, before whom the case is being tried, announced that he expected the jury to be selected finally by tomorrow night.

Dr. Jacobs is being defended by Attorney Paul W. Schenck of Los Angeles as chief counsel, with James E. Wadham and Clifford K. Fitzgerald of San Diego as associates. Dist.-Atty. Chester C. Kemp ley is taking personal charge of the prosecution, assisted by Asst. Dist.-Atty. Guy Selleck and Abram Rosenthal, attorney for the family of the dead girl.

DEFENSE REVEALED

Judging by questions asked of talesmen by the defense counsel, Dr. Jacobs will make his fight for freedom principally on the contention that Fritzi Mann was not murdered, but instead came to her death either accidentally or by her own hand. If the prosecution succeeds in establishing the corpus delicti—that a crime was committed—Dr. Jacobs will contend that some one else committed it.

Too much time was taken up today, Judge Marsh told counsel, just before court adjourned at 5 p.m., in going over legal points involved and in asking talesmen how they understood the law concerning murder.

"You gentlemen, both of the prosecution and of the defense, must eliminate such questions, in the interest of saving time," he said. "I expect the completion of the jury by tomorrow night."

Mr. Schenck, however, said after court that he expected to use all his challenges.

The names of the principal witnesses for the prosecution were learned today when Mr. Schenck asked each prospective juror if he knew any of the following persons:

Schuyler C. Kelley, county coroner; Police Chief Patrick; C. L. Matthews; Robert W. Bowman; Paul M. Plaisted, police hospital surgeon; R. M. Chadwick, police detective; William Mann, brother of the dead girl; John Bludworth, deputy Sheriff of Del Mar; Henry Saeb; R. F. Kline, station agent at Linda Vista; Dorothy Armstrong, Fritzi Mann's dancing partner.

Helen Whitney, Fritzi Mann's bosom friend; J. J. Shea autopsy surgeon; Rogers V. B. Clark, once arrested as a suspect in the case; Mrs. Wilma Minor, a nurse to whom Dr. Jacobs is asserted to have written concerning Fritzi's asserted delicate condition; Mrs. Amelia Mann, mother of Fritzi; L. M. Asyley, a motorcycle officer; Louis H. Provost, owner of a San Diego cafe; Mrs. Ella Worthington, Colorado society woman, on whom Dr. Jacobs is said to have called the evening the dancer met her death; Gladys Taylor, on whom Dr. Jacobs is said also to have called that evening; Louis Robal; Mrs. Bertha Williams, and Frank E. Whistler, a city detective.

HISTORY OF CASE

The chronology of the case is briefly as follows:

January 14, Fritzi Mann told her mother she was going to a house party at Del Mar; January 15 her body was found on Torrey Pines Beach, and Dr. Jacobs went voluntarily to the police and told of his friendship for her; January 16, the Coroner's jury gave a verdict of death by drowning, though the police and relatives held to the murder theory, owing to discovery of her condition; January 17, asserted letters from Dr. Jacobs to Fritzi were found, making arrangements for an asserted illegal operation; A. E. Kerr, owner of the cottages at La Jolla, identified the girl as having stopped at one of his cottages Sunday night, January 14, Dr. Jacobs arrested for investigation; not identified by Kerr; Rogers V. B. Clark, motion-picture producer, arrested and gives alibi; January 19, Clark released; January 20, handwriting experts declare signature "Wise Johnson" on the register at La Jolla resembles Dr. Jacobs's; January 22, funeral conducted for Fritzi Mann; Dr. Jacobs obtains his release by writ; January 25, District Attorney convenes special grand jury; February 16, indictment of Dr. Jacobs is returned; February 17, rearrest of Dr. Jacobs; February 19, he pleads not guilty.

Power Launch Is Sunk by Tug; Pilot Rescued

While her pilot was attempting to cut across channel in front of the powerful tug Listo, the power launch Ajax, owned by the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, was rammed and sunk in the main channel directly opposite the Fifth-street ferry landing at Los Angeles Harbor at noon yesterday. Roy Chance, pilot of the launch, was thrown into the water by the impact and was rescued by the water taxi Admiral, coming up channel at the time of the collision. He was uninjured.

The Ajax, one of the fastest power craft in the local harbor, was valued at $7000. Efforts were being made late yesterday by her owners to raise her from where she lies in thirty-two feet of water. The Listo was not damaged in the crash.

Robber Suspect Arrested After Chase in Street

Steve Melendra, asserted bandit, 23 years of age, was captured in an exciting chase through crowded streets yesterday a few minutes after Foo Lung, Chinese clerk in a store at 304 Marchessault street, had been held up and robbed of $140.

Foo told police he was making change for a customer when the robber entered. He said the man ordered him to put up his hands and grabbed the money from the till.

Police Officer C. J. Ross, who happened to be standing near, saw a man running from the store. He started in pursuit and overtook Malendra at Macy and Alameda streets. Malendra was put in the City Jail on a charge of suspicion of robbery.

PIONEER OF LOCAL BAR PASSES ON

Eusema Bower Was Once Judge of Superior Court in Georgia

Eusema C. Bower, pioneer resident of Los Angeles and for many years a practicing attorney of this city, died yesterday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harold Skilling, 1051 Burck Place, following a protracted illness. Judge Bower, prior to his retirement from practice several years ago, was actively associated with the Bar Association, and was well known among attorneys and residents of the city.

Judge Bower had been a resident of Los Angeles since 1886, coming here from Georgia, where he was active in politics and was for a time a Superior Court judge. Upon his arrival in Los Angeles, he opened offices in the H. W. Hellman Building, and until a few years ago engaged in the practice of law. He was also prominently identified with the realty development of the city, and was the owner of valuable property in the central portion of the city, as well as in the western suburbs.

Judge Bower was educated in the public schools of Georgia, and was admitted to the bar of that State in 1868. In 1879 he was married to Harriet E. Dafin, member of a prominent family of Georgia, and seven years later he removed to Los Angeles.

Prior to coming here he was a member of the State Senate of Georgia, in which capacity he served for four years, and later was Mayor of Blakely, Ga. In 1876 he was delegate to the Democratic National Convention at St. Louis.

While Judge Bower did not engage in politics after his arrival in California, he took an active interest in political affairs, and was also identified with civic matters.

LOVE NOTES ALIENATION TESTIMONY

Wife Produced "Dicky Boy" Letters to Indicate Love After Divorce Action

Letters addressed "Little Dearest" and "Wonderful Mother" and one signed "Don't forget your Dickey boy," were produced by Mrs. Beatrice Marsh yesterday before Judge Willis in Superior Court to disprove the assertion of Samuel and Agnes Marsh, wealthy Pasadenans, that her husband ceased to love her before they interfered.

Mrs. Marsh's suit for $50,000 for asserted alienation of the affection of Richard S. Marsh, better known as "Dickey," went to trial yesterday with Mrs. Marsh as the principal witness. It will continue today.

Mrs. Marsh asserted on the stand that the elder Marshes did their best to break up the marriage from the moment it took place and succeeded at last in getting her husband away from her. She declared they kidnaped her baby and took it to Wichita, Kan., and then forced "Dicky" to begin a divorce suit in the Kansas courts.

"I went to Wichita and stopped it as soon as I heard of the suit," said Mrs. Marsh.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Marsh declared in their answer that "Dicky" had lost his love for his wife before they took any steps to separate the couple. The letters produced by Mrs. Marsh, containing many phrases of affection, were sent to and received by her, she asserted, after the date of the Kansas divorce proceedings.

NABBED AS BAIL JUMPER

George Zimmerman, wanted in Vancouver, B. C., on a charge of jumping his bail was arrested yesterday at Third and Hill streets by Inspector of Detectives Jewett of Vancouver and Deputy Sheriffs Stensland and Brooks. He is being held at the County Jail pending extradition to Vancouver.

TAKE SUSPECTS AT FULLERTON

Trio Participated in Fatal Riot, Say Police

Student Lost Life in Clash in Spring Street

Car With Fleeing Men Said to Have Been Stolen

Three men arrested at Fullerton early yesterday were believed by police there to have been implicated in the slaying of Robert Bell, a student, of 124 West Avenue 56, during a riot near Second and Spring streets in Los Angeles late Sunday night.

Taken in custody after a chase by motorcycle officers and a flying squad in an automobile, the men gave the names of Myron Horn, 19 years of age; Louis Rich, 23, and E. Murphy, 20.

A blood-stained ax blade, three heavy caliber revolvers, a bottle of chloroform and another of ammonia, with an ammonia gun and a number of burglar tools, were found in the automobile in which the men were driving.

AUTOMOBILE STOLEN

An investigation is said to have disclosed that the machine had been stolen on the 14th inst. from the used-car department of a large Los Angeles automobile dealer, and had been the subject of a State-wide search since that time.

At 2 a.m. yesterday the car, a large, closed one, drew up in front of a filling station on the Spadra Road near Santa Fe avenue. The actions of the occupants aroused the suspicions of Traffic Officer Rudy, who demanded to see the license and driver's permit.

The men made conflicting answers. While Rudy was inspecting the rear of the car, the driver started north on Spadra road. Rudy pursued on his motorcycle and was joined by a flying squadron in a police department automobile.

Near Commonwealth avenue the fleeing car was crowded into the curb and the men surrendered.

FOUR OTHERS CAUGHT

Four other men were placed under arrest during the day on suspicion of murder growing out of the fight which led to Bell's death and the wounding of several men.

They gave the names of Albert Yalli, 454 Gibbons street; Phillip Cabibi, 1524 Norfolk street; Joe Hernstein of the Arthur Hotel, and William Dyer, 1239 Norfolk street.

The arrests were made by Detectives Davis and Nickens who, working on several clews, waited for the men to arrive at the various addresses.

Police surgeons announced during the day that Police Chauffeur Jackson Smith, who at first was believed to have been fatally injured when he was struck on the head during the fight, probably will recover.

William Nardoni and Dominic Morosco, companions of Smith, also will recover from their injuries.

Two Turnkeys at County Jail Are Dismissed

Two County Jail turnkeys, one charged with attempting to smuggle narcotics to prisoners and the other with withholding knowledge of a proposed jail break, were dismissed from the service yesterday by Undersheriff Biscailuz upon instructions from Sheriff Traeger. The two men are Walter S. Trautwein and Harry C. Smith.

Trautwein was appointed turnkey about two weeks ago. It is charged by Sheriff Traeger that he offered to smuggle narcotics to a number of prisoners. The matter was called to the attention of Sheriff Traeger and Trautwein's dismissal followed almost immediately.

Smith, according to Jailer Markley, confessed to him that he had knowledge of two saws being smuggled into one of the cells about a week ago, but did not divulge this knowledge until yesterday.

Funeral Service Plans Are Made for Contractor

Funeral services for John Zeller, 74 years of age, who died Sunday morning at his home, 749 Cahuenga avenue, will be conducted Wednesday at 2 p.m., at the George Wiltz funeral parlors, 736 West Washington street. Rev. J. M. Schaefle, of the Pico Heights Congregational Church, will conduct the services.

Mr. Zeller has been a resident of Los Angeles for thirty-five years, and was well known as a contractor and builder. He built the new building of the Pico Heights Congregational Church, two years ago, after the old church had been damaged in the explosion which wrecked the home of Oscar Lawler.

Mr. Zeller leaves a widow and two daughters.

MUSHET RECOVERING

Councilman Mushet, who was operated upon recently at the California Hospital for appendicitis, was so far recovered yesterday that he was removed to his home at 2023 North Vermont avenue. His early return to his place in the City Council is predicted by his physicians.

MUTED BELLS FIND TONGUE

Cinema Star and Producer Reveal Wedding of Last November in New York City

Ring out the bells! A trifle late, but better late then never! Wedding bells silently rang for Evelyn Brent, screen star and leading lady for Douglas Fairbanks in his feature pictures, and B. P. Fineman of film production fame, on the morning of Nov. 1, 1922.

Miss Brent and Mr. Fineman, whose marriage has been reported at various times, but in each instance denied, were married in New York City and immediately afterward Fineman arranged his production activities to be centered in Hollywood, and Miss Brent signed the dotted line of a contract with Fairbanks.

"Happy?" said Miss Brent, as she stood on the steps of Fineman's studio, "I should say we are. You see, we thought we would keep it all a big secret until this summer when we planned a big reception, but somehow it just could not keep no matter how hard we tried."

"I think we did pretty well keeping it quiet this long," said Fineman, as he placed his arm about his beautiful wife's waist. You know both Evelyn and I know so many people in Hollywood that it seems almost a miracle the news was hushed as long as this."

"Home? Are we going to remain here?" said Miss Brent, when asked if the happy couple would make Hollywood their permanent residence, "you bet we will stay here. I love California and love my screen work. We will start building our home next month."

Evelyn Brent gained stellar honors in Europe as a screen star and entered into her contract with Douglas Fairbanks almost as soon as she stepped from the gang plank of the steamer that brought her to America. She is an American girl, however, and Fineman and she attended school together in New York.

Fineman is well-known in the film circles, having been an executive of production under his own film banner for many years. He is beginning a series of feature pictures, the first of which is now under production at Principal Pictures Corporation studios, Hollywood.

Evelyn Brent has the honor of being one of the thirteen stars of tomorrow that the Wampas have selected to present the public at their annual frolic April 21.

The couple are making their temporary home in a quiet apartment in the foothill district of Hollywood. Fineman's studios adjoin those of the Fairbanks-Pickford Corporation. Each noon time Miss Brent dashes across the "lot" to her hubby's studio and together they stroll across the street for luncheon.

"This is great," laughed Fineman, as the couple started across the street for lunch. "While Miss Brent's work is so close to my office, it is easy for us to find time for luncheon together and to learn what happened since leaving each other early in the morning."

CITY WATER IS PLENTIFUL

Chief Engineer Mulholland Declares Supply in Reservoirs is Adequate for Summer

Chief Engineer Mulholland of the Bureau of Water Works and Supply announced yesterday that the city reservoirs are filled to capacity, in spite of the low rainfall this winter and that there is ample water in storage and in sight for the entire summer season. No alarm need be felt that nonsprinkling and other stringent regulations will be necessary, he said.

No regulations have been necessary since the city took over its water system in 1902 and installed meters.

"Common sense," said Chief Engineer Mulholland, "in the use of water should always be practiced and water should not be wasted, even if the consumer knows that his supply is metered and he must pay for all he uses."

The rainfall in Los Angeles so far this year, the water department figures show, has been 7.56 inches, or less than one-half of the normal, 15.64 inches, and much less than last year, when the total for the season of 1921-1922, which was much above normal, was 19.66 inches.

With the water department beginning the big summer drain on the water supply with full reservoirs, there has yet to come down from the Sierra Nevada Mountains the melting winter snows to keep the reservoirs supplied.

Although the snowfall this year in the mountains was but 87 per cent of last year, there was sufficient snow, Chief Engineer Mulholland said, to assure water to keep the reserve stocks in the reservoirs far above the danger mark, in spite of the tremendous demand for water in Los Angeles due to the great increase in population and the enormous increase in demand from the new industries now locating here.

Chief Engineer Mulholland emphasized the fact that lawns can be sprinkled and gardens watered as necessary now and through the summer months.

'NEGRI-CHAPLIN DATE UNNAMED

No April Fool Wedding for Pola, She Says

Six Months Likely to Free Nuptial Bells

Meantime, War of Cats Has Been Called Off

At least six months must drag by before Pola Negri and Charlie Chaplin undergo the ordeal of bell, book and candle. Such are the present matrimonial intentions of the most-talked-of twain in filmdom, Pola declares.

But she declines to be specific, so the betrothal which precipitated a veritable epidemic of Hollywood engagements may prove to be as lengthy as those of the days of "leg o' mutton" sleeves and thus set another new precedent for other cinema stars to emulate.

With her own lips she dispelled a pulse-bounding rumor that Pola and Charlie intended to face the minister on All Fools' Day which had the Hollywood gossips on their toes all yesterday.

"How artistic!" said a cynic.

The rumor seemed bona fide. In fact, contrary to most rumors, it was reinforced. It was whispered about that Pola intends to desert Hollywood for Beverly Hills on April 1.

"AHA!" QUOTH THEY

"Aha!" quota tongues wagging in tune to the heads of their owners. "Charlie's Beverly Hills home must be nearer completion than we thought."

"That explains why they're rushing work on 'The Cheat' and Charlie is working night and day on his picture.

"So Charlie is to make his second marriage a secret affair. How disappointing! Everyone hoped it would be an event of pomp and ceremony."

All this and a lot more said those who are on the inside of the cinema world and looking out. In fact, the betting odds of two to one that the King of Comedy and the Queen of Tragedy would never wed changed to even money, with no takers.

Another pilgrimage of the press to Pola's home was begun forthwith.

There in front of the door was parked the limousine of Charles Chaplin. His vest-pocket edition of a chauffeur, four-fifths eyeglasses and gleaming teeth, stood munching coughdrops in the dooryard in his most disconsolate Japanese way.

HOPE DID A-SURGE

Hope surged high. Surely the wedding date was to be divulged.

A ring at the doorbell and soon Pola's portal disgorged the natural foe of the press, a secretary.

"Miss Negri is in negligee. In order to grant an interview it will be necessary for her to dress, arrange her hair, make up and she is feeling very much depressed. Therefore allow me to act as messenger," was the secretary's dictum.

"Is Miss Negri to marry Mr. Chaplin April 1 and then go to Beverly Hills to live?" she was asked.

The secretary disappeared behind the curtains of the music room just to the left of the entrance, returning in an instant.

Chaplin stalked into the hallway but returned at once to his tete-a-tete with Pola.

"Miss Negri says they are not to be married for at least six months," said the secretary. "Her present picture will not be completed for at least two weeks more and Mr. Chaplin's will take four months yet. Hence they have not made up their minds as to the date.

MOVING, ANYWAY

"Miss Negri is going to move to Beverly Hills on April 1, where she has leased a house for six months. If she were going to be married soon it would be cheaper for her to stay at a hotel, and beside, Mr. Chaplin's house in Beverly Hills is not anywhere near finished.

"Otherwise, Miss Negri and Mr. Chaplin have nothing to say," was her conclusion of her mistress' message.

Then she divulged that Pola's new home is to be near Gloria Swanson's and much swankier with liveried lackeys and continental cooks, a butler and with even Paul Quesley, Pola's speed demon of a chauffeur, in a household uniform.

An inquiry as to the state of the reported vendetta des chats, which kept the Lasky lot divided into two camps with Pola and Gloria, as rival leaders soon after the tragedy queen strode on a set there, has been ended with all concerned purring amicably.

SHE'S 'FRAID O' CATS

The tragedienne from Poland fears cats whereas the flower which blossomed on the bathing beach of filmdom adores them. Their war over the banishment of the pussies from the Lasky studio then assertedly filled the air with catty remarks directed at each other, which more than eclipsed the mewing of the felines offending Pola. But all that is ended for Pola, tonight intends to attend Gloria's birthday party.

"But please ask Miss Negri and Mr. Chaplin if today they cannot be a little more definite as to their marriage plans," was the reporter's request which again focused the mind of the secretary on the business in hand.

She re-entered the house and parted the curtains of the music room where Pola was having her tete-a-tete with Charlie. Her lips framed a question which was never asked. Her eyes grew as round and as large as saucers.

"They cannot be disturbed," she hissed through the front doorway and slammed the wicket shut.

CHINO HERD IN NEED OF PURE BLOOD

Chamber to Aid Drive to Obtain Animal for Junior Republic

An Easter offering is to be taken up for the good of the herd at the California Junior Republic. The school is in need of a pure-bred bull for breeding purposes and when the matter was called to the attention of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce yesterday, Frank Wiggins, secretary, and Dr. George P. Clements, agricultural department manager, offered to assist with the help of the agricultural committee and residents of Los Angeles co-operating.

Instead of an Easter rabbit the school will receive the needed addition to its herd, providing contributions are sufficiently numerous to this cause.

Work of this school for boys who are appointed by the courts to attend is well known over the country for the high type of individuals graduated.

Located near Chino on 280 acres of land, one of the chief activities of students is raising of live stock. Some of the finest examples entered in State fairs by the school have won first place.

The school herd is composed of Holsteins and it is anticipated that friends of the organization and those who appreciate the work it is doing not only for boys, but in improving standards in dairying and cattle breeding will answer the call sounded by the Los Angeles chamber.

Contributions may be addressed to Secretary Frank Wiggins, California Junior Republic Easter Fund, Chamber of Commerce, Los Angeles.

Husband Finds Wife's Body in Gas-Laden Room

Mrs. Florence Spencer, 45 years of age, 1714½ Garfield Place, ended her life yesterday by flooding the room in which she had locked herself, with gas. She was found dead by her husband, J. C. Spencer, when he returned from his pressing and cleaning establishment on Hollywood Boulevard near Avenue.

Melancholia is believed by police to have driven the woman to end her life. The case was investigated by Patrolmen Hutchins and Wallace of the Hollywood police station.

ROAD LOSES MOTION TO DROP CASE

Government Given Time to Amend Bill in Espee Land Patent Fight

Motion of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company to dismiss the case brought by the government to cancel patents issued to land in San Bernardino county was denied yesterday by Judge Bledsoe. It is now asserted by the government that the land is mineral in character, that it contains many valuable deposits of granite, and that fraud was consummated when it was attempted to be shown that the land was not mineral in character—the old contention of the United States against the Southern Pacific, except that in this case it is stone instead of oil for which the land is said to be valuable.

The land was set apart to the Southern Pacific Railroad under an act of Congress many years ago, an act intended to encourage railway construction, and giving the railroad every other section along the right of way. Later on, proof was taken by the Department of the Interior, and affidavits furnished by the railroad corporation setting out that the land was not mineral in character and therefore subject to the selection of the road. Patent followed soon after.

At yesterday's hearing it was argued by attorneys for the railroad company that the statute of limitations applied in the litigation, and that sufficient facts were not set up in the complaint. George Fraser, special assistant to Atty.-Gen. Daugherty, and Assistant United States Attorney Camarillo, argued against this contention, and the government was given ten days in which to amend the bill in some particulars. It will then be set for trial.

ASSAULT IS DENIED BY DEFENDANT

Argument Over "Dope" Film With Angela Kaufman Was Cause of Trouble

The case of James Calnay, accused of assault to do bodily harm on Angela Kaufman, was continued by Justice of the Peace Follette yesterday until next week. Calnay is charged with kicking the woman in the stomach.

He took the stand yesterday and denied that he kicked her. He stated she was about to attack him as the climax of an argument, when he lifted his feet from his chair to keep her away. She ran into his feet, he says.

The argument, Calnay disclosed, grew out of a discussion as to how long a person must use narcotics to become an addict. The woman maintained that three weeks was sufficient, he said, while he held that a person must use drugs for a much longer period to became an habitual user. Calnay and Mrs. Kaufman were associated in the production of a picture purporting to depict the evils of dope.

Radio Set Cools Love, Says Wife; Divorce Granted

Mrs. Grace Mead Purdy yesterday was granted a divorce from her husband, Kenneth Purdy, an automobile salesman, by Judge Craig in Supreme Court. The suit was not contested.

Mrs. Purdy testified that when she was away her husband told a relative, "Well, I feel better; my wife's away."

She described another occasion when she said her husband came home late one evening with a man and two girls, and insisted she get dinner for them. At first she objected, she said, but finally prepared the meal. Later in the evening, she declared, the women began to act vulgarly and she says she was mortified.

A radio set first cooled their love, Mrs. Purdy said. She told how her husband bought his first set last year, and said that ever since that time he had been so wrapped up in operating the set that he had no time or desire to please her.

The Purdys were married in October, 1915, and were separated on the 5th inst. M. V. Anderson represented Mrs. Purdy.

Court Respite Given Asserted Still-Makers

Justice Scott yesterday continued until April 2 the case of Miss Ida Hymen, and nine men, charged jointly with conspiracy to violate the Wright Act.

The case was continued because of a crowded calendar, after Investigator Contreras had taken the stand to testify that he had found several stills, almost completed, in the defendants' possession.

Detectives investigating the case declare that the band was making stills on a wholesale plan. They say two iron foundries were used almost exclusively for this purpose and that a careful system had been worked out for distribution of the stills among bootleggers, the defendants being accused of setting up many bootleggers in business on a profit-sharing basis.

ASQUITH OPPOSED TO DETENTION CAMPS

The prospect of spending five months in the County Detention Camp apparently did not appeal to S. W. Asquith, a printer, recently arrested and sentenced yesterday for violation of the Wright Act.

He was being taken to the camp in a truck with other prisoners when he leaped out of the machine at the North Broadway viaduct and disappeared.

fic. While it is generally conceded that no attempt would be made on Dolley's life in Los Angeles, he would be at their mercy in Vancouver, where the rum trade to the American Pacific Coast is centered.

DEFENSE MONEY AVAILABLE

Large amounts of money are already becoming apparent in Los Angeles for the defense of Mrs. Hazel Talbot and the men who are under arrest. Though the asserted ringleaders are held under $25,000 bonds, it is believed they will forfeit that amount rather than stand trial in Federal Court here.

Detective Lieutenants Murphy and Devin, of the Long Beach police department, whose efforts brought on the arrest of the eight men and the seizure of a launch, four automobiles, two trucks and 18 cases of liquor, with Agent Parker are believed to have prevented another landing last night.

Over the "grapevine" the information has reached the Federal authorities that this particular organization is "through" with Los Angeles. The market for "good stuff" is slow, due to floods of moonshine bearing false labels, which fools and then angers the average buyer. In addition, the running of booze is fraught with too many dangers in Southern California, a seizure such as that of last week representing a loss of approximately $250,000 besides disruption of the traffic.

PERSONS UNDER ARREST

Those now under arrest and out on bond, accused of conspiracy to violate the Federal prohibition laws are Mrs. Hazel Talbot, Alexander Stewart, president, of the Curtis Corporation, Albert C. Leahy, manager of the firm, and Victor C. Lord, sales manager, Louis Dudrey, Oscar Lund, Jerry King, who first gave his name as John Johnson, and Jack Miller. T. Nagai, Japanese owner of the fishing launch, escaped from custody Saturday.

Miller, the secretary and manager of a big liquor firm in Vancouver, is out on $10,000 bonds, and on his way home, thoroughly disgusted with the Southern California situation. The information that Miller was free on bond settled a rumor that he had "disappeared" from the County Jail when a lawyer was unable to find him.

No reports were received yesterday concerning the location of the gas schooner Borealis, the reputed "mother-ship," which is believed to be heading for British waters with the remainder of the active participants in the landing, three in number, who evaded capture and reached the ship where she lay off the coast.

TWELVE HOMES RAZED BY FIRE

and the damage is estimated at $17,000.

The fire started in a vacant fraternal hall, and, before help could arrive, had spread to the shops of the Rialto Battery Company, P. O. Lowe, confectionery; F. J. Corey, barber, and the Eastman Brothers Harness Company. The San Bernardino fire department saved the town from further destruction. The Rialto department was unable to cope with the flames.

This fire, like the one at Puente, was fanned by a strong north wind.

Arrested Man Keeps Pledge to Enter Jail

Francisco Sierra, arrested yesterday for asserted violation of the Wright Act at South Pasadena, gave his word to George Contreras and a squad of investigators of the District Attorney's office that he would report at the County Jail if they allowed him to care for his eleven children until his wife returned, and he kept his word.

Sierra was one of six arrested by Detective Contreras in a series of raids. Edward Shutts, formerly proprietor of a country club resort near Sunland, and Joe Arizona, possessor of a government permit to make 25,000 gallons of wine near Tehunga, were arrested for selling and having liquor in their possession.

E. A. Seip, C. Bruno and John Shepherd of Bell were arrested for having liquor in their possession. All of the six made arrangements for their appearance in court later.

HOME IS STRIPPED

Husband Asserts She Took All Furniture and Rugs

When his wife left him the 1st inst., she stripped the house of furniture, including $10,000 worth of Oriental rugs, Frank B. Winters, a building contractor, asserted yesterday when he obtained an order from Judge Summerfield releasing his $5000 bank account so he can use it in his business.

Winters is suing Mrs. Selma E. Winters for divorce. They were married in 1910. In his complaint, the husband declared his mother-in-law, Mrs. Amanda Staehle, and sister-in-law, Laura Staehle, interfered continually in his domestic affairs and at last broke up his home. His attorney is J. W. Kemp.

AD MEN TO MEET

Human Side of Great Store Program Subject

A program of exceptional interest has been arranged by H. S. Carroll, chairman of the day, for the meeting today at noon of the Los Angeles Advertising Club. The program has been divided into two parts. The first part will be devoted to the general subject of "The Human Side of a Great Store" and the second to "Campaigns That Have Won and the Men Behind the Guns."

E. Willing Lewis, E. W. Hiestand and W. Y. Smither, executives of the Broadway Department Store, will each talk briefly about the workings of a department store.

S. H. Creager will discuss the "Santa Monica Campaign." Outdoor advertising will be discussed by George Musaphia and Coleman Cox will speak on street railway advertising.

The proposed bond issue has been urged by the Board of Harbor Commissioners, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, the World Traders and the Transportation Club.

WOMAN IN RELIGION IS KHJ TOPIC

Aimee Semple McPherson, Evangelist, Tells Place of World's Mothers

"Woman's Place in Religion," was the subject of a radio sermon given over KHJ last night by Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, and founder of Angelus Temple. Following are excerpts from her talk:

"Yes, in the plan of God, civilization with its home, its civic and religious life has been given a delicately constructed balance, man at one end of the balance, and woman is a counterpart at the other, each supplying that which the other lacks. The man with his valiant strength, his boldness, his logical reasoning, ambition and protection. The woman with her mother heart, gentleness, forgivingness, high ideals, standards of purity, quick sympathy, ready understanding and tenderness of heart for things pertaining to God and religion.

"Let us not discourage or quench her zeal and efforts as she takes up and fulfills her place in the religious life of the world, whether it be in teaching the little forms at her knee to clasp their dimpled hands and lisp 'Now I lay me down to sleep,' or the bringing of a message of hope and life to older children who have grown in years and stature.

"Woman's place in religion is a God-given blessing, a Christ-light, and a shining diadem upon her brow. She is, therein, in her rightful place, a much needed weight for God and right in the balance of life. Cheer her, cherish her, encourage and pray God's blessing on her devoted head—dear little mother of the world."

SUIT SHOWS BEACH LAND VALUATIONS

Six Lots Bought in 1920 for $40,000 Now Priced at $175,000

The rapid increase of real estate prices in Long Beach was shown in a suit which went to trial yesterday before Judge Parker in Superior Court. Six lots which Mrs. Cecilia Woodward bought in 1920 for $40,000 were declared to be salable now for $175,000.

Mrs. Woodward is suing her sister, Mrs. Ariel Herrick, for $20,000 on notes said to represent half the purchase price of the lots, which were placed in their joint names. Mrs. Herrick contends the notes had no consideration and that Mrs. Woodward gave her the half-interest in the lots for "love and affection." Later, she said she wanted "something to show" what she had paid for the property, according to Mrs. Herrick, and the notes were drawn.

Mrs. Woodward fainted in the corridor outside court after she had given her testimony.

The case will continue today.

PASADENA-LONG BEACH BOULEVARD PLANNED

The creation of a new boulevard from Pasadena to Long Beach, passing through Hollenbeck Heights and the East Side of Los Angeles, was urged in a communication received yesterday at the City Hall from the East Side Citizens' Chamber of Commerce of which F. A. High is president. Under the plan, the boulevard would start at El Sereno station in the Bairdstown district, adjoining Pasadena.

EASTER CLOTHES
Becoming to Boys

Even Easter clothes must consider sturdiness as well as style!

Even though he submits more or less gracelessly to being "dressed-up" for Easter, a lad can't be overbothered with thinking about clothes.

So the Mullen and Bluett Boys' Floor builds sturdiness as well as style into boys' suits—achieving a happy combination of good looks and long wear in every article of boys' apparel—from the handsome blue serges and mannish tweeds to the silk and linen suits for littler boys.

The Boys' Floor is an inspiration to mothers—in the array of practical wearables it presents.

WHY

PIERCE-ARROW SALES have increased 228 per cent

"The 1901 Pierce-Motorette, as it looked on its 21st birthday, which is celebrated by repairs from Buffalo to New York City. This vehicle was the forerunner of the models which won the Glidden tours in successive years.

OVER a span of years that measures nearly the entire lifetime of the automobile industry, there has developed a deep-rooted respect for the name Pierce-Arrow.

From the beginning, the makers of Pierce-Arrow definitely have sought this respect. They believed then, as now, that a product of uncommon quality—designed and built to excel—is bound to win preference. And they knew then, as now, that the price of this inevitable leadership would be ceaseless vigilance and a constant striving toward still higher attainment.

And so, in America, the name Pierce-Arrow has come to have an almost generic meaning. Unconsciously it springs to the lips of the man on the street as the descriptive term for the capsheaf of quality.

This widespread and acknowledged respect is now more pronounced than ever. It is reflected directly in the increasing public demand for the products which bear the Pierce-Arrow nameplate.

Specifically, this year's sales at this writing show an increase of 228% over those of the corresponding period of 1922.

An unmistakable expression of public confidence and preference—a confidence founded on the stability and integrity of the makers, and a preference based on the sheer merit of the product itself.

THE GREAT LEVELERS

The ex-Kaiser is henpecked, it is reliably reported. Now, at last, the once arrogant overlord knows how to sympathize with the average man.

SAMPLE FOR TRIAL

"Uncle Joe" Cannon has just received from the Cigar Manufacturers' Association a five-pound cigar twenty-eight inches long. Can "Uncle Joe" be preparing to limit himself to five or six a day?

TREATMENT NEEDED

The government is issuing a little book on First Aid. There ought to be something in it giving the proper treatment for those careless souls who voted for Smith Brookhart for Senator from Iowa.

BUT THEY'LL KEEP IT DARK

A French scientist has just proved that smoking, moderately indulged, is a positive benefit rather than an injury to health. The cheering will not be led by some of the confirmed smokers who know, from inside information, that what the scientific gentleman has proved can't possibly be true.

BE SEATED

Some day some man will be elected President on a platform or pledge to give every passenger a seat. Just now Henry Ford can come nearer delivering the goods than anybody else and possibly that is why his candidacy is dangerous. Think of the ease with which a man could be made Mayor who would give a seat with every nickel!

BROKEN CHINA

The Chinese government is having a hard time keeping its head up among the nations. It seems that the governmental revenues are only about $100,000 a month in gold. To try to run a country with 400,000,000 inhabitants on that sum seems ridiculous. What China needs is a few tax experts and a budget-maker. There is a great field before them.

CUTTING THE TIES

In the divorce court the other day the wife refused the suggestion of the judge that she was entitled to alimony. She said that she did not want to have a single thing that would hint at a husband. Even a string of alimony would remind her of a chain she desired to forget. But there are not many women like that in the world. They may learn to despise the husband, but they will take his alimony.

THE USUAL THING

According to union officials there are still 150,000 railway shopmen out on strike. The strike was called upwards of a year ago and these men have been out of employment ever since. The railroads aver that they have more men now at work in their shops than ever before. So far as they are concerned the strike is ancient history. Yet there are still 150,000 former employees who have cut themselves from the pay roll. They have had one more strike experience.

THE FIRE FIEND

The average annual fire loss in Holland is 11 cents per capita. In the United States it is given as $2.36, or more than twenty times as great. In Holland they build for keeps and do not give the children matches to play with. Here they build houses that are almost explosive in their frailty and they turn over all the rest of the hazards to the fire insurance companies. It is pleasant to note, however, that the recent output of building legislation has been more urgent in the factors of safety. There are some buildings that are almost fireproof.

JUDGMENT OF PARIS

We are advised that Paris proposes to bar the nude unless it is "decent." There has been quite a show of naked girls on the stage in the French capital and there has also been a rather glaring display of the nude in art. Paris wishes it understood that if this is really for art's sake it is all right and that certain forms of classic dancing and posing are proper and permissible, even if registered in the unadorned. It seems to be up to the police authorities to draw the line. The line between art and depravity seems to be a mighty thin one and it is hoped that the gendarmes will be able to define it. Some American visitors who are doing Paris by night do not appear to care much which they get.

AMONG THE DEAD ONES

The scientists are busy X-raying our mummies. They want to find out whether the skeletons of four or five thousand years ago were built on the same lines as the human being of today. There has been suspicion of a change. It is thought that the human frame as it gives itself over to the cafeteria habit is developing a longer reach. There is also a ribald suggestion that our ancestors of seventy or eighty centuries back used to spend a lot of their time dangling by their tails from the cocoanut palms. By getting radiographs of the bony structure of all these old-timers as fast as they are dug up a check can be made upon the changes that time has wrought in the make-up of humanity. Something important may be disclosed.

THE LITTLE ENTENTE

Apparently the balance of power is now held in Europe by the Little Entente, an alliance formed by four states of Eastern Europe that were considered the wards of the Allied Powers that dictated the Treaty of Versailles. These states are Poland, Rumania, Czecho-Slovakia and Jugo-Slavia. They have a combined population of 40,000,000, equal to that of France or Italy. Each is capable of producing from its own soil enough foodstuffs for its population, giving to each a measure of economic independence; and Poland and Czecho-Slovakia are important industrial states.

They have negotiated treaties which unite them in a defensive alliance. Each is pledged to go to the support of any of the others that suffers from an unprovoked attack by a neighbor. All four suffered for generations from German or Austrian oppression, at times from both; and, in the present crisis, they are throwing their influence on the side of France in the Ruhr controversy.

Czecho-Slovakia and Jugo-Slavia have been making marked industrial and economic progress since the war. The first-named has now the greatest proportional balance of trade in its favor of any nation. The Czechs are producing about four times as much as they are consuming and they have established their national finances on a sound basis.

Rumania is the most backward of the four, due to the uneducated conditions of the masses. But the present rulers have inaugurated a number of western reforms and, despite the activities of the emissaries of the Russian soviets, the people are supporting the government and tranquillity has been restored.

Poland has not made the progress since it was constituted as a republic that its friends had expected. The government lacks stability, and the national finances are badly disorganized. This is due in a large part to the fact that the young republic was forced to engage in a war with the soviets almost before it was out of its cradle.

The cost of that campaign hangs like a leaden blanket over the republic; and some Socialistic experiments made in an altruistic attempt to banish poverty have turned out badly. But the Poles come of a vigorous race and they are a power to be reckoned with by those who incline to military solutions of international problems.

France and the United States were the great friends of the Poles at the Paris conference and they regard the Germans as their national enemies. Jugo-Slavia still remembers the years that the nation was kept in a condition of servitude by the Triple Alliance and her people waste no maudlin sympathy on the present misery of the German and Austrian populations. They say it is only what they suffered for two generations.

For different reasons, but in common accord, the four states that comprise the Little Entente have ranged themselves on the side of France; and they are but lukewarm toward England, because the English commissioners were backward in their support at Paris.

France has found a new ally in these states, one that must be reckoned with in any attempt on the part of foreign powers at mediation in the Ruhr. Like most of the European peoples, they are all good haters and, if Germany were to attempt any come-back at France, she is aware that she would have to defend herself again on three frontiers. The sins of the Hohenzollerns and the Hapsburgs are far from being expatiated.

ROOM FOR MANY

The founders of Los Angeles evidently had the thought that it would in time become a great city, for the original grant comprised an area of twenty-eight square miles, or nearly 18,000 acres, extending from the Plaza to Hoover street on the west, to the Edendale district on the north, to Evergreen Cemetery on the east and to Twenty-fourth street on the south. As Paris, the capital of France, affords room for a population of nearly 3,000,000 on an area of thirty-one square miles, and New York county—containing the most thickly settled portion of the city of New York—has an area of but twenty-two square miles and a population of over 2,500,000, it is evident that, even with a limited height for buildings, twice our present population could dwell within the limits of the city as first laid out.

Although the city of Los Angeles has always contained within its limits much land devoted to agricultural purposes, the area as first laid out proved sufficient for the first seventy-eight years, then we started to enlarge and have continued to do so since, until now we have an area of over 370 square miles, or nearly ten times that of the original city. As greater Paris has an area of but 185 square miles—one-half that of Los Angeles at present—and a population approaching the 4,500,000 mark; greater Berlin provides for a population of close to 4,000,000 on an area of 338 square miles, and greater New York had in 1920 a population of over 5,600,000 and an area considerably less than that of Los Angeles, it is evident that we have the area to contain a very large population.

It seems that for the city to become well rounded out there are still considerable areas that must be annexed, but it is not desirable that people be crowded together here as they are in the three above-named cities. A too-dense population does not have the same chance to enjoy life as one living in a city where there is plenty of room to play as well as to work.

"A FOOL THERE WAS!"

Thousands of years before America was known to the Europeans a great prophet wrote, "A people without vision is destined to perish." That admonition is as true in the twentieth century as when it was written. It is the epitome of the history of life on our planet.

How forcibly it comes home to one as we consider what is taking place now in Europe and its relation to the government and the people of the United States! The mines and factories in the greatest single industrial district, not alone in Europe but in the world, have been closed for nearly three months. That means a loss in production equivalent to about $1,000,000,000; and the loss of production elsewhere in Europe, occasioned by the lack of fuel, would probably total another $1,000,000,000.

And this loss falls upon a Europe that was suffering misery from underproduction before this district was closed. It is making a condition that was almost intolerable three months ago still worse. Fixing the blame will not remedy the fault; it will not give back those lost billions.

Yet there is a group in this country which points to a renewed industrial activity in the eastern part of the United States to prove that America has actually benefited from the closing of the Ruhr industrial district. They say we have received contracts which, if the Ruhr had been active, would have gone elsewhere. On this temporary prosperity they base an argument that what happens in Europe is not our concern, that industrial depression on the other side of the Atlantic breeds prosperity on this side.

On such a foundation is builded the contention that America should keep clear of all alliances with European states, that we should not even consider accepting membership in the International Court of Justice. The fallacy of such an argument becomes apparent if one will stop to consider what took place here during the fall of 1917 and during the whole of 1918. That was perhaps the period of the greatest temporary prosperity in the history of our country. There were jobs for everyone at wages not dreamed of a few years before. Our factories were all active, most of them operating both night and day. Never was money so plentiful, never so easy to accumulate.

But we will be paying for a generation the price of that year and a half of temporary prosperity. If it had not been brought to a close by the collapse of the Central Powers it would have surely led to national bankruptcy.

The economical collapse in Central Europe has caused a similar tidal wave of temporary prosperity. But it is certain to be short-lived. Some of our industries are receiving foreign orders, but stagnation in the mark—for foodstuffs is already appearing. During the last two years the farming industry has suffered from overproduction; and the prospects for the coming harvest are far from roseate. The exhaustion of Central Europe has deprived us of our chief market for foodstuffs and raw material outside the United States.

An industrial depression threatens our great agricultural States. Unless Central Europe can be sufficiently restored to be able to purchase from the United States both agricultural and industrial production must be sharply curtailed; and that means millions thrown out of employment, unrest and misery.

Those with so limited a vision that they cannot see where the present temporary prosperity is tending would wreck both the government and the industry of this country if they were to have their way.

Prosperity that is based on the adversity of others is always short-lived. The solution of the agricultural problem in this country must be found in Europe. If we are to be self-sufficient we shall surely be forced to a standard of living not greatly in advance of that to be found in China and India. The countries of the world are as closely united as the members of the human body. They are all fed by the same blood and when the blood is impoverished the whole system suffers.

PENSIONS A CENTURY HENCE

Pensions still are being paid to widows of veterans of the War of 1812.

Plainly a man is never too old to marry, if he has a pension. And there are women ready to marry him, even though he has one or both feet in the grave or is all in except his chin whiskers.

It seems reasonable to assume that the widow of a man old enough to fight for his country 110 years ago must have been a couple of generations younger than her bridegroom on her wedding day, and it isn't often that such marriages are arranged entirely because of love.

This ought to make us look ahead as well as behind. In the late war we called more men to the colors than there were men, women and children in the entire country in 1812. Fifty years hence there will be twenty times as many veterans of our latest army as there were veterans of the War of 1812 and human nature will not have changed a bit. Men will be just as foolish and some women just as businesslike in matrimonial matters then as they are now and have been for ages.

It may be necessary to pass a law making any woman who marries a World War veteran more than fifty years her senior ineligible for his pension after his death. That would prevent a fearful drain on the treasury 100 years hence.

And, otherwise, wars may come and wars may go, but pensions will go on forever.

TWO MINUTES OF OPTIMISM

BY HERMAN J. STICH

Sand and Ingenuity

Sooner or later the most salient of the world's wisdom gets into a story.

And when truth gets into a tale then it is "made flesh and dwells among us."

Somewhere I have read these stories:

A prisoner was condemned to die.

"Do you wish to make any final request?" he was asked as was the custom before the death penalty was imposed.

"Bring me a glass of water," he said, "and promise me you will not execute me before I have drunk it."

The promise was given and the glass of water was brought, care being taken that it contained no poison. It was handed to the prisoner.

Quick as a flash he turned the glass upside down. The water spilled to the ground. The sand floor instantly absorbed it.

The guards looked at him puzzled.

"You promised you would not execute me till I had drunk the water," said the prisoner, pointing significantly to the dirt floor.

"A man who can think like that," commented King Solomon when told how the prisoner had escaped sentence, "is necessary in my court. Bring him to me."

Cyrus the Great once had a servant who greatly angered him.

"Never set foot on my land again!" was his furious injunction of banishment after a particularly irritating seance.

A few weeks later he was amazed to see the discharged domestic being hauled through the streets on a pile of sand in a wheelbarrow.

"You were never to set foot on my land again," said the King sternly. "What are you doing here?"

"I have not disobeyed your decree, Your Majesty," answered the outcast. "I went to a neighboring kingdom where a gardener sold me this sand. I am sitting on my own land!"

"Get out of that wheelbarrow!" ordered Cyrus. "I need brains such as yours!"

A little sand and a little ingenuity have gotten many a man out of a hole.

RIPPLING RHYMES

THE HERMIT

The sun has delivered the goods and now it has sunk in the sea; I go to my cave in the woods to fill up on turnips and tea. This solitude, how it enchants! 'Tis sweet to be living alone, afar from my angular aunts, from friends who would borrow a bone. I see in this sylvan retreat no autos, those engines of dread, no coroners wear out their feet collecting the maimed and the dead. I say to my tortoise-shell cat, the only companion of mine, "No drivesmiths are passing the hat—ah, me, this existence is fine! No candidates come to the door, no salesmen are seen at the gate, there comes no invidious bore with stories of pre-glacial date." The doodle-bird nests in its tree, the kangaroo hops on its toes; I've swallowed my turnips and tea, it's time for my honest repose. I lie on my pallet of straw and think of the simps who abide in cities, oppressed by the law and pinched when they go for a ride. I think of the clamor and strife, the killings with bludgeon or gat; "Oh, jiminy, this is the life," I say to my tortoise-shell cat.

With the dying out of the Tutenkhamun episode the daily newspaper paragraphers are ready for the next sensation. It was a Godsend in an otherwise dull season.

It has been figured out that it costs a man $4683 to be properly dressed a single year, but if we read "cents" for the "dollars" we should probably come nearer the amount actually spent.

Fred Stone, the showman, was converted in a Wyoming blizzard the other day. That's nothing. Al Jennings, the reformed bandit, was born in a fence corner in the snow in Tazewell county, Virginia.

A campaign to nominate Senator La Follette for the Presidency is on in Wisconsin. It has been in evidence under the hat of the Senator for some time, but to a spectator on the side lines it has never gotten beyond that.

The idea seems to be prevalent throughout the world that nothing can amount to anything unless the United States is in it. And that is a big concession. It has not been long that the European countries were willing to concede that we amounted to anything. We ought to be grateful.

THIS IS THE DAY

Ponce de Leon, sailing from Porto Rico in search of the miraculous island of "Bimini," wherein was said to be the "Fountain of Youth," discovered the coast of Florida on Easter Sunday in the year 1513.

XI. THE MOST MOMENTOUS CHANGE IN LIFE

The last word in the origin of life by Prof. Julian Huxley, one of the greatest living biologists, is as follows: "During the gradual cooling down of this planet a state of affairs arose which inevitably led to the production, in that cosmic laboratory, of molecules which were alive in that they had the power of reproducing themselves and reacting to stimuli and gave rise to the living things we see today; in other words, that there has not only been an evolution of all living things from one common ancestor, but of all life from not-life."

The first bacteria were the nearest things to nothing that can be called alive. Since organic foods (foods derived from living organisms) did not exist, those original units of living substance, or protoplasm, were obliged to subsist on inorganic particles of "ocean dust." This is something higher forms of life cannot do. No animal or plant, for example, can assimilate pure nitrogen, yet nothing can live without it. Nitrogen combines with a very few elements, yet it possesses food value only when combined with other elements. Plants prepare the nitrogen compounds for animals, and the chemistry of nature prepares a nitrogen compound, known as ammonia, from which most plants obtain their nitrogen. Barnyard manure is very rich in ammonia.

In the whole animal and vegetable kingdoms the only living things that can take into themselves free atoms of pure nitrogen and prepare that nitrogen into fit food for plants are certain very lowly species of bacteria. To these we call particular attention, because they are the kinds of living things which first appeared upon a lifeless earth. Fortunately, some of these next-to-nothing species have come down the centuries unchanged—sure sign they have never had to struggle hard to exist. These unchanged descendants of organisms, which existed when there was nothing to eat but elemental food, are man's best friend. Magnified 900 diameters they appear about the size of lettuce seeds, being elongated units of protoplasm, wherein the nucleus can hardly be distinguished. Living in damp soil around the rootlets of leguminous plants, such as beans, peas, vetches and clover, and multiplying by doubling numbers about every half hour, they bore into the rootlets and form nodules, which are visible to the naked eye. The tiny knots on the rootlets are literally alive with a species known as Bacterium radicicolum. One interesting thing about them is that [illegible] pure nitrogen [illegible] those alone and [illegible] trogen compound [illegible] is rich food for [illegible] gen goes into them [illegible] and it comes out [illegible] like manner the [illegible] the nitrogenous [illegible] it palatable for [illegible]

SPEAKING OF HIGHBROWS

BY WILLIAM FOSTER ELLIOT

Highbrows have been variously defined. The general opinion seems to be, however, that they are persons who make a virtue out of the possession of what is called useless knowledge—Latin and Greek, an acquaintance with the Flemish primitive painters, the ability to listen to a Brahms symphony without fidgeting—things like that.

But there must be something more to highbrowism than this. Such acquirements as these named may make a person useless in the eyes of some, but they cannot conceivably make him vicious. They are, after all, harmless accomplishments at worst. But it is also generally agreed that there is something destructive or, at any rate, paralyzing about the highbrow attitude. And a word so often used ought really to be defined. What, essentially, are those qualities of mind which differentiate highbrows from other men; and, if possible, why are they?

In the first place, a highbrow is a person who talks, but does not perform. He or she is one who has glib patter about art at the tongue's end, but produces neither poems nor pictures.

In the second place, the highbrow is one who makes this ability to talk about things he does not do serve instead of a recognized line of social demarcation to shut him off from other people.

In the third, he or she is a borrower, never an originator of phrases and ideas; in other words, a person who is artificial and out of touch with reality. In short, a person who poses.

This is your real highbrow. The gentle old professor, with his Greek prepositions, the entranced worshiper before a Van Eyck, the music lover rapt into a heaven higher than the topmost gallery—these are not highbrows; they are simply appreciators and students, who know how to enjoy, itself not a common gift. And these often add appreciably to the world's stock of intelligent enjoyment, so becoming creators in the true sense.

But the long-haired youth reading oriental love poems before a shocked audience of small-town clubwomen is a highbrow. The people who attend the opera because it is the thing to do and talk loudly about motifs and color and tonality while the music is going on, thus spoiling it completely for others, these are highbrows. And the person who looks at you pityingly when you admit that you have not yet read Babbitt or that you missed "The Emperor Jones" is a highbrow also.

Indeed, the distinction is easier to illustrate than to define. No artist is a highbrow if he be a real artist, for no artist cares a hoot about whether he passes for better than you or not. He is too busy thinking about things more important than either of you. He knows too well how far beyond him is his idea or his perception of beauty to be troubled over which of you knows more about a question of technique.

Perhaps here lies the distinction. The real person is interested in ideas and, as he sees them, realities; the highbrows in appearance only. It is the old struggle between the [illegible] spirit and of the [illegible] have here: the [illegible] Philistine and the [illegible] light, which only the [illegible] dreams to be a [illegible]

In more modern [illegible] ical terms it is the [illegible] the conscious mind [illegible] scious. No one [illegible] works by the [illegible] unconscious [illegible] can be a highbrow, [illegible] unintelligible to [illegible] seem. For he has [illegible] which to him is [illegible] and beautiful, and [illegible] ing is the result [illegible] ing desire to [illegible] common to the [illegible]

...BROADCASTED"

In no less a journal than the ...London Spectator appears the word ..."broadcasted." Will not Mr. ...chey issue an order forbidding ...such an illogical practice?

There is no more reason for saying "broadcasted" than there is in saying "casted" and "forecasted." Long before the radio came into existence the verb "to broadcast" was in good and regular use. Its meaning, of course, was and still is "to disseminate widely."

We do not say: "He threw stones at me" or "the Weather Bureau forecasted a storm for today." And there is no justification for tacking on a superfluous "ed" in the case of broadcast. Whether there is, what is it?—[Philadelphia Public Ledger and New York Journal.

FRIENDS

Old friend has called on me today,
I hear him singing in the street,
And through my window comes the strain
Of his enchanting symphony.

He will not tarry as my guest,
But northward soon will fly
pear,
To seek another shade, a new
Another friend to cheer.

But should he call when winter leaves
Have fallen and the days grow
chill,
He'll find a shelter 'neath my eaves
And food upon my window sill.

I wonder if he knew today
My soul was filled with gratitude?
Did my "Godspeed" his song pay?
I wonder if he understood?

MANY SEEK CITY OFFICES

More Than 100 Candidates File Petitions; New Entry in Mayoralty Race Takes Out Papers

Candidates for nomination to city offices at the primaries on May 1 numbered 107 yesterday, with five days remaining in which petitions may be taken out by others seeking public office. Two years ago the total number of candidates when the time limit expired for filing petitions was eighty-seven. The larger number this year is due to the fact that candidates for a Board of Freeholders are to be nominated at the primaries and will be chosen at the June 5 city election to draft a new city charter.

A new mayoralty candidate took out petitions for circulation yesterday in the person of Edward E. Moore of 1725 West Forty-eighth street.

REAL ESTATE MAN

Mr. Moore is in the real estate business, has lived in Los Angeles ten years, and was for eight years a member of the Indiana State Legislature. He is a member of the Southwest Realty Board, the Western-avenue Business Association, which he organized, and of which he was the first president, and was at one time a member of the Republican County Central Committee.

Another "dark horse" mayoralty candidate is R. L. Knapp of 4521 Beverly Boulevard, a retired merchant who has lived in Los Angeles thirty-eight years, and was active in politics in New York City before moving to Los Angeles. He is particularly interested in better lighting of the boulevards of the city and in the establishment here of a citizen auxiliary to the police department, calling for the swearing in of a resident in each block in the residential district as a policeman. Mr. Knapp's headquarters are at the Hotel Lankershim.

OLD MEMBERS SLOW

To date but three of the seven members of the present Board of Education have taken out petitions for re-election. M. C. Bettinger, Mary C. Millspaugh and M. Jessie York. C. E. Seaman and J. Irwin Muma, who are among the most valuable and efficient members of the board, have as yet not taken out petitions for re-election.

POSTAL SERVICE CRIPPLED

Rigid Revision of Delivery Schedules Made Necessary by Inadequacy of Appropriation

Possibly because some one in the Postoffice Department at Washington forgot to add several ciphers to his estimates of money necessary to conduct the operations of the postoffices throughout the country for the fiscal year ending June 30, the Los Angeles office, in common with every other office in the country, has been compelled to institute a program of retrenchment that is likely to seriously interfere with the proper transaction of the public business.

A small amount of money has been made available for the present for the hiring of substitute carriers in Los Angeles, but this will be exhausted in a few days, and until June 30 there will be no substitute carriers in Los Angeles. City carrier overtime has been eliminated, as well as the half-holidays that have been in operation since the opening of the year.

SHIFTS IN PROSPECT

Immediate rigid surveys have been ordered of every section of the local office and every station and branch with a view to shifting employees from the less essential duties to points where their services are more urgently needed in handling the mails. Supervisors are told to assist in the routine work.

Wherever possible operations will be consolidated, window service combined or curtailed and schedules revised so that every employee of the Los Angeles office will be available when and wherever needed. Collections will be consolidated to the greatest possible extent. In certain residential districts one complete daily delivery may suffice.

EMPLOYEES PROTEST

Only one complete delivery daily of parcel post will be attempted, including business sections. When all mail cannot be properly handled, the least important matters, such as circulars, catalogues and magazines, will be left over for future delivery.

The Los Angeles office has for months been making a profit of thousands of dollars a month over expenses of every character. Postoffice employees, particularly the carriers, are protesting. It will make their work harder and their hours in harness more numerous. They will make deliveries later at night, and in certain residential districts mail that residents are accustomed to read when they get home from the office will not be in their hands until the next morning.

ARMY CAMP FRAUD CASE DATE IS SET

Eight Defendants Plead Not Guilty Through Counsel; Will Be Tried May 8

What is known as the Camp Kearney military stores auction fraud case was called in Judge Trippet's court yesterday, when Ben Sugarman, Dan, Ike and Joe Greenberg, Maj. Max A. Elser, E. D. Hirsch, Allen Harris and Capt. Frank Tingley, charged with conspiring to defraud the government, were called to plead to the indictment returned by the Federal grand jury on July 18, 1922.

They were represented by counsel, pleaded not guilty, and the trial, at the suggestion of United States Attorney Burke, was set for Tuesday, May 8.

An agreement was made between Oscar Lawler, one of the counsel for the defendants, and Burke, that the records in the hands of the government should be available to the attorneys for the defense.

James M. Linton of Columbus, O., special assistant to Atty.-Gen. Daugherty, has been assigned to prosecute the case by the government, and he will arrive in Los Angeles early in the coming week to prepare for the trial.

A battery of lawyers has been retained for the defense—Lawler, Degnan and Loeb, Walker and Loeb appear for Sugarman and the three Greenbergs; Ray Benjamin of San Francisco for Maj. Elser, and Capt. Tingley; Arthur Wright and Frank Doherty for Harris and Hirsch.

ASSERTED ROBBER IS ARRESTED

Bay City Prisoner Said to Have Participated in Bold Hold-ups Here

Arrest in San Francisco of an asserted hold-up man, who is declared to have participated in two bold robberies here last January was announced in a telegram to the local police today.

The prisoner is James Riley, 26 years of age. The Bay City police have a charge against Riley, they said, which means he probably will not be brought here until the San Francisco charge is disposed of.

According to Detective Lieutenants Bartley and Allen, Riley and James Gorman, who is awaiting trial here, slugged, bound and gagged James Langan in his room at 221½ South Figueroa street on January 11, taking $470 in cash and two diamond rings valued at $1000 each from him. Gorman hid in a clothes closet while Riley waited outside, the detectives say. When Langan entered, Gorman confronted him with a pistol, according to the police story; he turned to run, only to be cornered by Riley at the door.

Detective Lieutenants Hickey and Ballastero assert that Riley was concerned in the hold-up of the Diamond Laundry Company plant, Eighth and Towne streets, on January 18. Masked robbers entered the place on that date and obtained $2100 from the cashier, it was said.

The police say they will make an effort to bring Riley here if the San Francisco charge is not as serious as either of these.

Veterans Will Escort Sailor's Body to Grave

Full military honors will today be accorded Boatswain Edward Van Pelt, who died at the Los Angeles Submarine Base Hospital late Sunday after suffering an internal hemorrhage while engaged in a bowling contest. The remains will be escorted to the Glendale Cemetery by a detachment of sailors and marines from the Submarine Base, many of whom served with the deceased during the World War.

Boatswain Van Pelt was attached to the base force flagship Procyon, being in charge of the target repair forces of the battle fleet. He was a veteran submarine man, and during the World War held the rank of lieutenant while commanding the Navy tug Pinola in the submarine zone.

He is survived by a widow living at 1717 Alma street, Los Angeles Harbor.

Settlement of Author's Notes to Widow Made

Alberta A. Burkhalter, widow of John Fleming Wilson, noted author, who died about a year ago, yesterday received from her former husband's estate a settlement of $2? 300 in lieu of two notes for $42,060 which she held.

Mrs. Burkhalter, then Mrs. Wilson, sued for separate maintenance. On July 26, 1921, Mr. Wilson accorded her a property settlement, signing two notes totaling $42,000. The separate-maintenance suit was pending at the time of Mr. Wilson's death.

Yesterday in Judge Craig's department of the Superior Court an agreement was reached between Mrs. Burkhalter and E. E. Noon, executor of the estate, by which Mrs. Burkhalter turns back the two notes and receives the sum of $28,000. The total value of the estate is $?5,00?

PLAN FINAL ACTION ON RED LINE SUBWAY

In connection with the proposed $20,000,000 subway system for the Pacific Electric cars, proposed by the traffic commission, the City Planning Commission, the Community Development Association and other organizations, Chairman Sanborn of the City Council's public utilities committee said yesterday that he would recommend that the plan be sent to the Board of Public Utilities for its recommendations, which will then be returned to the City Council for action.

PASTOR OF MIDNIGHT MISSION IS IMPROVING

An improvement was reported yesterday in the condition of Rev. Thomas W. Liddecoat, superintendent of the Midnight Mission, 121 South Los Angeles street, who was recently stricken with a serious illness and removed to the California Lutheran Hospital from his home, 5943 Echo street. Rev. Liddecoat is known to thousands of Los Angeles' poor as Brother Tom of the Midnight Mission.

BEAUTY SPECIALIST TELLS SECRET

A Beauty Specialist Gives Home-Made Recipe to Darken Gray Hair

Mrs. M. D. Gillespie, a well-known beauty specialist of Kansas City, recently gave out the following statement regarding gray hair:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1-4 ounce of glycerine.

"These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and will not rub off."—[Advertisement.

People and Their Troubles

Holding the Young

Miss Rachel Crothers is one of the best of our women playwrights. She has a sense of humor, a good knowledge of play construction, and a real understanding of human nature. Also, she usually has a purpose in writing a play, and it must be admitted that in several mournful instances she has swamped her plays by overemphasis of her purpose.

She has avoided this mistake in her new play, "Mary the Third," and the result is a charming and up-to-date comedy which is not only a delightful evening's entertainment but a profitable one as well. It teaches parents a lesson. It also teaches young things a lesson. And it sweetens the lessons with such pretty love-making and such good lines that old and young and middle-aged willingly swallow it. Indeed there is more than one lesson in "Mary the Third." Starting out with the marriage question and the problem of the up-to-date flapper, Miss Crothers also throws in a lesson for the old as good measure.

THE THREE MARYS

Mary the Third lives with her mother, who is Mary the Second; her grandmother, who is Mary the First; her father, who is a self-absorbed professional man, and her brother, who is a typical young cub of 17. Mary the Third is up to the minute and a little beyond it. She loves her mother, but regards her as late-Victorian. Her grandmother, a rather trying person, who is constantly interfering in the family life, she regards as a hopeless back number. She is more or less indifferent to her father and brother, and wholly absorbed in herself and her "set."

She is an individualist and a radical. All the members of her set are radicals and individualists. She has theories on every problem in life, but she is as blind as a little bat. She thinks her father and mother are devoted and happy together, whereas they are both close to the breaking point.

Her father's methods with his children are admirable examples of methods no father should follow. He is obtuse, tyrannical and unreasonable. The mother seems vague an doveryielding, but she has learned the lesson the play teaches, that today the only way to control the young is to love them and trust them. It is because of this love and trust that Mary the Third stops on the threshold of an experiment which would have wrecked her life.

Incidentally she learns that her father and mother are unhappy together. The discovery overwhelms her. She determines to separate them and uses all her power to do so. In the end she learns her second lesson—that married life is not merely an affair of being happy all the time; that it isn't even an affair of deathless affection. But whatever it is there is one thing about it she must recognize. It is a permanent affair.

THE SAME OLD ILLUSION

The audience has heard Mary the First say to her lover in the glorious hour of her betrothal, "It will always be just like this with us, won't it, darling?" and it has seen the change that followed. It has heard Mary the Second say the same thing to her lover twenty years later, and has watched the change there. As the final curtain drops it hears Mary the Third's words to her lover: "No one has ever loved as we do, darling. With us it will be like this always!"

The audience smiles indulgently and goes home pleased and comforted. Mary the Third will undoubtedly have her troubles. But at least she has learned that whatever comes of it marriage is not to be discarded like an out-worn garment. It is a good lesson for both old and young.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES"

Says It's Modern

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Regarding the letter of Mr. Dick Dupanloup, "a first prize in architecture," with an humble view, according to his own opinion.

The Metropolitan Theater is the finest moving-picture house in Los Angeles, or in a much greater area if you want, because it incorporates the picturesqueness of a modern theater in a building constructed of iron and concrete, using this particular construction as a base for its decoration.

This is of course an entirely strange way of going about it to most of the architects from this certain celebrated European Art School, whose main principle it seems, is to hang motifs designed 2000 years ago out of constructural necessities, on modern steel constructions—with wires.

It is about time for our architectural prize winner to wake up to the fact that we are living in an age of automobiles, aeroplanes and sixty-story elevators, which should be treated in the modern American manner instead of in the Greek-Gothic—or along the line of ancient periods.

Serious Stage

LOS ANGELES, March 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I have just read in this morning's Times the criticism on yesterday's symphony concert, and my sympathies are aroused on behalf of the writer thereof, who says he has been compelled to listen to Liszt's "Les Preludes" until he was rendered "blue in the face."

This is serious. As I understood it, the "blue in the face" stage immediately precedes strangulation, and surely Los Angeles does not wish to go on record as having been a party to the strangulation of a musical critic.

Let us organize a society for the prevention of strangulation of musical critics, and ascertain the exact number of times it is possible to listen to a musical composition before reaching the "blue in the face" stage, so that our musical editors may be warned and a catastrophe prevented.

EMMA B. HARRIS.

Advocates More Production

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, March 26.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I see by the late newspapers an account of the Japanese seeking an opportunity for colonization in the Pacific Coast States. Also an account of the battleships all along the Coast States in a few years will be of no use as the airplane can drop a bomb on them and blow them to smithereens if they so desire and incidentally send hundreds of young men's lives into eternity. A month or so ago the streets of Los Angeles Harbor were filled with young men in sailor uniform doing nothing at the government's expense and the cars going to and fro from Los Angeles to the harbor were usually filled with sailor boys who would rush in and get the seats and old people, men and women, I have seen stand all the way, a distance of about twenty miles and none of those young men would get up to give them a seat. Now the streets are clear, the sailor boys have gone back on the ships to walk the decks on the broad seas. But instead of walking the decks of useless battleships what's the matter with the government sending those same boys to walk over the land in this sunny California under a good captain, cultivate the food supply for the population that is coming here to live. When we think of the nonproducing class, the hundreds of little children, the young people of school age, the sick, aged and infirm, unable to earn their own bread as far as labor is concerned, but they must be fed, housed and clothed by some one it's the flower of American manhood would turn their swords and guns into plowshares and their battleships into Ford tractors and bring down the price of vegetation to the hungry hordes of noncombatants, the fathers and mothers of this glorious country might have some peace and contentment of mind and the crooks and robbers might find an outlet for their energy on the field of honor picking oranges or digging potatoes under pleasant conditions. We say this is the white man's country Well, let the white man feed his own people and tell the Japanese, Mexicans and Hindus it would be very polite if they would go home and do the same thing. The Bible says, "As we sow, so shall we reap." Instead of stirring up strife in the time of peace, stir up the land and make it produce what the white people need for the necessities of life.

MRS. EVA RUGG GARRISON.

Shows Us Up

MONROVIA, March 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I once heard a man telling a story. As he proceeded with his tale it became evident that he was exaggerating to a considerable extent, whereupon one of his hearers remarked: "Say, Bill, if you must lie, confine yourself to the truth."

What is getting to be the matter with so many of the newspaper writers of today. Fiction a feigned story, is all right and so understood, but in other things what is to be gained by distortion or exaggeration?

For example, a correspondent, writing presumably from Mexico, speaks of Empalme as being a "town fortified by the Yaquis, twelve miles south of Guaymas." As a matter of fact, Empalme is located on an arm of the bay, a few kilometers northeast of Guaymas. The Rio Yaqui y Pacifico Railway Company in 1908-9 constructed an immense roundhouse, machine shop, power plant, office buildings and substantial dwellings for its employees at this place. One of the principal features was a water tower built of concrete, said to be the only one at that time in Mexico. If I am not mistaken, it was 110 feet in height and 30 feet in diameter.

Not long ago was published a dispatch from New York relative to a "wolf invasion" of northern sections of the United States. The author told of "Buffalo" Jones having a five-day and night fight with an enormous wolf pack which surrounded him and his partner in Northern Canada several years ago when they were bringing out some musk ox calves. They killed dozens of wolves and finally won their way through, but had to abandon the calves.

"Buffalo" Jones went to Alaska for his musk ox calves, if I am not greatly mistaken. He and his companion were trailed by an Indian, who cut the throats of the calves one night when unfortunately, vigilance was relaxed.

One writer locates Palm Canyon near Riverside. Another places Elsinore Lake near Riverside. Some feat!

A greater feat was that of having the Gulf of Mexico fill the Coachella Valley at some remote period of time. Perhaps so, before the Gulf of California was formed, eh?

Quite recently a newspaper item provided Los Angeles with one church and two stores fifty-three years ago. Too bad the reporter could not have been down on Los Angeles street some day in 1863-9 and seen the sixteen-mule teams pulling up the prairie schooners in front of the stores and loading on freight for California. There were plenty of churches, too.

New Duty for Old Ships

LOS ANGELES, March 26.—[To the Editor of The Times:] We were informed a few days ago of the consignment to the deep of the old battleship Iowa. Custom fathers this method of removing from our fleet the old service-going vessels.

Don't you think that after the service well performed, of upholding the majesty of our laws, which entails the destruction of human life, that this rover of the deep could be made at the close of its useful career a rescuer of human life, by turning it over to the Salvation Army, or some other benevolent organization to be used as a houseboat within our harbors, thereby aiding the "down and outs" to regain their lost ambition by offering housing facilities while the effort of "making good" is under way.

Or to be used by some benevolent organization in the care of children of daily working mothers, or to some beneficial housing boat for Y.M.C.A. work.

You will grant that the harbors which would be their resting place would offer the best and most logical source for helpful returns as the men "against the government" finds such places a regular fertilizing plant for propaganda work.

Sincerely,
CHARLES T. MERRITT.

Q.: Has this country ever paid for the Norwegian ships that were seized by our government during the war? J. R.

A.: The United States Government has paid $12,239,852.37 to the Norwegian Government for the Norwegian ships that were seized in this country during the war.

Q.: When was the Revised Version of the Bible first published? R. A. G.

A. The revision of the New Testament was published in 1881 and that of the Old Testament in 1885.

Q.: Why is "Jno." an abbreviation for "John?" M. E. C.

A.: There is no authoritative explanation for the abbreviation "Jno." for "John," but it has been in use as far back as "John" can be traced.

Q.: What was the popular sentiment toward the Constitution when it was first adopted? A. M. P.

A.: There was great dissatisfaction, it is told, and only the commercial classes were heartily in favor of the Constitution. John Adams said afterward that the Constitution was "extorted from the grinding necessity of a reluctant people." However, it has since been termed "the most wonderful work ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man," and this characterization has been accepted by all thinking men.

Q.: Where is the boundary line between the States on the south side of the Ohio River and those on the north side? H. E. A.

A.: In 1783 Virginia ceded to the United States the territory lying "northwest of the River Ohio." The Supreme Court of the United States has held that under this grant Virginia retained title to low-water mark on the north side of the river. This low-water mark, therefore, is the boundary line between States bordering on the north side of the river and those bordering on the south side of the river.

It's Neuritis!

Not Rheumatism

That sharp, stabbing pain in the upper arm, about the shoulder blade, in the nape of the neck, along the forearm or down the thigh and leg, is often Neuritis—not Rheumatism.

If you have severe frontal headache with a feeling that something is twitching or pulling at the eyeballs—a dull, aching pain in the back, accompanied by an occasional shooting pain in the side—numbness or tingling in the fingers or "pitchers" of pain here and there, the chances are that your trouble is Neuritis.

No matter where your pain is located, you can get prompt relief without taking bromides, narcotics or other dope. Apply Tyrmol over the part that hurts and you will be rid of the torture. Tyrmol is guaranteed harmless. It helps to soothe and heal the weak, inflamed nerves.

Wants Women to Know How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Lima, Ohio.—"Before using your medicine I was all you could call a real sick woman. I suffered from a displacement and a female trouble, and was so weak I could hardly do my housework. I had pains in my back and sides and was very nervous. I had tried several doctors' medicines but they did not help me. I was advised to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am now done for several years. I can work all day long and do not have those pains and weak feelings. I recommend your Compound to my friends and never forget to say a good word for it when other women write me to know what has helped me when I was sick. You may use this letter in any way you wish."—Mrs. G. W. [illegible], 1021 Hazel Avenue, Lima, Ohio.

There are many women in Lima and their household duties are a burden and unbearable owing to some female trouble or disarrangement. The trouble is often overlooked, yet cause such annoying symptoms as dragging pains, backache, nervousness and run-down feeling.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine to relieve such conditions. It has helped thousands of women who have written us voluntarily stating it relieved those symptoms by first removing the cause of them. Why not try this experience in but one of these cases?

Adding an unusual touch to the benefit card party given last Friday by the Crippled Children's Guild at the Ebell clubhouse was the auctioning off of ten 100-pound sacks of unrefined sugar from the Republic of Salvador, Central America. Opening of Polo Tournament

Del Monte was the mecca for society folk from far and near, who enthusiastically witnessed the opening of the Pacific Coast polo championship Friday afternoon. The side lines of the picturesque Del Monte fields were the scene of a gay gathering of polo enthusiasts from all sections of the Coast as well as the many out-of-State visitors who have arrived at Del Monte in the past few days in anticipation of the tourney.

An interesting party, who will witness some of the opening games during their sojourn at the hotel Del Monte is comprised of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., Mrs. Vanderbilt's sister, Miss Littleton, and Mr. C. Colton Bingham.

Mr. Albert Payson Terhune, the noted novelist, accompanied by Mrs. Terhune, who has also achieved much literary distinction, are recent arrivals at Del Monte who are enjoying the initial days of the polo season.

The delightful Pebble Beach villa of W. W. Crocker is to be the scene of much entertaining during the next few weeks. Mr. Crocker plays on the Del Monte junior team, and always has a large and loyal following on the sidelines.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gordon Moore of San Mateo have taken the Arthur Vincent home at Pebble Beach for the month. Mr. Moore is captain of the Cardinals, whose initial struggle will be against the Midwick team on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Britton of San Francisco are at Del Monte and deriving much pleasure from the polo.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ward Law of San Francisco are planning to spend much time at Del Monte during the tournament with Mr. and Mrs. Graham Grosvenor of Chicago.

Other recent arrivals at the hotel who are enjoying the unusual diversion afforded by the tournament are Frederick Wilson, Spokane, Mr. and Mrs. G. Y. Stow, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar M. Snow, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. John C. Driver, Santa Barbara; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Piez, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. John A. Haydler, New York City; Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Brean, Portland, Or.; Mr. A. B. Martin, Vancouver, B. C.; Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Lewis, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Allen, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Campbell, Houston; Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Garrison, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. J. Ghirardelli, Cupertino, and Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Dyatt, Rome, N. Y.

Building Committee to Meet

A meeting of the building and finance committee of the Woman's City Club will be conducted at the Palais Royal Cafe, 616½ South Hill street, at noon on the 27th inst., Mrs. Dora A. Stearns, chairman.

Owing to the rapid growth of the club, the members have decided to have their own clubhouse. An extensive campaign is being planned for the raising of funds, and it is the intention of the club to have a building that will be a pride to the community.

Art of Being Well Dressed

Louise Di Geffene will give a talk on "The Art of Being Well Dressed" at the next meeting of the Morning Club on Wednesday, the 28th inst. Miss Margaret Knox will render several vocal selections. The hostess at the luncheon will be Mrs. C. L. Kemp.

Last Wednesday club members and their guests were entertained by Dudley Bernays, baritone, accompanied by Edwin Tinney. Dr. Lulu Phelps, district chairman of child welfare, gave an extremely interesting talk.

Council of Jewish Women

On Wednesday, April 4, at 2 p.m., at the Ambassador Theater the junior section of the Los Angeles Council of Jewish Women will have charge of the regular monthly meeting.

The program is dedicated to "You" and consists of a playlet in four scenes called "The Council's Very Girl." This play has been produced in nearly every city where a chapter of the Council of Jewish Women exists. Exceptionally beautiful musical numbers have been arranged to be played between the scenes.

The April meeting is of unusual importance, for at this time will be held the annual election of officers for the ensuing year.

Many officers of eastern councils have been entertained by the local president, Mrs. E. H. Lauer, during the past year, and they have delivered some very instructive and interesting addresses to the members of the local section, giving them an opportunity to become better acquainted with the activities of the country.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

FORM LETTERS

My Dear Followers: The following rules of the column will have to be followed for discussions and for material which we offer. Otherwise your letters cannot be given attention.

First: When you ask for material which we have offered, you must inclose a self-addressed and stamped envelope (s.a.s.e.) The address must include your full name, city or town, State and street number. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must also include four cents in loose stamps. Do not send money, it is too easily lost in the mails.

Second: Write legibly with pen or typewriter, and not more than 200 words. If your handwriting is not clear get some one to write for you.

Third: When you ask for material to be sent, have your s.a.s.e. at least a full-sized envelope. It is very difficult to stuff a whole pamphlet into a baby envelope.

Fourth: Address your letters to me in care of your paper. They will be forwarded to me at my office in New York City.

Fifth: Please sign your name as evidence of good faith. We promise that we shall not use it in any way.

Sixth: Do not ask for material to be sent you unless it is something we have offered to send inquirers. You may, however, ask me to write on any subject of general interest which I have not covered, and I will be glad to do as soon as possible.

Seventh: Do not ask for diagnoses or for individual treatment. I could not safely give you these even if I had the time. This is the province of your personal physician.

Eighth: Allow at least three weeks to elapse before thinking your request for material has gone astray, or is ignored. And allow very much longer than that for an answer to appear in the column, if it can appear there.

Ninth: Watch my answers to correspondents and articles each day for something similar to the question you want discussed, and consider yourself answered when you see that, whether your initials are appended or not. Many people ask the same question and I must answer them all together to save time and space.

Unless all of the first seven rules are complied with, your letter cannot receive any attention. I dislike to have to put all of these restrictions on you, but unless you do follow them it is going to be impossible for us to handle our mail.

If you will remember that my "Diet and Health" is a syndicated feature, appearing all over the United States and Canada, and in every section of the country creating great interest, you will realize the extent of my mail. I want to be able to read all of your letters. They are an inspiration and a help to me, but I shall not be able to do it unless you follow these rules, because of the tremendous number of them.

You may never see your answer under your own initials, for in the column I can answer very few, and I try to choose those letters by the answering of which I can help the largest number. Probably 90 per cent of our letters have to do with questions of reducing, so, naturally, that subject being of the greatest interest—and, incidentally, of the greatest general importance—there will be a great deal on that subject always.

You will find I have to repeat my advice very often. But it is by repetition that we learn, so that is desirable. I shall prepare many of my articles so that you can get them again by sending the s.a.s.e and following the other directions. But unless I have written on a subject and have offered to send it to you, it will not be available for distribution.

Please remember that I cannot take the place of your family physician, I cannot make diagnoses for you nor treat you personally, nor write individual diets. I appreciate very much the wonderful confidence you are showing in me, but if you think for a moment you can realize that diagnoses and personal treatment would be impossible. I can only take up in the column questions that will be of general interest to all my readers.

I feel like adding a tenth rule. It is this: Save some of your 200 words to continue telling me how much you enjoy the column and how much help you are getting from it. For that is an inspiration to me, and of course makes my work happier.

I shall probably have to run this article just as it is once a month at least to keep the newcomers in column order, and probably to remind you, too, though I hope you will help me and hasten my reply to you by remembering to observe our rules.

Genuine Goodrich Moulded Cord Hose

If Goodrich Cord Tires were as cheap as Fabric tires you would buy only Goodrich Cord Tires at all times. The point we wish to make clear is that we do not charge any more for Goodrich Moulded Cord Hose than is usually charged for ordinary ply hose, and there is just as much difference in value between Goodrich Cord Hose and the ordinary ply hose as there is between a cord tire and a fabric tire.

We buy direct from the B. F. Goodrich Factory in large quantities, reason for our low prices.

Self-Adjusting, Self-Sharpening, Ball-Bearing, Easy-Running Lawn Mowers—They Stay Sharp

To build a lawn mower RIGHT requires machinery of special design and as accurate as it is possible for mechanical skill to devise. There are hundreds of opperations necessary in the construction of any good lawn mower. But, there are sold every year many lawn mowers whose parts are assembled just as received from foundries and mills, with scarcely an operation to insure exactness of fitting. Such mowers are only phantoms of real machines, and the work they do compares to the well-cut lawn about as the roughness of a gunny sack compares to the sheen of finest silk.

The lawn mowers we offer are the result of more than thirty-five years continuous effort by experts in lawn mower construction. They are made in the best equipped lawn mower factory in the world. Every piece of machinery employed in the work is especially designed, ball-bearing and electric driven.

We can supply this high-grade production at prices practically as reasonable as others must ask for inferior machines.

We guarantee every mower we sell to give complete satisfaction and stand squarely back of every sale.

Remember "Sulphur and Molasses?"

IN the good old days you were fed this at Springtime. Mother knew the value of sulphur as a regulative power. Science finds its presence necessary in the daily diet.

Sulphur enters into the proper functions of body organs and is important to digestion. HOLSUM bread contains not only some of the sulphur needed but also the vital phosphorus, calcium and iron, as well as other mineral salts that bring health and protection.

All breads are not alike. HOLSUM is scientifically blended to complete the balanced diet. It helps supply the sources of growth, energy and immunity. Beyond this, it is a loaf of exquisite flavor—tasty, tempting, delicious.

Serve Apricot Pudding tonight.

Apricot Pudding

Butter a mould generously, sprinkle bottom and sides with chopped almonds. Cut two slices of HOLSUM lengthwise of loaf three-fourth inch thick to exactly fit the mould. Beat the yolks of three eggs lightly, add one-half cup of sugar, one-fourth teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon of vanilla and one cup of milk. Soak bread in the mixture and fit one piece in the mould. Cover with halves of canned or cooked dried fruit, fit in the other piece of bread, and pour over the remaining custard. Put the mould in a pan of hot water, cover with buttered paper and bake in a moderate oven until firm. Allow to stand ten minutes before removing from the mould. Garnish with halves of apricots filled with whipped cream.

GIRL AND BANDIT SOUGHT

Beautiful Brunette Sits at Wheel of Auto While Escort Robs Oil Service Station

A strikingly beautiful brunette, about 25 years of age, and her bandit escort, who held up and robbed the Standard Oil Company's service station at Sunset Boulevard and Curson street Sunday night were being sought by deputy sheriffs and police today.

The robbery and hold-up, although it occurred at 7:45 p.m. Sunday, was not disclosed until yesterday afternoon in a report to the Sheriff's office.

The woman, fashionably gowned, drove up to the service station in a Buick car, according to the report. She sat in the car looking neither to right nor left. Her escort, wearing a pair of automobile gogles, stepped from the car and asked for a quart of oil.

F. V. Loomis, in charge of the service station, and his assistant turned about to get the oil. As they stooped down to draw the fluid, their supposed customer drew a revolver and commanded them to kneel on the ground, keeping their faces to the front. He told his victims he would shoot to kill if they made an outcry or turned their heads.

The two victims remained kneeling on the ground while the bandit rifled the cash register, taking $135 in coupon books and $50 in cash. Still covering the two men the bandit climbed back into the car beside his beautiful escort. As the car started away the bandit again warned his victims not to turn around or he would shoot, but they disregarded his warning. They were unable to see the license number of the car, however, as it had been covered over by a newspaper.

Just three minutes after the robbery a Standard Oil Company collector and an armed guard arrived at the service station and learned of the robbery.

Remember that Childhood Bowl of Bread and Milk?

If you do, it probably spurs up your tired appetite. When you are the victim of a yearning for some undefinable "something to eat," you will usually find one of the simple old dishes hits the spot exactly. Bread and milk does just that. Perhaps you have a youngster in your home. If you have, don't forget to give it plenty of bread and milk. Remember what it did for you. And be sure it is Adohr Certified Milk—the standard for richness and wholesomeness.

Marital Cloud Drifts Away as Pair Drop Suit

Suit and counter-suit brought by Andrew Nicklas and his wife against each other have been dropped, it appeared yesterday, when announcement was made that the rift in the lute of domestic felicity had been mended and that Mr. and Mrs. Nicklas have gone to Cuba for a renewal of the honeymoon which they first celebrated in 1918.

Mr. Nicklas brought suit for divorce, naming N. S. Garoute as corespondent and asserting that when he made protest to Garoute the latter threatened him with summary treatment. Mr. Nicklas said also that his wife told him she didn't love him.

The wife then filed an answer in which she declared that Nicklas had maligned her relatives, calling them "cattle" and "illiterate." Yesterday's action wiped the slate clean of accusation and counter-contention.

Kills Himself After Playing Farewell Game

"Goodby. This is the last time I'll see you."

With these words of farewell, Jack Hartz, 33 years of age, an oil worker, left the pool hall at Santa Fe Springs, where he had been playing late Sunday night, returned to his hotel and shot himself in the head. He died within a few hours. The motive for his act has not been determined.

The body was removed to the White mortuary at Whittier. Hartz is believed to have relatives residing in Los Angeles and efforts are being made by police to communicate with them.

Huge Cross to Mark Scene of Easter Service

A twenty-five-foot cross of solid concrete, to be visible at night when illuminated throughout the lengths of the Tujunga and San Fernando valleys, is to be a feature next Sunday morning at sunrise of the special Easter services on Mt. McGroarty, just out of Tujunga.

The idea of constructing this cross upon Mt. McGroarty and of conducting annual Easter services upon the mount was conceived by Frank A. Miller of the Riverside Mission Inn as a token of honor to John Steven McGroarty, California historian and author of the Mission Play at San Gabriel.

FATE DEALS CAR DRIVER COLD DECK

Events Combine to Land Motorist in Court on Wright Act Charge.

The untimely appearance of two motorcycle officers at the intersection of El Monte and San Gabriel boulevards, a dark night, a bright ray of light reaching heavenward and gravity all combined to make trouble for M. Arakaki, it was disclosed yesterday in Justice Baird's court.

County Motorcycle Officers Clark and Glaze stood at the intersection Sunday and watched a long line of automobiles go past. They noticed about a mile away a stream of light which cut the darkness and seemed to be lighting up the tops of telephone poles rather than the road.

"Heavens, look at that glaring headlight!" exclaimed Officer Clark. "We sure can pick him out."

They waited for the cars to pass and then stepped in front of the oncoming car, but the driver kept on going, whether because he didn't care or because he could not see the road, they did not know. They hopped on their trusty motorcycles and gave chase. The car was stopped. It was a small make of a car and was weighted down in the back, while the front end pointed up at a 15-degree angle.

"Don't you know your lights should be on the road, not the telephone poles?" asked Officer Glaze.

"I have a load in the back," replied the driver. "I have a load in the back."

The officers investigated and say they discovered fifteen gallons of what Arakaki declared was Japanese gin.

"You should have put some in the front end, to weight it down," said the officers. "You are under arrest."

Arakaki pleaded not guilty to violating the Wright Act in Justice Baird's court and his trial was set for tomorrow. He was released on $1000 bail.

Suspected Boy Is Arrested at Teller Window

Richard Miller, 19 years of age, was arrested by Detective Lieutenants Gruey and Adams yesterday when he stepped up to a teller's window at the Citizens' Trust and Savings Bank, 736 South Hill street, and presented a check for payment.

The detectives declared the check was part of the booty taken from the Exposition Drug Company, 3760 South Vermont avenue, robbed Sunday night of $250 in cash and a number of checks. They asserted the other checks were found in Miller's possession.

He was put in the City Jail on a charge of suspicion of burglary.

PASADENA PLAYERS TO BUILD NEW HOME

Community Theater Will House Crown City Talent

Architect's Drawings of Proposed Playhouse

FINAL drawings were completed yesterday for a new Pasadena Community Theater to be built immediately, at the corner of El Molino avenue and Colorado street in Pasadena, involving an estimated expenditure of 200,000.

The plans made by Elmer Grey, a local architect, call for a two-story class A building with mission style architecture. An auditorium to seat 700 persons has been arranged to accommodate the increasing number of theatergoers who attend the various productions presented by the Community players.

Every detail has been given careful consideration by the designers and builders to make the structrue one of the finest of its kind in the West. A modern heating and cooling system will be installed to give the very best of comfort.

Roofing will be of tile with exterior walls faced with plaster and stucco. A unique entrance court with an attractive fountain, flanked on the side with shops, is one of the many features of the theater.

Decorations on the interior will conform with the general architecture of the building. The stage will be made large enough to present plays of all proportions, and the builders, the Littlejohn Company have been prominent in the erection of other theater auditoriums and for that reason they have been selected for the work.

FALSE TEETH STOLEN

A thief with a penchant for false teeth was added to the long list of police oddities yesterday, when Dr. Charles M. Alderson reported that during the night a thief had broken into his office, 306 Chapman Building, and had made away with a set of false teeth and $150 in dentist gold.

PRODUCTION STARTED ON GREAT FILM

Norma Talmadge's "Ashes of Vengeance" Expected to Be One of Year's Best

Production on "Ashes of Vengeance," Norma Talmadge's feature film which Joseph M. Schenck is producing, was started yesterday at United Studios, with Frank Lloyd directing.

More than six months will be required to film, cut and edit the production, according to Mr. Schenck, who plans to make this the outstanding photoplay of 1923.

Bringing with them through interpretation of Miss Talmadge and her supporting players all the picturesque romance and tragedy of Old France, the characters of Catherine de Medici, Charles IX and the Three Guises, Margaret of Valois and the tragic Huguenots will re-enact their stories of loves and hates.

Miss Talmadge in the role of Mlle. Yoeland de Bruex will be supported by Conway Tearle, in the character of Rupert de Vrieac, and Wallace Beery will portray the role of Duc de Tours. Josephine Crowell has been cast as Catherine de Medici. Others in the cast and their roles are: Betty Francisco, Margot; Claire McDowell, Margot's aunt; Courtney Foote, Comte; James Cooley, Paul; Andre de Beranger, Charles IX; Boyd Irwin, Duc de Guise; Winter Hall, Bishop; William Clifford, Andre; Murdock McQuarrie, Cralotte; Hector V. Sarno, Gallon; Earl Schenck, Blais; Lucy Beaumont, Charlotte.

Frederick Cavens signed yesterday to act as fencing tutor for the production and will instruct Miss Talmadge and all the principals in the use of the foils.

Mr. Lloyd's executive staff is headed by Harry Weil, with Ray Binger as his assistant, Antonio Gaudio as head of the camera crew, Lou Johnson, chief electrician, Billy Reiter, head of the property department, Jack Gwan, head grip, and Shirley Vance Martin, chief still photographer. "Ashes of Vengeance" was written by H. B. Sumerville.

New Players Are Signed by Christie

James Harrison and Lincoln Plumer are the latest feature players to be signed by Christie Comedies. Both have appeared before in the comedies of this organization, and will be appearing soon in new pictures regularly.

Harrison recently returned from the East, where he played in two pictures with Constance Talmadge, one for Paramount, three pictures produced in Canada by Ernest Shipman and other features.

Plumer has been signed up for a year, during which he will appear in Christie Comedies exclusively. He was seen recently in such comedies as "Let 'Er Run," "Chop Suey," "Hazel From Hollywood," Choose Your Weapons" and "That Son of a Shiek."

CAMERAMEN JOIN DE MILLE

Curtis and Glennon to Head Department and Will Make "The Ten Commandments"

To a friend of Theodore Roosevelt and a graduate of Stanford University has gone, in partnership, the most coveted photographic assignment in motion pictures.

Edward S. Curtis and Bert Glennon have been signed by Cecil B. De Mille to head his camera department. They replace Alvin Wyckoff who recently resigned.

The Curtis-Glennon partnership was decided upon by Mr. De Mille following a survey of every cinematographer in motion pictures. Mr. De Mille made his choice with special care, because he is planning his next Paramount picture, "The Ten Commandments," as the most ambitious undertaking of his career.

Curtis and Glennon are teamed because it is believed that their qualities complement each other. Their joint experience covers an unusually wide range.

PHOTOGRAPHS INDIAN

Edward S. Curtis is the world's greatest photographer of the American Indian and a famous scientific authority on the red man. His "The Vanishing Race," is the most famous single photograph ever made. Over 250,000 prints have been sold. His photograph of Theodore Roosevelt, whose close friend he was, is internationally famous. As a motion photographer he gained fame for "The Land of the Headhunters," an out-of-doors picture which antedated a similar triumph, "Nanook of the North." Mr. Curtis was employed by Edward H. Harriman, the railroad king, to get photographic illustrations for a scientific survey of Alaska, covering fourteen volumes and requiring ten years. J. Pierpont Morgan gave $250,000 toward the work on which Mr. Curtis has been engaged since 1898, a twenty-volume history of "The American Indian," illustrated with photographs. This work, now in fourteen volumes, is considered the greatest American treatise on Indiana.

GLENNON'S RECORD

Bert Glennon, born in Anaconda, Mont., is a graduate of Stanford University. He was an actor for Kalem, a head property man for Mack Sennett, a codirector for an Australian film, head of the laboratory for National films and a cutter for Universal. He also went out on the road as advance man ahead of the "Eyes of the World," one of the pictures in which he was associated as photographer.

He did a number of pictures for Universal, including three for Marie Prevost and "The Torrent." He was signed by George Melford and under that producer has done "Burning Sands," "The Woman Who Walked Alone," "Ebb Tide," "Java Head," "You Can't Feel Your Wife!"

His camera work has been supplemented by intensive study of dramatic technique under Prof. Brander Matthews of Columbia and Prof. Baker of Harvard.

Also in the De Mille camera department will be Fav Marley and Fred Westerburg.

STARS TO LEND HAND AT FROLIC

Wampas Ball This Year Is to Gain Benefit of Boost It Gave to Players

The thirteen "junior stars," introduced and sponsored by the Western Motion Picture Advertisers at last year's "Wampas Frolic and Ball" have pledged their unqualified support to the "stars of tomorrow," to be introduced at the 1923 "Frolic" to be staged at the Warner Brothers' Studio on Saturday evening, April 21. The bevy of screen beauties, all of whom have attained stardom since last year, have offered their full co-operation in appreciation of the assistance given them by the studio publicists in their upward climb to fame. This pledge was made at a special "Wampas" meeting Monday evening.

Included in the "baker's dozen" of film favorites, who are assisting the 1923 "junior stars" in their preparations for the ball, are Lois Wilson, Maryon Aye, Jacqueline Logan, Bessie Love, Louise Lorraine, Lila Lee, Colleen Moore, Mary Philbin, Kathryn McGuire, Claire Windsor, Patsy Ruth Miller, Helen Ferguson and Pauline Starke.

The recently chosen "stars of tomorrow" who will make their debut at the "Wampas Frolic and Ball," are: Eleanor Boardman, Goldwyn artiste; Evelyn Brent, Douglas Fairbanks's protege; Dorothy Devore, Christie comedienne; Virginia Browne Faire, featured player with Richard Walton Tully; Betty Francisco, Goldwyn find; Pauline Garon, William De Mille featured artiste; Kathleen Key, discovered by Ferdinand Earle and later adopted by Metro and Goldwyn; Laura La Plante, Universal leading woman; Margaret Loly, Schenk protege and noted English beauty; Helene Lynch, noted freelance lead; Ann Perdue, Pat Powers's discovery; Jobina Ralston, comedienne of Hal Roach Studios, and Ethel Shannon, B. P. Schulberg featured player.

Grassby Plays Tutenkhamun in Earle's Film

Bertram Thomas Grassby, motion-picture actor, has been signed to play the lead role—that of King Tutankhamun, in the William P. S. Earle production of "Tutankhamun," it was announced yesterday.

Earle selected Grassby after he had interviewed scores of actors in an effort to find the suitable type.

Grassby recently played in "For the Defense," with Ethel Clayton, "Drums of Fate," with Mary Miles Minter, "The Soul of Raphael," with Clara Kimball Young, and "Fifty Candles."

VISITS OLD TEACHER

School days of fifty years ago were recalled yesterday when G. Hallock of Dinuba called on Miss Mary A. George, 87 years of age, who was his teacher half a century ago. Miss George resides at 1117 South Harvard street.

REUNION HELD AT UNIVERSAL CITY

A reunion was held at Universal City the other day. It was of the first of the motion-picture families, the Imp Company, of which Carl Laemmle was president, and which later grew to be the Universal. The "Big U" prexy had as his guests at luncheon Mary Pickford, who first grew to fame as the "little girl with the big curls" in the one and two-reelers put out by that organization, and King Baggot, who used to be her co-star in these films. Baggot is once more associated with Laemmle, who is entrusting him with the direction of Herbert Rawlinson in a new production.

Start on Ten Commandments in Six Weeks

Cecil B. De Mille is in the midst of preparations for his film version of "The Ten Commandments" which will start in about six weeks.

"The Ten Commandments" will be Mr. De Mille's supreme effort for the screen. Plans, soon to be divulged, will show that in settings, in story and in magnitude of cast, it will be truly worthy of the tremendous idea which Mr. De Mille secured in The Times-De Mille contest which brought forth 30,000 answers from every State in the Union and six foreign countries.

Mr. De Mille is having daily conferences with Jeanie Macpherson on the story and with Paul Iribe, his art director, and Clare West, his costume designer.

Florence Meehan, a well-known globe trotter, is now on her way around the world buying jewels and draperies for this picture. She recently dispatched five cases of beautiful things from Bangkok, Siam.

Dress Suits Are Bowler's Fight Togs

John Bowers, who has a prominent role in "Desire," Louis Burston's forthcoming production, believes he spends more money for dress suit than anyone else in the world, including the Prince of Wales. The trouble lies in the studios under the direction of fact that dress suits won't stand up under the wear and tear, mostly tear, to which they are subjected.

"In almost every picture the hero has to manhandle the villian along toward the end," he said in explaining the situation. "It happens that in my case I'm generally in a dress suit at the time that the director or the author sees fit to have the bad, wicked person get his just reward. The villain and myself usually get bumped and bruised but it's my dress suit that suffers most."

"Desire," written by John B. Clymer and Henry R. Symonds, is being produced at the Metro Rowland V. Lee.

RUSSIANS—WOW!

SLAVS RING THE BULLSEYE ON ORPHEUM BILL

By Grace Kingsley

It was just bound to happen out here—a deluge of Russian theatrical entertainment. While there's a regular Niagara raging in New York, we're getting a few little whirlpools of our own. Thomas Wilkes is promising a Russian star and a Russian play, and meanwhile down at the Orpheum, a bunch of Slav singers and dancers are proving themselves snappy entertainers.

We've been having Russian acts out here in vaudeville, sometimes one at a pop, sometimes several at a pop, for some years, but we didn't get excited about them, but now that Morris Gest has put the "Chauve Souris" and the Moscow Art Theater over in New York, why, we are expected to become enthusiastic every time a set of Russian whiskers or a Russian kickski shows up on the stage.

We used to call these acts mere 'those Russians." Now we name them something unpronounceable and split our gloves over them.

"Yarmark" means Carnival Night, they say, and "Yarmark" at the Orpheum shows a clever series of really finely trained artists, with Theodor Stepanoff featured. We'll say he does stepanoff! His drags down the goodly old salvos.

The opening is especially striking, being a moonlight sleigh ride with the riders carolling as a clever stereopticon contraption makes the scenery run past behind them.

The voices of the singers are very fine, and while some of the dances are not new, others are decidedly new and all features are full of vitality, brilliant coloring and excellent artistry.

Several headliners share in the laurel stuff. They are perfectly priceless dears, Felix Adler and Frances Ross with their snappy patter, charming personalities, over with the ease that only grows from first-class showmanship. Miss Ross is a blue-ribboner for looks and charm, and Adler's burlesque ventriloquist stunt is a darb.

Wonder when those Spanish dancers and singers, Brava, Michelena and Trujillo will themselves find out how good they are and how excellently novel their act. When they do they'll make the Orpheum powers give them a better showing than they can get on the opening spot. That dancing girl is a witch with the castanets [illegible] bargain, and the singing girl has a charming voice, while the man is fine too, in his stepping.

Beg pardon, Joseph Howard and Ethelyn Clark! No neglect intended. Miss Clark is as alluring, her voice and gowns as lovely, her personality as sparkling as ever, and Howard's songs old and new, are just as engaging.

Alex Fisher has improved wonderfully since he first stepped into vaudeville. His present jazz band act is nicely staged, and altogether handled in a showmanly manner.

Probably the best dog act in the business is "The Bricklayers" in which a crowd of canines perform a whole play by themselves.

Juggling to a patter [obbligato] that wins laughs, even for the hoary old-timers among the jokes, is the stuff Edwin George's act is made of, and he is followed by Marie Ireland, eccentric comedienne, and Fred Whitfield in a sketch called "Umpha-Ville," which some people seemed to like. The bill, as a whole, is a wow and a wam.

Madge Bellamy in "Evangeline"

A series of national screen classics are being planned by Thomas H. Ince. He has announced that one big screen classic yearly will be a feature of his program. Regardless of other specials made during the year, Ince is planning to turn out at least one picture that can serve the entire non-theatrical trade at the end of a year and a half.

This announcement came yesterday, along with the statement that "Evangeline," Longfellow's beloved epic of the hegira of the Arcadians, will be the first of the Ince series. Madge Bellamy, who has signed a three-year contract with Ince, will be starred.

CLASSY COMEDY

"Girl in Blue" is Title of New Show at Burbank

In their latest musical comedy production "The Girl in Blue," the Hi Jinks comedians at the Burbank Theater achieve a distinct hit with audiences. For entertainment values much credit is due to Bud Harrison, George Clark, Walter Van, Jean Darby, Dot Claire, William McKee, Grace Hutchinson, and others in the cast.

The show is staged with finesse, a nice setting having been provided. The chorus, to which have been added several newcomers, is as peppy and delightful to look at as ever.

There are several musical numbers staged with precision by Eddie Howard, and the individual solos of the principals all are classily done.

"BLOOD AND SAND" IN REVIVAL NEXT WEEK

Two different types of women portray two different types of love in "Blood and Sand," Rodolph Valentino's initial star picture, which will show at Miller's next week. Lila Lee, youthful and ingenuous, evinces a love sweet and tender, while Nita Naldi, colorful and exotic, sweeps everything away with a volcanic tempestuous rush of romance.

The love of Valentino for these two women provides a series of interesting sequences in the Vicente Blasco Ibanez story of Spanish life. As Valentino has an international reputation as a perfect love maker, the romantic episodes bid fair to be even more popular than the sensational periods laid before the wild bulls in the ring at Madrid where "Juan Gallardo" is a famous bull-fighter.

Bringing Romance of Exotic Land

Ramon Navarro and Alice Terry

Who will be seen in "Where the Pavement Ends," a picture of unusual tropical locale, next week at Loew's State Theater.

STAR SIGNS TWO-YEAR CONTRACT

Elaine Hammerstein

Elaine Hammerstein, granddaughter of the late Oscar Hammerstein, has signed a two-year contract to appear in Edward Dillon productions. Heretofore Miss Hammerstein has appeared only in Selznick pictures, winding up her career with that company as star in "Rupert of Hentzau."

The Hammerstein pictures will be released by Truart, an independent distributing company which is a subsidiary of Tiffany Productions, the Mae Murray-Robert Z Leonard producing Corporation. M H. Hoffman, the general manager of both companies, left for New York yesterday to lay out his plans for the distribution of the new product. The first two pictures will be made at the Goldwyn Studio. The next two will be made in New York.

"CHICAGO SAL" AT GRAUMAN'S

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

When in doubt start a fire. Doubtless it's a good recipe. But occasionally, while looking at an otherwise interesting picture we could dispense with the tried and true hokum, and take a little of the real thing instead. And it is the misfortune of "Chicago Sal," which is showing this week at Grauman's Theater, that after steadily building and maintaining the interest for three or four reels, it falls into all the accustomed and time-worn unrealities that films are heir to whenever the director, or the scenario writer or somebody is in quandry, or the New York office has to be pleased, or something else has to be done supposedly to keep someone's stock from falling.

"Chicago Sal" is a melodrama centering around a girl crook. The direction is by Irving Cummings, and the cast features Alice Lake and Milton Sills.

Mr. Sills himself is doing some clever character sketches and giving a talk in connection with the evening shows, and is making some good strong points about his belief in what the public wants, and that comprises the better sort of pictures.

I really thought for a time that "Chicago Sal" was going to live up to this advance prediction. It starts off vividly and briskly with a lot of fairly plausible situations. It really doesn't matter whether these are entirely plausible or not as long as the story moves along. And it does.

The girl, known as Sally Dolan, or Chicago Sal, has made an attempt to prevent a small-time burglary committed by one of her pals. She fails and is arrested. The story she tells on the witness stand gets her a parole, and she is allowed to go to the farmhouse which "her brother" has robbed, and work to pay back the money that is missing. There is a piquant bit right here where she is viewed in a bathtub reading a letter from one of her old pals, that reminds of a similar situation in "The Miracle Man." It is rather inexcusably introduced, however, and that's the first slip.

The timeworn conventions and obvious schemes for delaying the suspense begin to multiply rapidly toward the close of the picture, and the fire and rescue that close the film are obviously rung in just for the sake of a grand climax, that simply doesn't arrive.

Some of the acting and the direction in the scenes on the farm, and also while the confidence game is going on, and even afterward are worth remarking, because they do show a strong desire on the part of Mr. Cummings to put things realistically. Alice Lake, too, is deserving of superlative credit for the verve and spirit she discloses in her portrayal. Milton Sills is not type perfect, for his role, but acts it with conviction. Ben Hewlett does fair work as the sneaking crook, but the best of all the support, I feel, is Ralph Lewis in a very sincere impersonation of a wealthy old fixer. Gertrude Claire and Richard Headrick are in the picture.

Here was a chance that lasted for three reels of making an excellent melodrama, but everything was lost in the finish.

NEW ORCHESTRA AT LOEW THEATER

In every way the orchestras of our film theaters are waxing larger and larger, and the latest house to install a full-fledged symphonic organization is Loew's State Theater. By actual count there must be fifty members in this body, and they are offering their first program in a combining of serious and popular numbers, the "Il Guarany" overture, for the former, and "The Merry Widow" selections chiefly for the latter, with a jazz selection to close.

The orchestral body is one with which a director can do much to entertain the music-loving patrons of a theater, by the presentation of compositions of quality. Claude Riemer is apparently possessed of taste and feeling in his interpretations, especially those of the more popular type. Some of the excerpts from "The Merry Widow" were given with a most attractive shading, the "Villa" song standing out as a particular gem.

"Il Guarany" overture is not one to test the finer skill of a director, but has a good broad swing that makes it suitable for an opening concert. With a large orchestra there is ample opportunity to play more impressive selections. The present program, as a whole, is one that exhibits both the volume and the general excellence of the ensemble, and this is a credit, indeed, to a picture theater.

The general program has been elaborated, to include a very attractive musical act staged on a southern plantation, with costumes of the hoop-skirt period giving much romantic beauty to the scene.

Same Climate for 102 Years

Weather varies greatly, but climate doesn't. In St. Paul weather records have been kept for 102 years. The St. Paul Dispatch finds the annual mean temperature for 1822 was 43.8 and that the mean annual temperature of the whole period of 102 years was 43.9, a remarkable conformity. Rainfall holds pretty uniform one year with another, so that after the driest winter we are likely to have a particularly wet spring.

MILLS IN PERSON

As an extra attraction for Grauman's Million Dollar Theater this week, it has been arranged for Milton Sills to appear in a novelty act. This is in conjunction with "Chicago Sal" in which he and Alice Lake are featured. Mr. Sills's ability on the speaking stage as well as on the screen is well known, for his theatrical career has covered a wide period of years and variety of experience.

'Now and Then' Fills Theater With Laughter

Maybe prohibition has its darker side to some folks, but it wouldn't if they all saw "Now and Then," Kolb and Dill's latest funfest, which is back again in Los Angeles for another week at the Mason. Aaron Hoffman wrote the thing. Aaron Hoffman can be relied upon to write humorous plays and this will stand up with anything he has done in the past. He gets his humor in without making fun of the dry laws—not much, that is—certainly without ridiculing them. But no matter how you may personally stand on the question, you can't help laughing at and with Kolb and Dill.

The story opens some time B. P.—the last few years B. P.; in fact, in the saloon conducted by the two inseparable partners. One is converted to the faith of the prohibition sts and makes hi partner buy him out. Then the famous amendment to the Constitution. The one who is left with a saloon stuck on his hands turns bootlegger. In ensuing years his prosperity increases by leaps and bounds, while the virtuous partner becomes poorer and poorer. But in the end the law triumphs and the partners are once more reconciled.

Of course, there is the love-story element between the children of the men, with the boy becoming a bum after the war, but finally going to Canada, where the liquor problems have all been solved sensibly. He gets back on his feet there, is given a good position and returns to the girl in the last act.

Allen Connor scores as the son, as does May Cloy as the girl. Julia Blanc is seen in the humorous role of the wife of the bootlegger. John Fee scores an individual hit as the bum. Taken all in all, you can hardly go wrong on "Now and Then."

New Pantages Bill Headed by Clown Act

Presenting the same snappy riding act in which he was starred in numerous circus engagements, "Poodles" Hanneford and the rest of the family head the new bill at the Pantages Theater. Several encores, and a few trick boquets wind up the show in a hilarious manner, and with the assistance of Harry Hines, who appeared just before him, "Poodles" creates a number of real laughs.

"Happy" Harry Hines delivers a popular brand of humor, and makes a hit right from the start. His stories are not so new, perhaps, but they are well told.

Martha White and Jean Barry have a singing act that will puzzle you. Julian Eltinge himself couldn't impersonate a woman any better than Jean does, because—well, just because. The pair call the act "Songs that Please."

There are shoes and shoes. The allegorical shoes is a new one, though, and it is this shoe that provides Maude Leone and Frederick Pymm an opportunity to appear in "Shoes." The sketch is rather clever; it is certainly popular, and is presented with a great deal of pep.

Marie Weidman and Frances Dexter are just "two cute kiddies," even as the program says. They sing and dance, and their dancing is far superior to their singing. The little girls are quite some steppers.

Dancing and a little trick tumbling are offered by the Santiago Trio. The act has about average entertainment value.

A popular subject for discussion is the theme of "What Fools Men Are"—flapperism. The prevailing type of American girl is painted a little worse than she really is, but the picture offers Faire Binney an ample opportunity to display her charms. J. Barney Sherry, Huntley Gordon, Lucy Fox, and Joseph Striker are among the other players in the cast.

"ROBIN HOOD" RUN APPROACHES END

Beginning its twenty-fifth week at Grauman's Hollywood Egyptian Theater yesterday "Douglas Fairbanks in RobinHood" is entering the last stretch of its run in the film capital. Shortly it will make way for another attraction.

For the convenience of out-of-town patrons, Sid Grauman has opened a special department at the Egyptian Theater box-office to take care of mail, telegraphic and telephonic reservations coming in from outside territory. This departure was inaugurated for the convenience of the people of the surrounding towns and cities who have not the time to come to Hollywood to make reservations in person.

NEW STRING QUARTET PLEASES AT CONCERT

A newly organized string quartet composed of William Reher, Norman Weiler, Allard de Ridder and L. Carries displayed a true and beautiful ensemble at Grauman's Sunday morning "Discovery" concert, at the Million Dollar Theater. Their arrangement of old airs was a gem of harmony and an enthusiastic encore brought a brilliant rendition of Van Goens's a brilliant rendition of Van Goens's

Little Richard Headrick, 5-year-old motion-picture actor and violinist, completely won the audience with his playing of two simple melodies that promise much for his future as a virtuoso.

Saint-Saens's "The Swan," and "Capriccio," by Wendel, served to display the genius of Richard Callies, 'cellist.

Bert Teasle's trumpet solo, "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," received a deserved encore, which was "O Promise Me." Three vocalists added their share to the program. These were Ethel Gray, soprano, John Parrish, tenor, and Soldier Caruso.

CREW OF DEATH TRAIN CLEARED

Held Blameless in Accident to Burston and Strain

Board of Inquiry Finds Auto Struck Engine

Little Hope for Recovery of Miss Grace Farr

Vindication of the crew of the train which was engaged by an automobile last Sunday night in a death race, that resulted in the death of Louis Burston, motion-picture producer of Los Angeles, and Thomas Truxton Strain, manager of the Los Angeles Horse Show, and may result fatally for Miss Grace A. Farr, the third passenger of the automobile, was pronounced yesterday by a board of inquiry of the Southern Pacific Railroad which had spent the day investigating the accident.

Burston and Strain were killed and Miss Farr was perhaps fatally injured when the automobile in which they were returning to Los Angeles from the ranch of Revell English, between Chino and Pomona, collided with Southern Pacific train No. 109, after an asserted race with the train, which was terminated by the collision at Phillip's Crossing, one mile west of Pomona.

ROADS PARALLEL

The railroad board of inquiry, composed of C. M. Murphy, superintendent; Charles Hildebrand, maintenance of way superintendent; Frank La Fonde, superintendent mechanical department Southern Pacific, and P. Curran and W. A. Vandegrift, Pomona citizens, found: that at the scene of the accident the boulevard parallels the right of way of the Southern Pacific for a distance of more than one mile; that the train was traveling at a speed of not more than thirty-eight miles an hour; that the engineer gave the usual warning whistles as he approached the crossing; that the wigwag signal at the crossing was in perfect order; that there were two automobiles waiting for the train to pass and that the Packard automobile was not struck by the train, but itself collided with the pilot of the engine.

IS BASE OF DECISION

From these facts a decision was reached vindicating the crew of the train which was struck by the speeding automobile.

Miss Grade A. Farr, third victim of the accident, was still in a semi-conscious condition late yesterday afternoon at the Pomona Valley Hospital and little hope is held for her recovery. Her mother is in constant watch at her bedside and is said to have been recognized by the injured girl in moments of consciousness.

The Coroner's inquest will be conducted this morning at 9:30 at the funeral parlors of Todd & Reeves. Funeral arrangements are pending.

SEVEN ARE PROPOSED FOR TICKET

Two More Candidates Are to be Indorsed for City Council by Committee

Preparatory to placing a complete ticket in the field for the City Council the Greater Los Angeles Councilmanic Committee last night indorsed seven candidates who have embraced its platform, and Wednesday night two additional candidates will be promised the support of the groups which go to make up the committee.

The city has been divided into nine districts by the committee, with a view to giving representation to the Council to all sections. In making indorsements at the Monday night meeting support was accorded only candidates who have been agreed upon in the several districts by improvement clubs and other organizations and associations which are desirous of obtaining recognition at the City Hall.

Candidates indorsed last night were: Thomas M. Coughlin, real estate dealer, living in the Rose Hill district; A. L. Colby, 1314 Edgecliffe Drive, representing the Dayton Heights district; Irwin W. Camp, attorney, 457 South Oxford street, representing the Wilshire district; W. J. Eanborn, incumbent Councilman, living in the Hollenbeck Heights district; C. J. Colden, 2200 Alma street, San Pedro, president of the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce; Edwin Baker, 113 Twenty-third street, a member of the State Assembly; L. H. Hughes, retired grocer, living at 1818 South Manhattan street.

George T. Jeffers, secretary to Chief of Police Oaks, appeared at the meeting and asked the committee to indorse his candidacy for the Council. Action was delayed on the request until Wednesday night.

The committee met in room 518, Washington Building, Third and Spring streets.

INJURIES ARE FATAL TO EDISON EMPLOYEE

Injuries received from a short circuit while working on the lines of the Southern California Edison Company, on the 15th inst., resulted last night in the death of L. J. Buckley, 29 years of age, of 8270 Glendale Boulevard. Death followed amputation of the young man's arm, in a last effort to save him. The body was taken from Golden State Hospital to the mortuary of Cunningham and O'Connor.

ATTORNEY L. F. MOSS STRICKEN SUDDENLY

Stricken suddenly late yesterday afternoon, Leon F. Moss, prominent Los Angeles attorney, died at his home, 1241 South Lake avenue. Mr. Moss was prominent in club life of the city, being a member of the California Club and the Jonathan Club. He was also a Scottish Rite Mason.

CANDIDATE GIVES OUT PLATFORM

Henry Z. Osborne Stands for International Court. Bonus and Dry Measures

Advocacy of the International Court and of participation therein by the United States is contained in the platform of Henry Z. Osborne, Congressional candidate in the Tenth District, who announced yesterday the policies for which he stands. Mr. Osborne approves veterans' legislation, including the bonus bill, and further announces himself as a "dry candidate."

The International Court, as approved by President Harding, will, in Mr. Osborne's opinion, safeguard the interests of the nation and eliminate many causes of war. The bonus bill, as written and approved by the American Legion, will have Mr. Osborne's support, he says, as will legislation for disabled veterans and the enactment of uniform pension laws. Prohibition-enforcement acts are not sufficiently rigid, Mr. Osborne believes, and punishment of government officials for improper acts is not adequate. He also takes a strong stand against the narcotic evil.

Scientifically planned development of Los Angeles Harbor, Mr. Osborne holds to be a vital necessity, and pledges himself to "see that irrefutable engineering evidence is produced before the board of engineers' committees and upon the platform in Congress to get the necessary appropriations for harbor-development projects."

Conservation and control of the Colorado River are emphasized by Mr. Osborne, as the most important governmental irrigation project in the history of the United States. Protection of all the rights of Southern California in the development of this great project will be uppermost in his mind, he says.

Business principles in the conduct of government, elimination of "red tape" and, above all, public service, are included in his platform.

FILM RACE IS RUN FOR HIGH STAKE

Goldwyn and Lasky Work to Release Pictures on Studio Life

A desperate neck-and-neck race which is being waged between two of the largest motion-picture companies in Southern California is nearing a sensational finish.

A production unit in the Goldwyn studios at Culver City headed by Rupert Hughes for months has been fighting for minutes to complete "Souls For Sale." In the Lasky studios in Hollywood, a similar unit, led by James Cruze, has worked day and night to complete "Hollywood."

The race is due to the fact that both pictures are set in the motion-picture colony of Hollywood. Both companies, realizing that the first picture released will reap the richer harvest, have been striving to complete their production first, much after the manner of newspapers competing with extras on important news events.

Progress on the pictures is being kept a deep, dark secret by the producers. It is known, however, that with the burning of the huge circus tent, the final scenes of the Goldwyn picture "Souls For Sale" have been taken.

Both companies refuse to state what stage the preparation of the film for the screen is in, or when it will be released, and the situation provides one of the most interesting in the history of the motion-picture industry.

Both pictures deal with the experiences of a young actress in the studios, and dozens of famous stars and directors appear in both pictures, not as members of the cast, but to provide "Hollywood atmosphere."

Both pictures are now in the process of cutting, it is rumored, and it is thought likely the two photoplays may appear on the screen before the public within the next month.

LAGUNA WILL HAVE SUNRISE SERVICES

ARTIST COLONY AT BEACH ARRANGES CEREMONIES FOR EASTER

Residents of Laguna Beach, Southern California's artist colony, will conduct a sunrise Easter service in the gum grove on the top of the hill back of the town Sunday morning. The occasion is the first of its kind at the southern beach, and is intended to establish a precedent for an annual event.

The program will include vocal solos by James Sanborn Murphy and Mrs. Roy W. Purpus, a cornet solo, "The Holy City," a reading, "God of the Open Air," by Miss Annie Gayne Peake, and community singing of hymns. A large cross, electrically lighted, will be erected on the apex of the hill.

The site selected affords a view of land and ocean, and the grove of trees forms a natural amphitheater. Several roads and trails leading to the summit are being made passable, and a full moon will guide the pilgrims to the grove.

JUDGE CURTIS TAKES HIS PLACE ON BENCH

Judge Curtis, successor upon the bench in Division One, Second District Court of Appeal, to Judge William Perry James, recently elevated to a Federal judgeship, took his seat yesterday morning when a calendar of twenty cases was called in the local Appellate Court.

The accession of Judge Curtis was without formal ceremony, although he was the recipient of congratulatory messages throughout the day. Judge Curtis becomes an associate justice in the court presided over by Judge Conrey, the third member of the body being Judge Craig.

JACKIE IS PLAYING PRINCE

Youthful Star Takes New Role in First Production Under $500,000 Contract With Metro

Jackie Coogan, who receives a bigger pay check for smiling on the screen than President Harding does for guiding a nation, has settled his tiny self down to some hard work. He begins work in a few days on his first picture under his new $500,000 contract with Metro. It will be an adaptation from the novel, "Long Live the King," by Mary Roberts Rinehart.

Yesterday the Coogan forces, through George Landy, rumored to be the highest paid press agent in the film business, announced the cast so far selected for little Coogan's picture.

CAST SELECTIONS

The cast as announced will include Rosemary Theby, Ruth Renick, Alan Forrest and Allan Hale.

Jackie will play the role of Prince Ferdinand William Otto, the heir apparent to the throne of the mythical Balkan kingdom, which is the locale of the Rinehart story. In this role the youthful star will throw away the tattered clothing that he has usually worn in his pictures and will be draped in the raiment of a young prince.

The young prince is a normal, adventure-loving boy of eight or nine, who hates the constant care and watchfulness to which he is subjected, and consequently runs away at various times to see an American friend with whom he has several escapades.

Alan Forrest, who recently finished with James Young in "Wandering Daughters," and is now playing a dual role in "The Man Between," will be "Nicky," captain of the royal guards, to whose especial care young Prince Ferdinand William Otto is intrusted.

TAKES LEAD

Ruth Renick, Douglas Fairbanks's leading woman in "The Mollycoddle," and whose recent pictures include "The Fire Bride," the first picture made in Tahiti; "The Jucklins" and "The Golden Snare," plays opposite Forrest as the Princess Hedwig. Between "Nicky" and the princess is the principal romance of the film's story.

Alan Hale, the Squire in "Robin Hood," and also a principal player in "The Covered Wagon," "Main Street" and other forthcoming specials, will be "King Carl" in all the bluff pompousness of the minor Balkan royalty.

Rosemary Theby, who has appeared in countless pictures since the old Selig and Vitagraph days of filmdom's early history, and who has just finished her role in "The Girl of the Golden West," plays Countess Olga Loschik. The countess is one of the colorful adventuresses who abound in the Mary Roberts Rinehart novel.

RANCHERS SEEK NEW HIGHWAYS

Palmdale to Valyermo Road Asked by Delegation From Antelope Valley

The need of roads in the Antelope Valley to develop that section was urged before the Board of Supervisors yesterday by a delegation of ranchers headed by E. E. Pugitt, president of the Little Rock Creek Irrigation District.

They asked the building of a twenty-two-mile road between Palmdale and Valyermo, of which seventeen and one-half miles should be paved and the balance of cheaper construction, at a cost of $500,000. The Supervisors continued the request until next Monday, and promised the ranchers it would have due consideration.

A portion of the cost would be assessed on the property benefited and the balance would be a county charge, it was said. Members of the delegation said they would ask later for the construction of other roads, which would bring the total cost up to about $750,000.

It was declared the roads were needed so that ranchers could get their crops out to market, and a rapid development of the valley was promised if they were built.

Judge Advises Against Perils of Matrimony

"Get an elderly woman to take care of these children," was the advice in Superior Court yesterday to Harold Dahl. "Don't get a young woman who will want to marry you."

Judge Hardy, who spoke the words, had just granted Dahl a divorce from Nona Dahl, who, it was testified, had deserted her husband and five children and eloped to Indianapolis with another man. She was said to be in that city now.

The couple were married in 1904 and lived together seventeen years.

PRINCE IN ITALY; SUIT POSTPONED BY COURT

Prince Paul Troubetkoy, Russian nobleman, and sculptor of local renown, is in Italy, and hence hearing in the suit brought against him by Victor H. Levy was postponed yesterday in Judge Burnell's court until June 26, when the Prince will return.

Levy is suing for collection of two checks asserted to have been given him in payment of a gambling debt, in the sum of $350.

COUNCIL SANCTIONS ARROYO SECO PARK

The new plan of improving the Arroyo Seco and the development of a large section there as a public park was approved yesterday by the City Council upon recommendation of its Public Welfare Committee, and the City Attorney was instructed to start condemnation proceedings for the acquiring of sixty acres of land as the first unit in the Arroyo Seco Park. The cost will be met by an assessment on the adjacent property owners, 17,000 parcels of land being included in the proposed assessment district.

FUND GIVEN FOR HISTORY INSTRUCTION

Hispanic American History Chair to Be Established at Occidental

Announcement has been made at Occidental College of the gift of $100,000 by Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Doheny, Dr. Norman Bridge and Herbert G. Wylie for the endowment of a chair of Hispanic American history. The incumbent of this chair is to be Prof. Robert G. Cleland, Ph.D., who is now serving as the head of the department of history at the college.

The endowment of this chair is a most significant event and one of far-reaching importance. Southern California is an intimate neighbor of the great Latin American world and its history and traditions are interwoven with this great region and its destiny is unquestionably linked with the reawakening nations to the south.

For the organization of this chair and for its effective service, Dr. Cleland is admirably furnished by character, scholarship and special training. He has devoted himself for a number of years to the study of Latin America and has taught this subject at Occidental with great success. He is the editor of the Mexican Year Book and is an author of distinction.

"A History of California," written by him, was published by Macmillan last year, and The Times-Mirror Company announces the publication very shortly of a history of the Monroe Doctrine which he has written. Dr. Cleland has also a wide and intimate acquaintance with the men and makers of the various Spanish-speaking countries.

It is expected that Dr. Cleland will be given special leave this coming year for investigation and research, spending part of the time in Washington and in Mexico and Central America. President Bird is arranging a conference with Secretary Hughes regarding the service which Occidental may give through this newly established chair.

MACHINE CODES AND DECODES MESSAGES

A remarkable machine which automatically turns radio telegrams into secret code at the sending station and translates these messages into straight text at the receiving station, has been invented and is being tried out in Sweden, thus signaling another stride in the rapid advances made in wireless communication.

The new machine, called a cryptograph, in receiving the message as originally written by the sender and enciphering it mechanically, eliminates the human factor of the code clerk, who is liable to error, and avoids the delays which have been costly annoyances under the old systems. One of the purposes of this machine is to make the message undecipherable by those for whom it was not originally meant if picked up while in the air, thus helping materially in the solution of the crucial problem of secrecy for [illegible] messages.
